GOLD BILL MADE LAW; PRESIDENT SIGNS MEASURE

Expect Dollar Cut Today.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on Back Page.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt signed the gold bill at 3:50 o'clock this afternoon and remarked with a smile that it was the nicest birthday present he had ever had.

The bill gives him and his secretary of the treasury, Henry Morgenthau Jr., the most extraordinary control over the fate of the American dollar which any administration ever possessed.

First, it permits the President to fix the value of the dollar at anywhere between 50 and 60 per cent of its old gold standard valuation. Second, it provides a huge fund of 2 billion dollars which Mr. Morgenthau may use secretly to sustain the valuation set by the President.

Will Be Historic Date.

One way or another, this 52d birthday of the President seems destined to be well marked in the nation's history. Advocates of the gold bill before the congress called it the key to a steady and managed prosperity. Opponents saw it heading the country into a dark abyss.

Besides giving the extraordinary powers for manipulation of the dollar, the new law removes gold from circulation as coin of the realm, and while the law is limited to three years of operation, it is deemed certain that never again will Americans be passing out "eagles" or "double eagles" as Christmas presents. The law requires that henceforth all monetary gold shall be held by the treasury of the United States in the form of bullion.

Profit for Government.

The signing of the bill also provided a considerable present for Uncle Sam, for automatically all the gold coin and bullion owned by the twelve federal reserve banks became the property of the government, and with it went a clear profit of at least 2 billion 686 million dollars, as soon as devaluation is accomplished.

Here again there is a difference of opinion among commentators on the bill. Supporters of the new law refer to the huge gain of the treasury as a "profit," but opponents have labeled it "larceny," for not only do the federal reserve banks lose the profit on their gold, but citizens who reckoned their dollars as backed by the one time "permanent" value of gold, and those who invested in government bonds, also will suffer the loss in value rising out of a devaluation of the dollar.

Devaluation Comes Next.

The President is expected to issue promptly a proclamation devaluing the dollar to 60 per cent of its gold standard value. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau tonight discouraged reports that the devaluation would be announced tomorrow, but he and his aids were moving at breakneck speed, engaging in the most stupendous transactions by telegraph, all in a general aim to accomplish that aim at once.

The best information was that the dollar would be ready for the operating table tomorrow, and that the President would not hesitate any longer to apply the knife of devaluation.

The President summoned his monetary experts to a conference tomorrow afternoon and it was expected that the gold proclamation would be issued following that session.

Black Does It Gracefully.

The turning over of the ownership to the vast stores of gold held by the federal reserve banks was done gracefully by Eugene Black, governor of the federal reserve board.

Present with other officials when the President, for the benefit of news photographers, poised his pen over the bill which he had already signed ten minutes before, Gov. Black remarked good-naturedly:

"The caption for this picture is the governor of the federal reserve bank compelling the President of the United States to sign the gold bill."

There has been considerable public confusion concerning the prospective devaluation of the dollar. Many citizens have inquired whether paper dollars will now be worth only 60 cents, assuming that the devaluation will be that proportion, and whether when they tender it for groceries they will buy only 60 cents' worth at current prices.

Alteration Made in Advance.

The treasury has replied that so far as the public generally is concerned in its daily transactions there will be

6,000 PARTIES HELD IN HONOR OF ROOSEVELT

Celebrate Birthday All Over U. S.

The 52d birthday of President Roosevelt was celebrated throughout the country last night at innumerable dinners, balls, musicals, and speech-making parties. One rather careful estimate placed the number of birthday dinners at six thousand. In New York there were 200 celebrations, including a ball at the Waldorf-Astoria attended by 6,000 persons.

In Chicago there were three big birthday assemblages and dozens of neighborhood parties of varying types and sizes. Donations of funds, large and small, to the Warm Springs foundation for crippled children featured the celebration parties and birthday cakes everywhere marked the good wishes to the President.

Detroit's celebrations garnered a fund of approximately $100,000 for Warm Springs. How much was given in Chicago will not be known until today.

In Milwaukee 10,000 persons attended a celebration in the Auditorium. A huge 700 pound cake was cut.

From Washington late in the evening the President made a speech of thanks, broadcast throughout the country.

HAPPIEST HE'S KNOWN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Toward midnight tonight Franklin D. Roosevelt summed up his 52d birthday with the simple statement that it was the happiest he had ever known.

As he spoke these words from the White House his wife and daughter, standing before thousands in the ballroom of the Shoreham hotel, silently listened. They, too, smiled satisfaction. And the crowds of Washington celebrated, jammed together, smiled with the Roosevelts when the President's voice said:

"No man has ever had a finer birthday remembrance from his friends and fellows than you have given me tonight."

Dance Only in Name.

This Washington ball was, for the first crowded hours, a dance in name only. Everybody wanted to get a squint at everybody else, so everybody pushed into the main lobby and stared.

The Morgenthaus were merry; the Hulls looked happy; Director of the Budget Lew Douglas smiled a wide smile.

Mrs. Roosevelt was due at 10:30. She was delayed. The crowd grew restive.

Mrs. Wilson a Guest.

Up the corridor came Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, in black satin with diamonds and the inevitable orchids. With her, Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, wife of Chicago's Democratic senator; the French ambassador and the German, Isabella Greenway, the lovely lady who comes to congress from Arizona, and Daisy Harriman, with the perfect poise.

Very sedate, down the aisle, comes a big man. Quietly he steps on the top stair, just where the photographers ask him to stand. Can it be? Yes, it is Brig. Gen. Johnson of NRA fame. He has put on dancing school manners with his evening clothes.

The elderly gentlemen in gold lace—most of them reserve colonels—scurry up the hall as fast as they can. There is much arranging and rearranging, so that each has his right position. Then the revolving door swings, and Mrs. Roosevelt is blown into the room. Her gown is pale peach. There are emeralds somewhere. Again the door swings and Daughter Anna, dazzling in flame colored satin, is swept in. Then a party of women friends follow.

Wife Cuts the Cake.

Mrs. Roosevelt starts to walk into the lobby. But, no, the committee must carry out orders. There is a huddle, many orders, and at last the procession proceeds into the main ballroom, where they stand at attention while President Roosevelt's speech

Illinois Liquor Bill Passes

House Votes for Code at Last, 105-30

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—In a last minute burst of speed, the Illinois liquor control bill passed the house tonight by a vote of 105 to 30. A few minutes later appropriations for the administration of the measure, totaling $481,000, had been approved and sent to the senate, where enactment seemed certain.

Gov. Horner's signature will make the key bill a law by Thursday, or Friday at the latest. He announced tonight that he would sign it as soon as its 25,000 words had been engrossed and laid on his desk.

"While it is not a perfect measure," said the governor, "it is undoubtedly the best that could be obtained with so many divergent views on the subject."

This divergence of opinion kept the general assembly in session the better part of eleven weeks in the attempt to draw a law which would satisfactorily regulate the manufacture, sale and use of post-repeal beverages.

Repeal Beats Legislators.

The Dec. 5 celebration found the legislature barely started on its big job; New Year's eve passed with both houses in a wrangle and only today, with February pushing hard against the calendar, was it possible to secure passage of a measure by the two-thirds constitutional majority necessary for immediate enactment.

For a time during the roll call it appeared that this would not be possible. Last Thursday recess was taken until today because the bill was six votes short of success. This evening it tallied 53 votes on first roll call, 85 on the call of absentees and then, vote by vote, it gained an "aye" here and there and was lifted, finally, over the 102 vote barrier which meant victory.

Thirty Republicans—25 from downstate and 5 from Chicago—composed the opposition. These "die-hards" fought hard last week and harder today, even though some of their colleagues fell by the wayside and didn't attend for the final vote.

Republican Saves It.

Therefore many considered it ironic that a Republican, Representative Thomas J. Stack of Peoria, should have cast the 102d vote. He entered the chamber a little late to find his minority brethren storming at Speaker Roe and demanding that the vote be announced.

The count stood at 101 at the time and the Republicans were trying to force another recess while the Democrats waited for another hard riding "Sheridan" to cast the final vote.

But Mr. Stack did the trick. His deep bass "aye" carried from the rear of the hall to the ears of Clerk Charles P. Cahey. Mr. Cahey jabbed at the tally sheet with his pencil and the bill had passed. Three other superfluous votes were added just to give weight.

Hold Train for Vote.

Appropriation bills came next. They were passed in a hurry while the evening train was kept waiting fifteen minutes to accommodate the Chicago members.

The finance bills appropriate $293,000 to the department of finance for the expenses of administering the measure until July 1, 1935; $160,000 to the Illinois liquor commission, created by the

HELD IN INDIANA AFTER AIRPLANE HOP TO CHICAGO

He Denies Killing of Policeman.

John Dillinger, notorious criminal whose banditry and other depredations caused the state of Indiana to mobilize its National Guard several months ago, was tightly locked behind the bars of the Lake county jail at Crown Point last night. There he is to await trial on an indictment charging him with the murder of Policeman William Patrick O'Malley in a holdup of the First National bank of East Chicago on Jan. 15.

The outlaw arrived at 7:35 p. m., approximately 26 hours after four Indiana law enforcement officials had carried him, screaming and fighting, aboard an American Airways plane at Tucson, Ariz., where he and three others of his gang had been arrested last Thursday.

Manacled and meek, Dillinger was swiftly transported across more than 2,000 miles of American scenery to Chicago. At 6:10 p. m. he and his guards swept down, in a plane that had left St. Louis two hours before, upon the Chicago airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue.

120 Policemen on Guard.

Prepared for him at the airport was a reception such as had never been accorded a criminal in Chicago. Sixty Chicago policemen were stationed there with no other orders than to see that nothing untoward happened to him or to the law's majesty on the field. Thirty-two more Chicago policemen, clad in bullet proof vests and carrying machine guns, rifles, shotguns, and pistols, were waiting, with 29 policemen from the northern Indiana cities, to guard him on the last lap of his journey—the thirty miles from the airport to Crown Point.

Pulled Out of Plane.

Events moved swiftly at the airport. The plane roared down and taxied to its appointed berth. A fourth of the police detail crowded about it, flares lighting their faces and their bared heads. Camera flashlights boomed as a shivering Dillinger was half lifted, half dragged, to the ground.

A medium smallish, slim man with thinning light brown hair, he blinked in the glare, set his face in expression of patient resignation, briefly and unconvincingly answered a few questions put to him and was bundled into one of 13 automobiles in a cortège that was waiting.

Beside him as he rode out toward Indiana justice sat Lieut. Frank Reynolds of the Chicago police. The lieutenant's orders were direct and simple. They had been given by Capt. John Stege, who for weeks had led a Chicago search for the Dillinger gang.

"If any effort is made to raid the caravan and release Dillinger," said the captain, "or if he makes a break at escape, kill him at once."

Neither contingency developed. Without incident the thirteen carloads of guards safely conducted Dillinger to the custody of Lake county's woman sheriff, Mrs. Lillian Holley.

Poses with Prosecutor.

Hardly had the iron doors clanged behind him when the outlaw, no longer glum and morose, but rather smiling and alert, posed for pictures with his principal guards and Prosecutor Robert G. Estill, who is to ask a jury of Lake county residents to send him to the electric chair for the O'Malley murder.

Next, with an air that demonstrated him to be as mild a mannered man as ever shot up a bank, he submitted to general interviewing. Gone were the snarls with which he had greeted the Arizona police. His talk was full of praise, even for the Chicago policemen whom he had described in Tucson as "the dumbest in the world." There were verbal bouquets for the "nice fellows" who had accompanied him on the plane trip and an admission: "I like Mr. Estill and Mrs. Holley seems like a fine lady."

Denies Killing Policeman.

As for the Dillinger career—well, yes, it had had its bad points, but it hadn't included the killing of O'Malley, according to Dillinger.

"Why, they can't hold me for that," said the outlaw. "When that job was pulled I was in Florida. Never had anything to do with the East Chicago stickup."

From point to point, as the questions were thrown at random by a dozen interviewers, the most notorious criminal of his day went on with his answers.

"I was just an unfortunate boy,"

BENJAMIN PUTS HIS PANHANDLING ON A HIGH PLANE

Benjamin Sullivan, 36 years old, 1130 East 81st place, may beg for his food, but he is particular what is offered him, he demonstrated last night in two south side restaurants.

Sullivan first objected to the bowl of soup which was offered him in the Iowa restaurant, 1404 East 63d street, owned by Mrs. C. J. Bransfield. His objections were couched in such terms that he was ejected. Outside, he threw a brick which smashed the plate glass window and a large neon sign, and fled.

A short time later Sullivan entered Mother's restaurant, 1043 East 63d street, and again asked for food. Given a bowl of chicken soup, he threw it on the floor and demanded chicken. He was ordered to leave and Lieut. Walter Storms of the Woodlawn police station, who had been eating in the restaurant, seized him outside just as he was picking up a brick from the gutter.

Miss Ellen Bransfield, daughter of Mrs. Bransfield, identified the prisoner as the man who smashed her mother's window and he was booked on a charge of malicious mischief.

COLD WAVE DUE TO RETIRE TODAY; 40° IS PREDICTED

The first cold wave of 1934, which sent temperatures below zero during the last two days, will retire today before southwest winds expected to lift the mercury to 40 degrees, according to the forecast of C. A. Donnel, government meteorologist. The temperature rose steadily yesterday from 2 below zero at 8 a. m. to 21 degrees above at 9 p. m.

More than 100 fire alarms, most of them traced to overheated furnaces, kept firemen busy yesterday. The worst blaze of the day caused $5,000 damage to frame dwellings from 2001 to 2009 South Racine avenue before it was extinguished. Seven families were driven to the street and Mrs. Margaret Folken, 81 years old, who lived at 2007, was slightly burned before she was rescued from her blazing bed by firemen.

A dozen University of Chicago students were driven from their quarters at 5558 Ellis avenue by a fire which caused damage of $4,000.

Swallows Nickel; Slap Gets It—With Interest

Hollister, Cal., Jan. 30.—(AP)—William Dunlop, 4 years old, literally declared a 20 per cent dividend here today as he was forced to cough up a 5 cent piece he had swallowed. The boy's father held him by the heels, patted him between the shoulders, and out flew a nickel—and a penny.

Big Navy Bill Passes House; Add 102 Ships

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The house voted today a naval strength which far surpasses the cold statistics of the bill.

It debated, passed and sent to the senate the Vinson treaty navy bill calling for 102 new fighting ships, to bring the numerical strength of the United States navy up to 240 ships by 1939 at an estimated cost of 570 millions. But behind these statistics was a fighting strength vastly augmented by the improvements in warfare designed since 1919.

Tremendous cruising range, higher speed, longer, more accurate and more deadly gunfire and keener mechanical eyes for scouting units have been designed for the navy since the world war ended and naval treaties trimmed fleets.

Effectiveness Tells Story.

Numerically the number of fighting ships, when the navy reaches its treaty strength, will be less than half that of the navy in the fall of 1919, 240 compared with 559 ships then listed as "fit for service." The increase in effectiveness is another story.

Naval officials decline, for obvious reasons, to discuss the speed and cruising range of the new ships, either on the ways, or to be put there under the Vinson treaty measure.

In this broadened cruising range of United States ships is found a partial answer to one of the navy strategy problems—lack of naval bases except in the remote Pacific.

The new ships have "blister" hull construction, double hulls, with oil to take up the concussion of under water explosions that ordinarily crumple plates.

Plan New Aircraft Carrier.

In the air the treaty navy will both augment its offense and defense, build a fifth aircraft carrier to float a new swarm of planes and, on the defensive side, equip itself with anti-aircraft large caliber machine guns of new design and highly improved accuracy.

The 1,184 airplanes the Vinson bill would add to the fleet would be radically different craft from those of world war days.

Passage of the bill by the house today sent the measure to the senate where the naval committee already had approved its companion bill. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said the senate would begin consideration of it Thursday.

The house debate brought frequent avowals of a desire for peace and action designed to take some of the profits out of war, but not even a roll call was demanded.

4 LIONS PUNISH THE SLAYER OF TROUPE LIONESS

Cleveland, O., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Sammy, the 400 pound lion with jungle manners, who yesterday killed a lioness, was taken over the bumps by four of his tawny colleagues in Clyde Beatty's animal training act today.

Beatty put Sammy in the cage today and then brought in a correctional squad of four husky lions named Nero Jr., Brutus, Leo, and King. They went to work on Sammy with considerable enjoyment.

Leo slid a long, white tooth along Sammy's shank. Nero pulled a heavy paw across Sammy's mane. Two other lions growled and looked disapprovingly at the killer. Sammy drooped a bit, tried to get out of the cage and finally took refuge in a corner.

There was a tussle and Sammy indicated he had had enough. Beatty opened the door to the runway. That seems to be the way lions are trained.

GUM MACHINE, MACHINE GUN CONFUSE POLICE

Cal Hoff, telephone operator at the Waukegan police station, had just finished reading an account of John Dillinger's airplane trip yesterday when in an excited message from a telegraph operator at the North Western railroad station he thought he heard the words "machine gun" and "slugs."

He sprang to action. In a jiffy three squads of police and deputy sheriffs were speeding to the railroad station, a few blocks away. Dashing into the station they demanded of Floyd Dixon, the telegraph operator: "Where are the machine gunners."

"Machine gunners?" queried Dixon. "What I said was that two kids were putting slugs in a gum machine. I grabbed one, but they got away."

48 U. S. PLANES HOP FOR SECRET HAWAIIAN TESTS

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 30.—The largest air force ever to operate from Pearl harbor left today under secret orders for ten days of advanced base operations in which the army and navy air corps are taking part.

Forty-eight patrol planes, including the squadron which flew here from San Francisco early this month, departed at intervals between 5 a. m. and noon for a station on the outlying islands. They will operate there until the final day of the maneuvers, which will culminate in tests to include troops, submarines and surface ships. The sea craft left Pearl harbor Sunday and yesterday.

he said. "Back in Mooresville, Ind., the old home town, I got drunk ten years ago and held up a grocery. I got $550 and then I got caught. They gave me ten to twenty in Michigan City prison. Only a year ago they let me out.

"In the prison I met a lot of good fellows. I wanted to help them out. There's do denying that I helped fix up the break at Michigan City last September when ten men got away. Why not? I stick to my friends and they stick to me.

"Sure, after they came out we did some bank robberies. We moved around in Indiana, in Wisconsin, and in Chicago. One of the fellows that I helped out, John Hamilton, shot and killed Policeman William Shanley there in December. John was my pal and I drove him out of town in an automobile. He'd have done as much for me.

"Poor old John. Well, he's dead. They shot him four times and he's under the sod. Maybe I'll tell you where sometime. I wasn't with him when he got shot, but one of the boys told me about it."

Money Seized in Tucson.

The prisoner was asked if Hamilton had died of wounds suffered as he fled from the East Chicago robbery. Dillinger has been identified as the machine gunner and Hamilton as the money gatherer in that $20,000 job. The question was parried.

"Hamilton's got some kids," Dillinger went on. "Before he died he sent me some money to take to them. It was in one of the sacks that the Tucson police took away from me. I guess it was about $6,800."

This was taken by some of the interviewers as a buildup for the defense in the murder case. Part of the $36,000 found on the gangsters in Arizona was identified as from the East Chicago bank. Dillinger apparently was hinting that the dead Hamilton, if Hamilton is dead, was the guilty man in the crime.

He continued: "We stuck around Chicago, living a few days in one place and a few days in another. Stege and Reynolds and the rest of the police were sure hot on our trail, just about a day behind, I guess. They almost got me once, out on Irving Park boulevard.

Recalls Escape from Police.

"That was because a stool pigeon turned me up to the police. His name is Art McGinnis. I fed him and clothed him when he was broke, but he squealed on me. The police found me in a doctor's office where Art had sent them. They shot at me and I shot at them, but my car was too fast and I got away.

"Those were exciting times. We moved from house to house, rented one, stayed a few days and moved on when the neighborhood got hot. But we used to go to the downtown theaters whenever we wanted to. Once a detective at the Chicago theater asked us to explain why we had a certain $20 bill. It wasn't counterfeit, but it was hot from a robbed bank. So we ducked out on the detective."

Some one asked Dillinger how long it took him to clean out a bank.

"O, about a minute and 40 seconds flat," he replied.

Referring to the capture of himself and his accomplices, Harry Pierpont, Charles Makley and Russell Clark, in Tucson, Dillinger said it was entirely due to the carelessness of the latter pair. When a fire occurred there in the Congress hotel, where they were staying, they offered firemen too much money to carry out their trunks. This attracted suspicion to them and the firemen later remembered seeing pictures of Makley and Clark in a detective magazine.

"If the saps had made it only a couple of bucks," Dillinger declared, "we'd still be safe—and happy."

"Just an Unfortunate Boy."

Summing up his own brief autobiography, the outlaw said, with a tremor in his voice:

"I am not a bad fellow, ladies and gentlemen. I was just an unfortunate boy who got started wrong."

Something like a tear glistened in one eye as the interviewers left. Outside stood deputy sheriffs with machine guns poised to repel any attack that his friends might make in the hope of releasing him. In the corridor, constantly watching, was an armed man ready to kill Dillinger if he showed any signs of attempting to escape. In the jail dining room were the 32 Chicago policemen, commanded by Capt. Stege, enjoying the dinner and the half barrel of beer furnished by Deputy Sheriff Carroll Holley and Chief of Police Nicholas Makar of East Chicago, who had accompanied the prisoner by plane.

The unusual precautions to prevent escape here came after a report was received from Greencastle, Ind., stating that three carloads of gangsters were on their way to deliver Dillinger. Capt. Stege had learned the gang had sworn a solemn oath to aid each other even a the risk of death to all, should one be captured.

This was confirmed in statements made by Dillinger himself to Lieut. Reynolds and Lieut. Arthur Katt of the detective bureau. Not only had such an oath been taken, he averred, but each man had pledged himself to kill a close relative of a policeman in revenge for a killing or a capture. One of those threatened was Capt. Stege's wife, if such measures became necessary in the opinion of the gang.

It was the opinion of Prosecutor Estill that Dillinger had made up his mind that he was to die in the electric chair and that he would soon tell the whole story of his crimes.

Crowds Meet Plane En Route.

The plane trip of the outlaw and his guards aroused great interest at all points along the route. At Fort Worth, Tex.; Little Rock, Ark.; Memphis, Tenn., and St. Louis, Mo., local authorities appeared with strong detachments of police to see that no rescue attempts were carried out, and crowds gathered to look on one of the most noted robbers since Jesse James.

At St. Louis the prisoner asked about what had happened to his pals in Tucson. The news, from his viewpoint, was not good. An application for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Makley, Pierpont and Clark was overruled by Judge Fickett, and the trio, guarded by Capt. Matt Leach and his detail of Indiana state policemen, were placed on the Golden State limited of the Rock Island railroad. They left Tucson at 8:55 a. m., Chicago time, for their journey here. With them, also a prisoner, is Mary Kinder, charged with aiding Dillinger in releasing the three men from the Michigan City prison.

Gov. B. B. Moeur of Arizona ordered the four persons extradited to Indiana and this alone was sufficient for the judge's purpose. But Opal Long and Anne Martin, the other girls captured with the gang, were released. Indiana had not asked for their custody. It was the petite, blonde Anne that Dillinger kissed in court on Friday.

SEEKS EARLY TRIAL

Officials of Lake county, Ind., yesterday made tentative plans for their campaign to send John Dillinger, midwest gang leader, to the electric chair on a charge of murder. Prosecutor Robert G. Estill of Lake county, who will direct the prosecution, will urge an early trial of the gangster, who has been indicted for the killing of Policeman Patrick O'Malley in a bank robbery in East Chicago on Jan. 15.

Prosecutor Estill has had experience in the prosecution of notorious gangsters. On Nov. 30, 1933, he obtained a life sentence for James [Fur] Sammons, Chicago machine gun killer, under the habitual criminal act. He also has sent one man to the electric chair in his three years as prosecutor in Lake county. On July 7, 1933, Donald Glen Shustium was electrocuted after he had been convicted of murder and rape.

Mr. Estill, who is serving his second term of two years, was first elected in Jan. 1, 1931, on the Democratic ticket, and will be up for reëlection in the fall primary. He is married and lives in East Chicago with his wife, Vina, and two daughters.

Responsibility for guarding the gangster during his trial and stay in the county jail at Crown Point will rest on Mrs. Lillian Holley, woman sheriff of Lake county. Mrs. Holley, the mother of twin daughters—Jeanette and Janis, 18 years old, who are now attending college—was appointed as sheriff after the death of her husband, Dr. Roy F. Holley.

Dr. Holley, a dentist practicing in Hammond and Gary, was shot to death when he tried to arrest Michael Lanter of Ross, Ind., who was wanted for murder.

McFADDEN FREED IN TOUHY TRIAL, THEN IS JAILED

State Ends Case; Defense to Start Today.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Edward [Father Tom] McFadden, Touhy gangster who was set free yesterday after the state had nol prossed its charges against him in the Factor kidnaping trial, enjoyed his liberty only long enough to get a winter overcoat and drink one stein of beer.

Then he was seized by state's attorney's police and sent to the detective bureau, to await word from authorities at Elkhorn, Wis., as to whether they wish to prosecute him on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. With Roger Touhy and other members of the gang, McFadden was arrested in Elkhorn last July 19 after an accident to their automobile, in which they carried a small arsenal.

One Stein, Then in Again.

McFadden's release yesterday gave him his first real need for an overcoat because he had been in custody since he was caught at Elkhorn. Supplied with a coat by relatives, he left the county jail and stopped in a saloon two blocks away. Sergt. Patrick McNamara and Detective Lorimer Hyde informed of his release, raced after him on foot. McFadden was just lifting a foaming stein to his lips as they entered the saloon.

"Come along, Tom," said Sergt. McNamara. "They want to talk to you at the office."

"Can't I finish my beer?" asked McFadden mournfully.

He was permitted to empty the stein, then was taken back to jail and later to the detective bureau.

Prosecution Rests Case.

Meanwhile in Judge Michael Feinberg's courtroom the state was resting its case against the three remaining kidnaping defendants — Roger Touhy, Albert Kator, and Gus Schaefer — who are accused of abducting John Factor, wealthy speculator, for ransom.

The nol prossing of the kidnaping charge against McFadden came just before the completion of the state's testimony. Evidence had been presented identifying McFadden, who is 57 years old and a former business agent for the teamsters' union, as a member of the Touhy gang, but no witness had linked him with the actual kidnaping of Factor.

State Provides an Alibi.

At the morning session the state itself had provided an alibi for McFadden in the testimony of three nurses and a physician that McFadden had been continually in the Oak Park hospital from last June 29 to July 9. Factor was kidnaped on July 1 and held until July 12, when ransom of $70,000 was paid for his release.

The testimony about McFadden's stay in the hospital was given by June Beck, Bernice Becker, and Marcelline Weishaar, nurses, and Dr. Adolph Kraft, 1009 South Austin boulevard.

McFadden went to the hospital with Tommy Touhy, brother of Roger, and Tim Tribble, a gangster later slain in a gun fight, the state showed. Tommy Touhy was ill and McFadden and Tribble were his guards, it was indicated.

"The state moved to drop the charges against McFadden because it wanted to be eminently fair," declared Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley. "After summing up the evidence against McFadden it was evident that his guilt had not been proved beyond a reasonable doubt. I could not ask a jury to find a man guilty when I myself was not convinced of his guilt."

Some attorneys watching the trial indorsed this courtroom strategy. Others expressed an opinion that the state's case had been weakened by the dismissal of the charges against McFadden.

The three men remaining on trial have positively been identified by Factor as his kidnapers. He pointed out Touhy as the leader, Kator as a man who threatened to torture him, and Schaefer as one of the men who had participated in the actual kidnaping near the Dells roadhouse on Dempster street. Factor did not mention McFadden in his testimony.

Defense Evidence Today.

The state rested at 2:45 p. m. and the trial was adjourned until this morning because Defense Attorney William Scott Stewart said he was not ready to begin his presentation of evidence.

Stewart's line of defense remained something of a mystery, although he has made frequent assertions during the trial that he would prove the indictment and prosecution of the Touhys was inspired by the Capone syndicate because of jealousy of the Touhy gang.

In his opening statement to the jury Attorney Stewart promised to "rip the lid off" the law enforcing situation in Cook county and show that the Capone syndicate had connections in the Chicago office of the federal department of justice, the state's attorney's office, and the Chicago police department.

Whether the defense lawyer can make good his promise of proving the existence of an alliance between the Capone hoodlums and the law enforcers remained a matter for speculation last night.

Stewart refused also to state definitly yesterday whether Touhy and the other defendants would take the witness stand in their own defense. At the beginning of the trial he asserted that Touhy would undoubtedly testify.

Asked by Prosecutor Crowley if he did not wish to place a defendant on the stand in order to fill in the time before the regular hour of adjournment, the defense lawyer replied that he wished his witnesses to testify in a certain order.

"I originally subpœnaed 101 witnesses," he told Judge Feinberg, "but I didn't expect the state to finish so soon."

Defense Motions Overruled.

After the state finished its case Stewart made the customary motions to dismiss the charges against the remaining three defendants. These motions were overruled by the court.

Attorney Stewart then indicated that he would present medical testimony tending to throw doubt upon Factor's identifications of Touhy and Kator. Factor said he saw the faces of these two men when the blindfold was removed from his eyes for a few seconds. Physicians will be asked to give their opinion, Stewart intimated, concerning a man's ability to see clearly after his eyes have been bandaged for long periods.

There is a possibility, it was said, that Stewart, who is known for his spectacular moves in a trial of this sort, may elect to close his case after presenting very brief testimony and base his hopes for acquittal upon closing arguments alone.

TWO OUSTED JURORS IN TOUHY CASE FACE PUNISHMENT TODAY

Judge Michael Feinberg, who is hearing the Factor kidnaping trial, today will decide what penalty to give two prospective jurors who confessed to perjury during the process of selecting a jury to hear the evidence against the Touhy gangsters.

The two men to be arraigned before the judge today are Russell H. Brownell, 35 years old, 1319 North La Salle street, and Francis B. Hayes, 42 years old, 2649 Flournoy street. They had been drawn as veniremen when a jury was being selected two weeks ago and both had been accepted for service on the jury when an investigation revealed that they had sworn falsely in their answers to questions by the state.

Judge Feinberg indicated that he might be comparatively lenient with Brownell, who insisted he concealed two arrests in his past because he did not consider "disorderly conduct" a crime. A heavy penalty, however, may be given to Hayes, who was revealed as having a son and two brothers in penitentiaries after he had declared under oath that no member of his family had ever been accused of a crime.

THE DAY'S TESTIMONY

At the morning session witnesses identified Basil Banghart and Charles [Ice Wagon] Connors, Touhy gangsters who have never been apprehended, as the two men who attempted to collect a further $50,000 ransom from Factor after his release.

Two witnesses gave a vivid account of the remarkable scene presented last Aug. 15 when Banghart and Connors took a decoy package from the police and then eluded capture in the forest preserves near Western Springs despite the presence of large numbers of policemen and an airplane circling overhead.

Policemen Frank McKenna and John Meyer, who were disguised as a telegraph messenger boy and a taxicab driver, respectively, furnished a description of the happenings that afternoon. Both identified pictures of Banghart and Connors as the men to whom the decoy package, containing $500 instead of $50,000, was handed.

"I collected the package from a man I later learned was Factor at 208 South La Salle street," Meyer testified. "I had previously been given my instructions and was in a chauffeur's uniform and had a cab. My partner, McKenna, dressed as a messenger boy, sat in the rear seat."

Drives to Western Springs.

"I drove the cab to Western Springs," Meyer continued. "East of Mannheim road a Ford car, license number 1-249-173, passed us going very fast. At Wolf road and Ogden avenue I stopped and McKenna went to a barbecue stand there while I got out and wiped the hood of my cab, as were my instructions.

"I saw that the plane, in which was Lieut. Michael Naughton, got my signal and I got back into the cab. Then the Ford car came back from the west. It stopped and a man in the front seat asked: 'Is there a package for Mr. Smith?' I pointed at McKenna in the back seat. He handed over the package."

The automobile with the gangsters immediately drove away at high speed, Policeman Meyer said. He turned his cab around and pursued the other car north in Wolf road.

"We lost the car because of a sharp turn in the road and stopped at 31st street and Wolf road," Meyer went on. "Suddenly, the Ford car came back followed by a squad car. I got out a machine gun and fired a few shots."

Somewhat ruefully the witness then described how the fugitive car had turned east in 31st street and whipped into the woods near a creek, and how the two gangsters in it had escaped. His testimony was corroborated by Policeman McKenna.

Then came John Landall, a farmer who lives in a small house near 26th street and Mannheim road. About 1 p. m. of that same day, he testified, a man came to his door and asked if he could get transportation to the city.

"I got caught in the forest preserves with another woman by my wife," the man told Landall, he testified. "He was dressed in shoes and pants and carried his shirt over his arm. Well, in a case like that I'd help any one out."

Thus one of the fugitives rode calmly past the line of police in Landall's automobile. What became of the other gangster was not revealed in the testimony.

Landall was shown a picture of Banghart, but refused to identify it positively.

Other members of Landall's family, however, were positive in their identifications of the picture as that of Banghart. They were Landall's wife, Dora; a son, Leo, and a 9 year old granddaughter of the Landalls.

Charles E. Di Canio, an automobile salesman, then testified that he sold the Ford car with license 1-249-173 to Connors on Aug. 4.

Terry Girl Shows Up.

Helen Terry, a comely blonde waitress, was another witness. Her tardiness in appearing gave rise to reports during the morning session that she also had disappeared as had another state's witness, James Wagner, whose saloon near Des Plaines was frequented by the Touhy gang. Wagner was still being sought yesterday.

When the Terry girl took the stand she testified briefly that Roger Touhy, Willie Sharkey [a member of the gang who committed suicide in the St. Paul jail] and McFadden were sometimes seen together at the Rainbo barbecue, North and Harlem avenue, where she worked as a waitress.

ELDER BREMER WAITS IN VAIN FOR LETTER FROM KIDNAPING GANG

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Word from the kidnapers of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, abducted Jan. 17, still was lacking today, nearly two weeks after his disappearance. Frantic appeals from his father, Adolph Bremer, wealthy St. Paul brewer and Democratic party power, have failed to establish contacts with the captors.

Notes to the family last week, at first believed from the kidnapers, proved to be the work of cranks. Police and federal department of justice agents were still "standing by" in the case.

COLDS
When You Take The Right Thing!

A cold doesn't have to run its course and expose you to serious complications. A cold can be routed overnight if you go about it the right way. First of all, a cold being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. Secondly, a cold calls for a COLD remedy and not for a "cure-all."

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any druggist, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and beware of dealers who offer substitutes.

CITY JOINS U. S. IN PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Celebrations Raise Funds for Paralysis Victims.

With song and ceremony Chicago joined the whole country yesterday in making an unofficial national holiday out of the celebration of President Roosevelt's 52d birthday.

Bankers and CWA workers, society matrons, and salesgirls joined in luncheons, parties, and dinners held through the day and evening as part of the tribute to the President. The day ended with the program of music and speeches in the Auditorium theater in which the work of the Warm Springs, Ga., Foundation in helping victims of infantile paralysis was told.

4,000 Jam Theater.

In the theater, which was jammed to the gallery with a brilliant throng, 4,000 persons heard President Roosevelt tell of his hopes for increasing the usefulness of the foundation. The broadcast of his "happiest birthday" speech was transmitted by loudspeakers on the stage. There was a moment of silence as he concluded, then a roar of applause.

The committee for the President's Chicago birthday party, which included social, business and political leaders of the city, provided a program which ranged in variety from stars of the Chicago Civic Opera company to stage and radio entertainers. Although the celebration began at 8:15 p. m. it was nearly midnight before it ended.

Funds Go to Sufferers.

In accordance with the President's wish most of the celebrations raised funds which are to be sent to the foundation for infantile paralysis sufferers. Contributors to the fund included not only the committees behind the organized fêtes but also hotels, restaurants, and a number of manufacturing and retailing concerns. Many of the latter donated a percentage of net income for the day to the foundation, and others dispatched food or clothing for the sufferers from the diseases.

It was hoped that Chicago could send $100,000 to the paralysis foundation which the President sponsors and to which he regularly returns for rest and recuperation. Last evening no estimate of the collections had been made.

Children Get Cake.

Chicago's part in the honors paid to the chief executive began at 10 a. m. with the lighting of fifty-two candles on a huge snowy birthday cake at the Spaulding School for Crippled Children. All the 340 sufferers from infantile paralysis from among the 850 pupils in the school surrounded the cake as the flames jumped from wick to wick.

Principal Thecia Doniat carved and distributed the cake to the children, who ranged in age from six to sixteen years. The children in this school took part in a general ceremony held at the noon hour. Ice cream donated by Al Horan, bailiff of the Municipal court, was served.

The noon celebration was held in all the city's 373 public schools. At this hour also a colossal "Chicago birthday cake," glittering in icing and with the name "Franklin Delano Roosevelt" traced upon it in old English letters of colored sugar, was auctioned off before a throng of 2,000 persons in the rotunda between the city hall and county building.

Bidding Is Spirited.

County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer was the auctioneer, assisted by City Controler Robert B. Upham. The bidding was keen for the first wedge of the cake. The original offers started at $5 and rapidly jumped to $25. There Auctioneer Sweitzer began to intone the "Going, going" phrase when J. L. Houghteling, a La Salle street broker, made the final bid of $30.

The cake, which weighed 2,320 pounds and included in its ingredients 6,723 eggs, 310 pounds of butter, 600 pounds of sugar, 386 quarts of milk, and 500 pounds of flour, was then quickly cut into small pieces which were sold for ten cents each. All the funds collected from the auction are to be included in the city's contributions to the paralysis foundation.

Meanwhile throughout the city and suburbs similar jovial gatherings were taking place. Fraternal orders, clubs, labor groups and other organizations were holding special observances—for the first time for a living President. American Legionnaires held a parade through the loop and supplied flags with a guard of honor for hundreds of other celebrations.

Speeches at Courthouse.

At the United States courthouse Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen and Rear Admiral Wat T. Cluverius were the principal speakers at a gathering in the rotunda. The Postoffice band furnished patriotic music.

"A year ago there went forth a cry for a man to lead the United States out of the depression, and from the people came a new Daniel of judgment, President Roosevelt," said Admiral Cluverius. "He began his campaign against want, suffering and national decay. He brought an unexcelled courage, which was needed more than ever before."

The Franklin D. Roosevelt club of Chicago, which is sponsored by the regular Democratic organization of Cook county, held a birthday luncheon in the Cameo room at the Morrison hotel. Mayor Kelly and Patrick A. Nash, Illinois national committeeman, were the guests of honor and the speaker was Scott W. Lucas, chairman of the Illinois state tax commission.

Some 3,500 persons attended the birthday party arranged in Cicero at the Olympic ballroom, Lombard avenue and Cermak road. A salute of 21 bombs was fired in the street outside and Mayor Joseph G. Cerny cut and distributed a 350 pound birthday cake.

Flames Damage Armory; One Fireman Is Injured

Fire which started from an overheated pipe broke out last night in the 108th Engineers armory at 3401 Wentworth avenue while a basketball game was in progress, breaking up the game. Fireman Daniel Hullet of engine company 16 was knocked unconscious when the plaster of a basement room fell on him as he was seeking the source of the dense smoke which flooded the building. The damage was estimated at $50.

President in His Birthday Speech Pleads for Aid to Sufferers

"Tonight I am very deeply moved by the choice of my birthday anniversary for the holding of birthday balls in so many communities, great and small, throughout the country. I send you my greetings and my heartfelt thanks; but at the same time I feel that I have the right to speak to you even more as the representative on this occasion of the hundreds of thousands of crippled children in our country.

"It is only in recent years that we have come to realize the true significance of the problem of our crippled children. There are so many more of them than we had any idea of. In many sections there are thousands who are not only receiving no help but whose very existence has been unknown to the doctors and health services.

Likened to Fight on Tuberculosis.

"A generation ago somewhat the same situation existed in relation to tuberculosis. Today, because of constant stressing of the subject, the nation understands the tuberculosis problem and has taken splendid steps not only to effectuate cures, but also to prevent the spread of the disease.

"The problem of the crippled child is very similar. Modern medical science has advanced so far that a very large proportion of children who for one reason or another have become crippled can be restored to useful citizenship. It remains, therefore, only to spread the gospel for the care and cure of crippled children in every part of this kindly land to enable us to make the same relative progress that we have already made in the field of tuberculosis.

"As all of you know, the work at Warm Springs has been close to my heart because of the many hundreds of cases of infantile paralysis which have been treated there. It is a fact that infantile paralysis results in the crippling of children and of grown-ups more than any other cause.

"Means Help for Many."

"Warm Springs is only one of the many places where kindness and patience and skill are given to handicapped people. There are hundreds of other places, hospitals and clinics, where the surgeons, doctors and nurses of the country gladly work day in and day out throughout the years, often without compensation.

"Warm Springs, through the generous gifts which are being made to the foundation tonight, will be able to increase its usefulness nationally, especially in the field of infantile paralysis. We shall be able to take more people and I hope that these people will be able to come to us on the recommendation of doctors from every state in the Union.

"I want to stress, however, that the problem of the crippled child is so great that in every community and in every state the local facilities for caring for the crippled need the support and the interest of every citizen.

"Let us well remember that every child and indeed every person who is restored to useful citizenship is an asset to the country and is enabled 'to pull his own weight in the boat.' In the long run, by helping this work we are not contributing to charity but we are contributing to the building up of a sound nation.

"At Warm Springs the facilities are available, in so far as beds and funds permit, to the rich and to the poor.

"The fund to which you contribute tonight will undoubtedly permit us to extend the facilities of Warm Springs in a greater degree than before. I like to think and I would like each one of you who hears me to remember that what you are doing means the enriching of the life of some crippled child. I know and you know that there could be no finer purpose than our will to aid these helpless little ones.

"My Happiest Birthday."

"Today so many thousands of welcome telegrams and postcards and letters of birthday greetings have poured in on me in the White House that I want to take this opportunity of thanking all of you who have sent them.

"From the bottom of my heart I am grateful to you for your thought. I wish I could divide myself by six thousand and attend in person each and every one of these birthday parties. I cannot do that, but I can be and I am with you all in spirit and in the promotion of this great cause for which we are all crusading.

"No man has ever had a finer birthday remembrance from his friends and fellows than you have given me tonight. It is with an humble and thankful heart that I accept this tribute through me to the stricken ones of our great national family. I thank you but lack the words to tell you how deeply I appreciate what you have done and I bid you good night on what is to me the happiest birthday I ever have known."

RED FIRE 'R,' 120 FEET HIGH, OPENS ROOSEVELT FETE

Berlin, N. H., Jan. 30.—(AP)—A flaming "R," 120 feet by 100 feet, lighted up Mount Carberry tonight as Berlin and the Androscoggin valley opened celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday.

Fifty skiers from the Nansen Ski club climbed the mountainside during the afternoon and, after darkness spread over the valley, each of the skiers at designated stations 10 feet apart lighted redfire torches. Thousands in the valley watched in admiration the flaming letter "R" which burned for 10 minutes.

Carolinan Walks to Capital to Honor the President

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Fred M. Heider, representing the Raleigh, N. Y., committee for the President's birthday celebration, walked into the White House office this afternoon, completing a journey on foot from Raleigh to bring the greetings of his city and state to the President. He walked the 280 miles in nine days, traveling the last 46 miles in bitter cold without sleep.

Three Robbers Get $500 in Raid on Union's Offices

Three robbers entered the headquarters of local 275 of the painters' union at 220 West Oak street last night as Kurt Plesse, secretary of the union, had finished collecting monthly dues from the members. They held up Plesse and twelve union members who were present and took $500 in union funds.

Gov. Horner Joins in Greetings to Roosevelt

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Gov. Horner of Illinois tonight joined the thousands of citizens telegraphing President Roosevelt birthday congratulations. In a message the governor complimented Mr. Roosevelt highly and said that citizens of Chicago, Springfield and other Illinois cities were holding birthday parties for the President.

comes over the air. Then Mrs. Roosevelt cuts the birthday cake and the band begins to play.

It is the end of a bright and busy day for the President. During it he received more than 100,000 birthday greetings. The total of birthday messages received this week climbs to 250,000 pieces of mail, an all time record for any President. The king of England has wished him "Happy birthday," and so has the janitor who sweeps the floor of the White House.

There are presents galore: 48 birthday cakes and the 250 pound one from Los Angeles; a 225 pound loaf of bread, a sack full of pennies.

Eats with "Old Gang."

At 7 he sits down to Maryland fried chicken with the "old gang," friends who first circled in around him when he was running for the vice presidency. They always come to his birthday dinner. No formality; much hilarity, as Mrs. Roosevelt and Anna are initiated into the group. They haul in a big chair, their gift. It is to go to Warm Springs for the President to sit in as he presides at the meeting of the Foundation board.

Then the man who went to the White House leaning on a cane makes his birthday speech. He reminds the nation that it is good citizenship, as well as decent kindliness, to try to help the cripple. It is well, he points out, for the cripple to learn to "pull his own weight in the boat."

THOUSANDS CELEBRATE

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Thousands of New Yorkers danced and celebrated at more than forty balls tonight in honor of President Roosevelt's fifty-second birthday and for the cause of charity.

From the Waldorf-Astoria to the east side parties were held as this city's share in the functions being given simultaneously throughout the nation.

Despite her 79 years Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, probably was the busiest of all the celebrants. She attended a tea-dance and fashion show in the afternoon, a dinner at the Astor, and the grand ball at the Waldorf, made a radio speech, talked to her son on the telephone, and finished the day apparently as calm and fresh as when she began.

"Happy Birthday, Franklin."

"Happy birthday, Franklin," she said over the phone.

"Mother, it looks as if you have planned a pretty busy day for yourself," her son was quoted as replying.

Six thousand persons packed the grand ballroom of the Waldorf and overflowed nine other ballrooms on three floors, while outside pickets of the striking cooks and waiters paced back and forth in the bitter cold night.

Two thousand were at the Astor and 700 at the Roosevelt, where wine and liquor manufacturers toasted the President in water to show, they said, that they believed in temperance.

Chinatown merchants had a party at an uptown restaurant and the Japanese colony celebrated at the Nippon club. The "fighting Irish" of the old 69th gathered at the 165th Infantry armory. At the home of old Isreal on the lower east side aged men and women prayed for the President and cut a cake with the lettering, "Happy birthday to our worthy President."

At the Waldorf the chefs brought in a cake 28 feet in diameter with 52 white clad debutantes dressed as candles following them. They mounted the huge creation. Among them was Miss Margaret Roosevelt, a cousin of the President and chairman of the debutante committee for the ball.

PATIENTS GRATEFUL

Warm Springs, Ga., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Patients at the Warm Springs foundation, celebrating President Roosevelt's birthday tonight, paid him a warm tribute and expressed gratitude for the endowment fund the nation is raising to aid in the fight against infantile paralysis.

Speaking in behalf of foundation residents, Fred Botts, manager of the institution and toastmaster at a birthday banquet, said, "The love and esteem in which the country holds President Roosevelt is such that the people will pay tribute and perhaps go so far as to worship him as their leader, but the rest of the country can hardly know how cherished he is in the hearts of his Warm Springs friends. He is our light of hope and we look to him for guidance.

"We are happy and grateful for what the people are doing. We wish President Roosevelt many happy returns of the day."

It was estimated that approximately $1,000 would be raised in this county. The county is small and the town of Warm Springs has only about 400 inhabitants.

TWINS ARRIVE; TAGS SAY FRANKLIN D. AND ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—A twin brother and sister born four minutes apart today to Mrs. Eugene Joseph Caton in Flower hospital were named Franklin Delano Roosevelt Caton and Eleanor Roosevelt Caton. The babies were two of four born in Philadelphia and this city today who were named in honor of President Roosevelt, who celebrated his birthday today.

Caton is an employé of the hospital. The minute the birth of the twins was announced Caton started flinging around cigars. He got the day off and spent it dashing in and out of the room to see his offspring. He dashed in to see them and out to brag about them. Franklin Delano weighed six pounds and seven ounces; Eleanor weighed five pounds and twelve ounces. Caton lives in Brooklyn.

In Unity hospital, Brooklyn, about the same time, Franklin Delano Roosevelt Schlossberg was born, weighing seven and a half pounds. He is the son of Ira and Rose Schlossberg of Brooklyn.

36 DANCES IN DETROIT

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Thirty-six birthday balls were held here tonight for President Roosevelt and their sponsors predicted that the evening's festivities, plus advance donations, would result in the raising of nearly $100,000 for the Warm Springs Foundation.

Thus far $47,500 has been received, $22,500 from the automobile industry and $25,000 from the Horace M. and Mary A. Backham fund. Another $25,000 from the Backham fund is to follow.

Mrs. Henry Ford was among the prominent Detroiters who tonight acted as patrons of the various events. Her son, Edsel Ford, has been a member of the committee which planned Detroit's celebration.

6,000 MEET IN BOSTON

Boston, Mass., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The 52d birthday of President Roosevelt was observed with two balls in Boston tonight at which more than 6,000 persons donated about $15,000 to swell the fund for the Warm Springs, Ga., foundation.

The larger of the two parties was held at the Hotel Statler with 4,000 attending. The grand march was led by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Mrs. James Roosevelt, son and daughter-in-law of the chief executive.

The second Boston party was sponsored by the Boston Central Labor union. It was attended by more than 2,000 and was held at the Hotel Bradford.

HOLD BIRTHDAY BALL

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Thousands jammed ballrooms and entertainment places throughout Philadelphia tonight, joining the entire nation in the observance of President Roosevelt's 52d birthday.

This city's principal celebration was a huge birthday ball in the Municipal Convention hall, which was crowded with merrymakers.

2 SLAIN BY MOBS IN AUSTRALIA; 18 HOUSES BURNED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 30.—The gold mines at Kalgoorlie and Boulder, Western Australia, were closed tonight after serious rioting during which 1,000 miners wrecked and looted the foreign business section in Kalgoorlie. At least two persons were killed and four wounded. Three hotels, 13 houses and two boarding houses were burned as mobs gathered to protest against foreigners working for small wages in the gold fields. The riots were a sequel to the death of George Jordon in a quarrel with an Italian bartender. The latter is held on a manslaughter charge.

Perth is rushing police reinforcements to the scene. The miners refuse to return to work until all foreigners, numbering 700, are dismissed. During the rioting the mobs commandeered automobiles and burned the furniture taken from foreign owned buildings.

Premier Collier expressed regret that riots should have resulted from a barroom dispute. Kalgoorlie and Boulder are Australia's wealthiest gold mines.

CITY EMPLOYES PAID FOR LAST HALF OF OCTOBER

Employés of the city, public library, and municipal tuberculosis sanitarium were paid yesterday for the last two weeks of October, leaving their pay only three months in arrears. Negotiations for more pay days are being carried on with the banks by City Controler Upham.

MOTHER TELLS HER STORY OF 32D PRESIDENT

Her Memories Are of Baby Days.

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. James Roosevelt today recalled the first birthday of "My boy, Franklin."

While the nation celebrated his fifty-second anniversary the President's mother remembered the sunny upstairs room in their house on the Hudson—the room where Franklin was born.

It came near being a dark day—that January day fifty-two years ago. For, as the President's mother recalled in her book published last year, "when he was born I was given too much chloroform, and it was nearly fatal to us both.

Born in Own Home.

"The nurse said she never expected the baby to be alive and was surprised to find that he was."

He was born in their own home—the long, rambling house at Hyde Park to which Sara Delano came as a bride. One never went to hospitals in those days.

"And, anyway," says Mrs. Roosevelt, "I think it's nicer for a baby to be born in his own home."

She never dreamed, on that first birthday, that her son would be President. That was the last thing she ever imagined for him.

What was her ambition for him? Very simple, she says. "To grow to be like his father—straight and honorable, just and kind, an upstanding American."

Can't Forget Baby Days.

Not only as he is now, but as he was then—a baby, "plump, pink, and nice"—she sees her son today.

She thinks, too, of his Welsh pony; of the "sailboat" he and his playmates built in the top of a tree, and his early declaration, "I'm a seafaring man."

Pictures from his boyhood recur—such pictures as the time when she admonished him, "Franklin, where is your obedience?" and he grinned, "My 'bedience has gone upstairs for a walk."

She sees, too, that more significant scene, a foretaste of his executive life to come, when she said, "Don't give all the orders, Franklin."

SENATE BREAKS RULE; SENDS F. D. BIRTHDAY NOTE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—By unanimous vote today the senate set an unusual example of friendliness to the chief executive when it adopted a resolution offered by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, Democratic whip, transmitting congratulations upon his birthday. The resolution which broke the senate's customary tradition of aloofness was as follows:

"Resolved, by the United States senate, That it expresses its congratulations to the President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt, upon his fifty-second birthday and expresses the wish for continuous health and beneficial service to his country in the years to follow.

"The senate expresses its admiration and praise for the courage of the citizen, Franklin D. Roosevelt, in fighting and overcoming obstruction and discouragement and so, by his example, enabling sufferers of misfortune to find refuge in hope."

DIVORCES MATE WHO LEFT HER AND CHURCH JOB

Mrs. Natalie Meyer, 42 years old, 5315 Navarre avenue, was awarded an uncontested divorce from Otto K. Meyer, a leather salesman, by Superior Judge Desort yesterday. She testified that at the time of their marriage on April 15, 1913, Otto was a religious man. He was a deacon in the Mount Olive Evangelical Lutheran church. But in January of 1930 the "devil got him" and he deserted both her and his church post, Mrs. Meyer said. She declared she had tried to win him back by writing him poetry, but he did not acknowledge receipt of her verses. Attorney Harry X. Cole was instructed to draw up a divorce decree providing for the payment of $30 a week alimony.

Winter Rainbow Greets Minnesota Birthday Fete

Patrons and Clerks Held Prisoners by Holdup Gang

Five bandits took $500 yesterday evening in a holdup of the Liggett's drug store at 901 East 63d street after making prisoners of a score of customers and eight employes. Four of the robbers, armed with pistols and revolvers, forced the customers and clerks to conceal themselves behind the partition of the prescription department in the rear. While one of the bandits guarded the prisoners, the other three made R. J. Alexander, the manager, open the safe containing the money. The bandits escaped in an automobile driven by the fifth member.

LIQUOR CONTROL BILL FOR STATE FINALLY PASSED

House Vote of 105 to 30 Does It.

Key bill, for the hire of clerks and inspectors, and $28,000 to pay the salaries of the commission and its secretary from now until July 1, 1935.

Too tired to put up a real fight, the Republicans let the appropriations through and they were sent across the hall to the senate, which must also enact them. They were moved immediately to second reading and, according to plans, will be advanced to third reading tomorrow and passed in a post-midnight session Thursday morning—time to allow the Chicago senators to catch the 2:30 o'clock sleeper.

Third Special Session Likely.

If this is done, the work of the second special session will virtually be concluded, although it is the plan to keep it open so that any changes necessary in the bill can be made without delay.

Meanwhile, the third special session looms. On Gov. Horner's desk are more than 250 requests for extraordinary legislation—some of which he regards as having considerable merit—and it is regarded likely that the third call will be issued within two weeks.

The governor is ill at the executive mansion from a lingering attack of influenza which has kept him on his back for three weeks. He has kept in close touch with the legislation, however, as evinced by announcement after the bill passed tonight.

Horner Satisfied by Result.

"The objectives of the new law," he said, "conform to modern principles governing liquor control legislation that have been recommended by various associations and individuals who have made a study of the economic and social problems involved in regulating the manufacture, distribution and sale of liquor. No doubt time will prove that the law should be strengthened in some respects, but I am convinced that the law is the best that could be obtained under the circumstances.

"While the basic elements and conduct of the industry are sought to be controled and regulated by the state, the political subdivisions are accorded the right and privilege of broad powers of home rule, cities, villages, incorporated towns, townships, and road districts having the power to prohibit retail deliveries and sales of liquor.

"Stringent provisions are in the law to keep the industry free from politics and to prevent manufacturers, importing distributors, and distributors from controling, as in pre-prohibition days, the retail sales of liquor.

Assembly Tied by Wrangles.

The last few weeks of the session found the assembly wrangling with itself. The senate refused to pass the bill the house liked and the house balked at the bill sent over from the senate. So a joint conference committee was named and it struggled eight days, reopening old wounds and with great dint of hard labor finally evolving a "report."

As finally adopted the report followed closely the five-point program presented the commission studying the liquor problem by the Chicago Hotel association and which was endorsed by leading civic organizations and citizens. Among those who approved the original plan were Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission, and Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal church.

The sections which caused most controversy dealt with a separate commission for Chicago, taxes, the bar provision, certain features of local option and the Powers amendment concerning the labeling of whisky.

Home Rule for Chicago.

As the bill was passed it gives Chicago the right to govern itself, allows bar service only in establishments whose principal business is the serving of food, grants local option to precincts in Chicago and townships and villages down state and forces distillers to label as "imitation" all whisky and gin not made from a distillate of the mash of fermented grains.

So talked out where the members today that only one explanation of a vote was offered on the first roll call. This came from Robert M. Woodward [Rep., Chicago], who didn't vote last week but signified after the session that he had intended, and would, vote for the bill.

This evening Woodward voted against the bill and explained that he had been piqued by a newspaper story which stated that Bailiff Al Horan of Chicago, one of the active workers for the bill, had lined up the necessary six votes and that Woodward was one of them. "I wear no man's collar," said Woodward in voting against the bill.

Digest of New Illinois Liquor Control Law

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Following is a digest, article by article, of the new Illinois liquor control bill as it will go into effect within a few days with Gov. Horner's signature:

Article One.

Defines terms used in the act, including alcohol, spirits, wine, beer, manufacturer, distributor, retailer, restaurant, club, and hotel.

Article Two.

Restricts the manufacturer, bottling, blending, sale, transportation and delivery of alcoholic liquor for beverage purposes, to persons licensed by the act.

Article Three.

Creates the Illinois liquor control commission, composed of three members, each a resident of Illinois for at least ten years, to be appointed by the governor and serve terms of two, four, and six years, respectively. One of the commission must be a member of the minor political party. Their successors shall be appointed for six years each, the chairman, named by the governor, will draw $5,000 annually, and the other commissioners and the secretary, named by the commisison, $4,800.

The commission may appoint "as many inspectors, clerks and other employés" as are necessary to enforce the act. Commissioners and employés are prohibited from holding any interest in the liquor business and from receiving any emolument from those in the business.

The commission shall issue and revoke licenses to manufacturers, importing distributors, distributors, retailers, railroads, dining cars and boats. It shall fix the standards for the manufacture of liquor, and has the right to inspect the premises where liquor is manufactured, distributed or sold and to examine the licensee. For the purposes of investigation of liquor control problems, the commission is allowed to travel in foreign countries. The commission is allowed to issue wholesalers' licenses in local option (prohibited) territory if the local commission has first issued a license.

Article Four.

Local commissions are set up in villages and composed of the mayor or president of the board of trustees and the president, or chairman, of the county board.

Local authorities have the power to determine number, kind and classification of retail licenses and to fix fees. The power to prohibit all sales or sales for consumption on premises is given city councils and county boards until May 10.

Local commissions may appoint persons to assist them. They may grant and revoke licenses for cause and determine location of local licenses and make rules and regulations.

Article Five.

State license fees are fixed as follows:

Liquor manufacturers	$2,500
Wine and beer manufacturers	500
Importing distributors	250
Distributors	100
Retailers	50
R. R. cars	25
Boat	100
World's Fair concessionaire	500

Article Six.

Qualifications for licensees are set forth as follows: Good moral character and reputation; citizen of the United States, not convicted of felony in Illinois; a person whose license has not been revoked for cause.

No corporation could receive a retail license.

No law enforcing public official, any mayor, alderman, or member of the city council or commission, president of a village board of trustees or any president or member of a county board shall be interested in manufacture, sale, or distribution of liquor.

No licensed manufacturer can obtain a retailer's license but an importing distributor or a distributor may receive one retailer's license and then only for premises where he conducts business as importing distributor or distributor.

Manufacturers can sell in case or keg lots for home consumption.

Retailers are prohibited from borrowing from distillers and brewers, save for ordinary commercial credit and that not to exceed ninety days. No distillers nor brewers shall be permitted to furnish fixtures for retail establishments and are limited to $100 in furnishing signs and interior decorations.

No liquor labeled as "whisky" or "gin" shall be sold at retail in the state unless the entire alcoholic content, except flavoring materials, is a distillate of grain. Liquor not conforming to this requirement may be sold if labeled "imitation" gin or whisky. Distillers and brewers must keep record of sales and furnish copies to state commission each month.

No license to retail will be given establishments within 100 feet of any church, school, hospital, and undertaking establishment. This section does not apply to hotels. The "deadline" for the University of Illinois campus is 1,500 feet. The sale of liquor is prohibited on election days while the polls are open, or on Sundays unless authorized by local ordinance. No liquor shall be sold in state buildings. Minors, intoxicated, or insane persons cannot be sold liquor.

No one connected with the liquor industry is allowed to contribute to any political campaign fund. Credit sales of liquor at retail are also prohibited. Retailers are held liable to injuries of a person to whom they have sold liquor. No person shall transport alcoholic liquor in any motor vehicle except in the original package and with the seal unbroken.

Blinds, partitions, curtains, or other means of concealment of the interior of a tavern are not allowed. No restaurant, licensed as such, shall sell alcoholic liquor except with meals.

Bars are prohibited, although this provision does not apply to lunch counters. The words "saloon" or "bar" in signs or advertisments are prohibited.

Article Seven.

Provides for the granting and revocation of licenses and includes the establishment of a separate commission for Chicago. This is to be composed of the chairman of the state commission, the secretary of state, and a third member selected by the city council. If all three are of the same political party the minority member of the state commission will serve in place of the state chairman.

These three form the license appeal commission which will have the power of reversing the city commissioner upon a complaint.

Article Eight.

Imposes gallonage taxes upon the privilege of engaging in the liquor business as a manufacturer or importing distributor, as follows:

Beer, 3 cents.

Wine of 14 or less per cent alcohol, 10 cents.

Wine of more than 14 per cent alcohol, 25 cents.

Whisky and spirits, 50 cents.

This does not apply to liquor sold outside Illinois, but does include liquor imported into the state.

Article Nine.

Provides for local option. In Chicago one or more precincts may vote on the question of prohibited territory provided that such territory shall not extend more than one mile in any direction. Downstate the vote may be taken in cities, villages, and townships. In both Chicago and downstate the question can be proposed only upon the petition of 25 per cent of the voters of the proposed dry area and may not be resubmitted within 47 months. Residents may elect to retain beer in dry territory.

Canadian Senator and College Official Indicted

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Senator E. S. Little and Arthur F. Little of London, and their brother, Walter Little of Winnipeg, chairman of the board of governors of the University of Western Ontario, were indicted today on charges of theft, conspiracy, and false statements. The charges grew from the failure three years ago of Robinson, Little & Co., large dry goods firm.

ENTER POLITICS, LAWYERS URGED BY LA FOLLETTE

Former Gov. Philip F. LaFollette of Wisconsin last night urged lawyers to participate more actively in politics in an address before the Chicago Bar association in its headquarters at 160 North La Salle street. He held politics to be the only avenue through which progress toward recovery can come.

"This generation holds in its palm the fate of civilization," he said. Freedom of the body, mind and spirit are in direct proportion to economic liberty. If the latter drops, then the others will return to primitive states. In such a crisis opportunity is great. The country needs its best brains.

"In the past lawyers were in the foreground. Lately there has been a tendency to shirk public service. There are some who have a horror of politics. But I say to you it is your duty to go in and clean up where cleaning is needed and lead where leadership is wanted."

TWO GUNMEN TAKE AUTO.

Two gunmen stopped the automobile driven by Edward L. Alschuler, 5481 Greenwood avenue, a University of Illinois student home for a school holiday, last evening at 58th street and Ellis avenue, ejected Alschuler from the car and drove it away.

WISCONSIN LOCAL OPTION LIQUOR BILL IS PASSED

Madison, Wis., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin legislature late today finished its work on a local option liquor bill and sent it to Gov. A. G. Schmedeman for his signature.

The bill was introduced by Senator H. W. Griswald [Rep., West Salem] and contains none of the principal features concerning state regulation proposed by Gov. Schmedeman and the Democratic administration.

It provides that cities, towns, and villages decide by referendum whether sale of hard liquor is to be permitted. The referenda will determine whether liquor should be sold only by the package in municipal or private stores. Localities may decide also to allow its sale in both manners.

Applicants for saloon licenses would fill out blanks to be furnished by the state treasurer and give them to local officials who would decide whether qualifications have been met. Cash, surety or personal bonds will be required with the applications.

Although the bill carries many pre-prohibition statutes, it is designed to permit localities to determine exactly how they wish liquor to be regulated. "Wet" legislators regard it as a "dry" bill.

GREECE DELAYS FINAL DECISION ON INSULL'S STAY

Seeks More Data; Permit Expires Today.

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Jan. 30.—Rather than accept the responsibility for sending Samuel Insull on a journey which might prove fatal, John Moundjourides, minister of interior, tonight said he plans to consult further the two government physicians who examined the fugitive Chicago utilities magnate yesterday, for fresh assurance that such a trip would not result in his death.

If necessary, Moundjourides said, he will ask the doctors to redraft their report so as to absolve him of all blame if Insull, in leaving Greece, dies en route.

Report Kept Secret.

The report submitted by the two physicians as to Insull's ability to travel was a closely guarded secret, so far as the text is concerned, today. Although various government officials asked for a copy, their requests were consistently refused.

There is no doubt, however, that the report stated that Insull was able to travel if under medical care, and that his chief ailment is a weak heart which may trouble him the rest of his life. The report is also understood to imply that he might live for another 20 years.

Final Decision Today.

Moundjourides examined the report this afternoon with Premier Tsaldaris. After he has seen the two doctors tomorrow, he will again discuss the case with Tsaldaris. A decision is expected tomorrow when Insull's residence permit expires.

Despite rumors of a ten day stay, assurance was given in government circles tonight that if the doctors' report says he is able to travel, Insull will be compelled to leave tomorrow, even if the time allowance provides only a few hours for him to get out of Greece.

Sounded Out Austria.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Jan. 30.—Samuel Insull sent one of his agents here to investigate Austria as a place of refuge, and offered Austrian lawyers some of the profits which the Greeks have been getting, it was revealed today.

Insull's agent in this case was an American citizen and resident of Athens, well known at the American legation. It is said he also tried to arrange with other Balkan countries to harbor Insull.

ROBBERS LOOT POLICE STATION NEAR DETROIT AND KNOCK OUT CHIEF

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Officers throughout the Detroit area tonight searched for a gang of robbers who raided the police station of suburban Bloomfield Hills today, knocked Fire Chief Russell Moore unconscious and took an undetermined amount of money from the safe.

Chief Moore, substituting for Police Chief William Putnam on the latter's day off, was found lying face downward on a pile of burning waste paper.

Physicians said he apparently had suffered a skull fracture. The waste paper evidently caught fire from his cigaret.

No one saw the robbers enter or leave the building and Chief Moore was unable to submit to questioning.

Japan Frees Assassin Who Stabbed Premier to Death

SENDAI, Japan, Jan. 31.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—Konichi Nakaoka, who assassinated Premier Kei Hara in 1921, was freed from the Sendai prison today. His 20 year term was twice shortened by amnesties. Premier Hara was stabbed to death on Nov. 4, 1921, in the Tokio railway station. Nakaoka was a young railway worker whose mind had been inflamed by bitter attacks against Hara in the newspapers.

CUBA TO SET UP AN NRA AND RFC; ASKS U. S. ADVICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 30.—Dr. Joaquin Martinez Saenz, secretary of the treasury, revealed tonight that President Carlos Mendieta had requested him to ask President Roosevelt for information on the organization and operation of the NRA and the RFC.

Martinez Saenz said it is intended to establish similar institutions in Cuba to speed economic recovery in the island. It is also planned to ask President Roosevelt's coöperation to the extent of naming a body of American experts to aid Cuban economists in adopting the American recovery program.

Martinez Seanz plans to go to Washington in February to negotiate a $25,000,000 loan for emergency purposes.

44 FIGHT FOR LIFE AS ANTARCTIC ICE FRONT CRUMBLES

Cut Off from Byrd Flagship; Battle to Save Stores

BAY OF WHALES, Antarctica, Jan. 30.—(AP)—[Via Mackay Radio.]—Forty-four men marooned at Pressure camp and cut off from the flagship of Admiral Byrd's Antarctic expedition, battled today for their lives and the expedition's supplies against crumbling ice and howling winds.

The ice front of this bay, where Admiral Byrd is trying to land stores for the winter camp, appeared to be collapsing, with wide crevasses yawning in the entire barrier.

A crack opened this afternoon behind the halfway relay depot a mile and a half from Pressure camp, a temporary unloading base four miles from the water.

Fear Destruction of Stores.

Fear was expressed by the leader that the outpost and its tons of stores cached there for transport to the permanent base at Little America, might be lost in the relentless ice movement.

In the broken and pitted pressure ridge and crevasses west of Little America the isolated men struggled with dog teams to save the provisions. Since Wednesday the edge of the ice has moved a mile nearer the flagship and the process of dissolution appeared to be accelerating, rather than slowing down.

In the last day hundreds of cracks have opened up in the white flooring of the bay ice. The ship was hove to in the bay after cruising and drifting about, unable to find a mooring place, since early Saturday.

Hope for Mooring Fades.

This morning a section anchored to the ice foot of West Barrier, south of Chamberlin harbor, appeared to be holding and the flagship was headed in.

A motor sailer was put over the side and a shore party conducted a brief reconnaissance. Two hundred yards from the edge they crossed a minute crack, but when they returned twenty minutes later they found there a gap three feet across.

Thoroughly alarmed they dashed back to the ship. In half an hour a floe, a mile and a half long, moved into the ice flotilla drifting up the east side of the bay. The raised snow flooring was twelve feet above the water edge. This was noted particularly as an evidence of how swiftly the ice is moving.

Work Furiously.

At Pressure camp, the tents of which are visible from the bridge of the ship, the men worked furiously. Crews under Capt. Taylor, Pete Demass, and Harold June rushed sledges loaded with supplies through the pressure area onto the barrier overlooking Little America.

A second cache was established on the low-hanging west barrier a half mile from Pressure camp in the direction of Little America. More than 100 tons of stores have been transferred from Pressure camp, but much more remained.

Since Wednesday when the bay ice first threatened to overtake the camp only the dogs have rested. The men have fought toppling sledges and slewing ice columns almost ceaselessly. They have eaten only during brief pauses.

By wireless Admiral Byrd has kept in constant touch with his men. Operators have worked on hour schedules at the flagship, Little America, and Pressure camp.

The Bear of Oakland, the expedition's supply ship, was just three and a half days from the Bay of Whales at noon today and apparently was making a record run from Dunedin to the antarctic.

GEOGRAPHIC'S MEDAL GOES TO ANNE LINDBERGH

First Woman to Win Hubbard Award.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The Hubbard gold medal for outstanding geographic achievement was awarded by the National Geographic society today to Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh for her brilliant accomplishments as radio operator, aerial navigator and co-pilot.

She is the first woman to receive the medal. Col. Lindbergh received it previously. The presentation date will be fixed later.

Although several women have flown the North Atlantic, Mrs. Lindbergh is the only woman so to cross the South Atlantic. She is also the only woman to have crossed from America to Japan by air.

An Able Co-Pilot.

"The honor was conferred," Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the society, said, "for Mrs. Lindbergh's tireless and skilful work during the aerial circumnavigation of the Atlantic by Col. Lindbergh and her last summer and for her activities during their flight in 1931 from Washington to Tokio."

"Mrs. Lindbergh's achievements during the comprehensive survey trip with Col. Lindbergh," the society said, "were unique in several respects. She traveled more than 29,000 miles in 198 flying hours, not as a passenger but as a co-pilot.

"She had the sole responsibility throughout the trip for radio communications, and was commended by veteran wireless operators on both sides of the ocean.

Conspicuous as Navigator.

"Between radio messages, Mrs. Lindbergh found time to share the navigational duties of her husband, and again received plaudits for her skill and accuracy. A competent pilot, she also handled the controls of the high powered plane at times, to relieve Col. Lindbergh."

The Hubbard medal has gone to nine men, among them Robert E. Peary, Richard E. Byrd, Robert Bartlett, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, and Roy Chapman Andrews.

CRIMINAL ACTION IN 6 CWA GRAFT CASES ORDERED

[Copyright: 1934: By the Associated Press.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Criminal prosecutions in six cases involving complaints of graft in the Civil Works administration were ordered tonight by the division of investigation of the Public Works administration.

At the request of Harry L. Hopkins, civil works administrator, the division of the public works has taken over the task of investigating the list of complaints claiming labor preferences or graft in connection with civil works.

Of the six cases which the division instructed its local investigators to place in the hands of United States attorneys, three are in Kentucky, one in Maryland, one in Arkansas, and one in Indiana.

More Than 175 Complaints.

The division is investigating more than 175 complaints with regard to civil works in 45 states. When the civil works originally asked the public works unit to investigate the charges they embraced all states except Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont, and it was said tonight that there were still no complaints from those three states.

Officials of the division of investigation declined to discuss the nature of the charges in which prosecution will be pressed in Kentucky beyond saying they were "of a serious nature."

The case in Maryland involved the misuse of a Civil Works administration requisition for supplies, it being charged that the requisition was presented to a liquor dealer and liquor obtained with it.

New Material Cost Bureau.

Secretary Ickes, the public works administrator, said today there was a general tightening up within his own organization to prevent the padding of pay rolls and construction costs on projects financed from public works funds.

The secretary announced the organization of a new unit in the engineering division to be known as the cost of construction material authority to collect cost price data on materials in every state. The new unit will be headed by Arch W. Loney, assigned to the post from the public works division of investigation.

The data collected by the unit will be used by public works engineers in checking estimates in project applications and by the inspection division in approving requisitions for funds allocated to projects but not yet drawn from the treasury.

The money is being released by Ickes for projects only after careful scrutiny of the work in prospect and then only in small sums.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt, former wife of Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the President, was injured Sunday when she was thrown from her horse while riding on Long Island, it was learned today. Mrs. Roosevelt received a broken nose and bruises about the eyes. She was reported today as "doing nicely."

EX-PASTOR ASKS A PAROLE FROM JOLIET PRISON

Asserting that he had suffered a thousand deaths in prison, James R. Wilson, former Methodist Episcopal minister at Mendota, appeared yesterday before a committee of the state board of pardons and paroles in the old Joliet penitentiary and pleaded that he be released on parole. He is serving a sentence of 1 to 14 years for assault with intent to kill.

Wilson was sentenced in August, 1931, when found guilty of shooting the janitor of his church who threatened to publish a letter Wilson had written to a widow in his congregation. The letter had allegedly been written in apology for liberties Wilson had taken with the woman.

"I couldn't possibly be punished much more than I have already been," Wilson told the committee. "Certainly I have been made to suffer enough. I beg for an opportunity to rebuild my life and account for my past by doing good in the future. I have gained experience here that will fit me to help others in trouble."

The committee will report its findings and recommendations to the parole board when it meets in Springfield several weeks hence.

Chase Will Stay on Job; Dunham Co-operates.

Howard O. Hunter, field supervisor of the federal Civil Works administration, who is acting as temporary civil works administrator in Illinois pending the appointment of a new state CWA head, prevented the resignation yesterday of the administrative officials of the state organization.

The decision of the officials to remain at their posts after insisting on Monday that they would all quit was made at a meeting yesterday at which Hunter delivered two letters, one to Frank D. Chase, executive director of the state CWA, and the other to Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. Chase attended the meeting to insist on the acceptance of his resignation in protest against influences that caused the relief commission to resign recently, as state CWA administrator.

Has Confidence in Chase.

In a letter to Chase, Hunter said: "Following instructions from Harry L. Hopkins, national CWA administrator, I have temporarily assumed the civil works administration for Illinois until such time as another administrator shall be appointed. I do not desire to make any changes in the personnel at the heads of your various departments. I have confidence in these people and am satisfied with the conduct of their work.

"I will appreciate very much a statement from you as to the continuance in office of yourself and the heads of all the various departments working under you. I am assuring you of my confidence in your organization and of my desire to coöperate fully in the operation of the civil works organization in the state."

In his letter to Mr. Dunham, Hunter asked for the continued use of facilities of the relief commission, without which the Illinois CWA would be unable to function.

"The conduct," he said, "of the civil works program in Illinois under the direction of the county committees and the state officials at the heads of the various departments has met with my sincere approval, and I officially request that these county committees continue to serve as civil works administrators in the counties.

"I have confidence in the ability and integrity of the people who have been placed in charge of the various departments without exception, and feel that it is essential to an effective continuance of the civil works program in Illinois that the present organization continue to function."

All Agree to Remain.

Mr. Chase replied that he and his subordinates would remain on the job. Prof. W. C. Huntington, head of the department of engineering of the University of Illinois and head of the engineering advisory board which created the civil works administrative organization, also agreed to remain. Mr. Dunham agreed to continue to allow the CWA to use facilities of the commission.

These decisions were approved by Gov. Horner in a telegram he sent to Mr. Dunham late yesterday, in which he urged that the relief commission extend its aid to the fullest extent to the CWA.

GOLD BILL MADE LAW; PRESIDENT SIGNS MEASURE

Cut in Dollar Expected Today.

no change. The alteration has practically been made in advance, for the President's gold purchases here and abroad have already reduced the gold value of the dollar to about 60 cents.

While there may be little immediate effect upon Mr. John Public, there will be a decided effect before long if the President's hopes are achieved. His present move is taken in a campaign to raise prices, and if prices follow the promises of the professors advising Mr. Roosevelt within the next half year prices will have risen some 60 per cent.

From that point, according to the extraordinary powers vested in the President and Secretary Morgenthau, it is proposed to alter the gold valuation of the dollar, as it becomes necessary to maintain prices at a constant level.

Title to Gold Transferred.

The procedure being followed in transferring title in the gold from the reserve banks to the treasury started with the reserve board notifying Secretary Morgenthau exactly how much gold was in the possession of each of the 12 reserve banks.

General receipts for the various sums were issued this afternoon and Governor Black immediately directed each bank to earmark its gold as the property of the United States treasury.

Several days ago, when passage of the gold bill was shown to be certain, the bureau of printing and engraving commenced the printing of new "yellow-backed" currency which the treasury will issue to the reserve banks in exchange for the gold. These certificates will, when issued, take the place of the general receipts issued today.

The certificates will not bear a promise to pay in gold, as did the former "yellow backs," but will contain some phrase making them redeemable "according to law."

The amount of gold earmarked in from the federal reserve banks, as a result of the signing of the bill, is 3 billion 560 million dollars, reckoned on the old gold standard valuation. The treasury had in its own possession an additional 469 millions, making a total store of gold of 4 billion 29 million dollars.

If the gold content of the dollar is reduced by 40 per cent this amount of gold will then have a new valuation of 6 billion 715 million dollars, indicating the profit to the treasury of 2 billion 686 million dollars, or 66 2-3 per cent.

Two Billion Stabilization Fund.

Of this sum two billion dollars is to be set aside for manipulation by the secretary of the treasury in sustaining the valuation of the dollar fixed by the President in this country and abroad as well.

Negotiations are to be entered into with the British government immediately in the hopes of coming to a joint agreement for the stabilization of the dollar and the pound on a semi-permanent basis.

Secretary Morgenthau views these negotiations something in the nature of a poker game. He said yesterday he wanted as many chips on his side as the British, and he has them now, or almost as many chips.

The equalization fund of the Bank of England as last announced, was 385 million pounds, which, at the present rate of exchange, would be 1 billion 964 million dollars. However, there is a report that the British have made a profit of 102 million dollars in the operation of the fund, which would increase its present value to 2 billion 66 million dollars. But in juggling around billions, Uncle Sam probably will not be greatly bothered by being short a mere 66 millions in the table stake.

Little Gold Movement.

It was learned at the treasury that there will be no haste in removing the gold stores from the Federal Reserve banks. Most of the gold which was owned by the banks had already been stored in the mint at Washington and in other treasury mints around the country, much of it in the mint at San Francisco. The present valuation of gold actually in physical possession of the Federal Reserve banks is 811 million dollars.

The element of safety enters into the problem, for there is no disposition on the part of Secretary Morgenthau to risk a bandit raid on his gold, on the one hand, nor for calling out the army to protect a movement, on the other.

Transfers will be made quietly and gradually, it was declared.

Miss Perkins Urges Shorter Hours, More Pay for Miners

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Vigorously advocating shorter working hours as the only permanent solution of the nation's unemployment, Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, addressed the convention of the United Mine Workers of America here this afternoon.

Asserting business conditions generally appear to be greatly improved under NRA codes, Miss Perkins urged adequate wages to guarantee security to the workers and provision for more leisure time.

"Every man and woman in this country who is willing and able to work needs to be employed permanently and securely," Miss Perkins said. "I am convinced we cannot do this, we cannot maintain permanent and secure employment, except through a short work day and short work week."

Ban Communists from Union.

In the most fiery session the union today denounced communism and readopted sections of the constitution which bar members of the communist party from union membership.

International officials condemned the "false philosophy of communism," asserting the communism group had left its rôle as a political party and is sponsoring dual movements designed to disrupt and supersede the miners' union.

Coming to the front of the convention hall to speak for a proposed constitutional amendment to extend union membership to communists, John Sloan, Westville, Ill., delegate, was greeted with boos and jeers.

Sloan admitted under questioning by Lewis that he had belonged to the communist party.

Charges Secret Reports.

"Isn't it true that you had communications with the communist party under the name of Oscar Sump and that you sent them secret reports?" Lewis asked.

"I did not send them secret reports," Sloan replied. He said he resigned from the party when informed it was not in accord with union law.

Lewis explained that in a raid conducted in Franklin county, Illinois, communist records were seized revealing correspondence with an Oscar Sump.

"We preferred no charges because it is not the policy of our organization to pursue individuals," Lewis said.

Lewis said the communist party was undertaking to control the trade union movement and was behind the organization of the National Miners union, a dual movement against the United Mine Workers of America.

ROBINSON REPLIES TO G. O. P. VIEWS OF OGDEN MILLS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Senator J. T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], the administration spokesman, made a reply in the senate this afternoon to a speech deliverd yesterday in Topeka by Ogden Mills, secretary of the treasury in the Hoover cabinet. Mr. Mills, in his speech attacked the perpetration of the present regimentation of industry. Agriculture by government. He proposed resistance to the New Deal, though with concessions. He would retain a greater degree of government regulation of industry than hitherto, but would restore individual freedom and competition. He would revise downward the present tariff schedules.

Senator Robinson, in effect, replied by contrasting the Hoover policies with the Roosevelt program, denouncing the former as a failure and as lacking wholely in public support.

U. S. FARM ACT IS HELD ILLEGAL BY FEDERAL JUDGES

Assails Powers Given to Wallace.

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The agricultural adjustment act was declared unconstitutional today by Federal Judge Alexander Akerman at the conclusion of a two day hearing on injunction proceedings brought by a group of Florida citrus growers to prevent the state control committee from enforcing pro-ration orders. An injunction was issued to the Hillsborough Packing company and Lake Fern Groves, Inc.

"In the light of the constitution, which I read once each week, the act is so full of holes you could drive eight yoke of oxen through it," Judge Akerman said in an oral order from the bench. "I would be more than happy if I could avoid deciding the questions presented in this case, but if I did I'd be a coward. I can not allow public clamor to deter my ruling as I see the matter."

Calls It Unconstitutional.

Following a five hour attack on the validity of the agricultural act, the government merely made a motion to dismiss the suit on grounds that the court did not have jurisdiction because Secretary Wallace is in Washington. The court had indicated the government should present Wallace at the hearing.

Judge Akerman commented that the secretary of agriculture had "an army of men greater than George Washington." In the last few months this individual has come to assume more power than either Napoleon or Cæsar, the court declared, "and all without constitutional authority."

Officials in Capital Silent.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Jerome N. Frank, general counsel for the farm administration, and other officials refused to comment on the decision of Federal Judge Akerman in ruling the agricultural adjustment act unconstitutional.

FOUND DEAD; INQUIRY BEGUN.

Alfred Nelson, 55 years old, caretaker of a building at 914 West Grand avenue, was found dead yesterday on the front porch of the building. Bruises on his head caused police to start an investigation to determine whether he had been murdered.

BROWN LINKED TO $1,000,000 STOCK DEALS

Farley Grilled at Senate Air Mail Hearing.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Testimony that Walter F. Brown, former postmaster general, was a silent partner in a million dollar stock account with the late Joseph H. Bagley, agent for a company seeking government flooring orders, was given today to the senate air mail investigating committee.

The story of the account with G. M. P. Murphy & Co., was first related by Alfred W. Moran, an employé, who merely identified it as "B-50" and as having been operated in Bagley's name.

After Moran had described it as showing a loss of $1,439,741 at one time, L. B. Peters, Bagley's secretary, told the committee of Brown's participation, and added that Brown was in Bagley's office "frequently" in 1929 and 1930, during the life of the joint stock operations.

Sought U. S. Orders.

Bagley, Peters said, was vice president of the American Bank Note company, and during this time also was representing Bruce & Co., flooring manufacturers, seeking orders for material for government buildings. He also was agent for a manufacturer of a wood preservative used in shipbuilding, he said.

The disclosure of Brown's alleged stock market operations followed a sharp cross-examination of Postmaster General James A. Farley by Senator Austin [Rep., Vt.] about a trip to Texas in a plane owned by the Aviation corporation.

Farley said, "I'll never do it again."

The Democratic political chieftain said that the trip he and others, including postoffice officials, made to Texas last October had been to dedicate the Fort Worth postoffice, and, as such, "official business."

Tells of Texas Trip.

"Did your trip to Texas include the attending of horse racing at Arlington Downs?" Austin asked.

"Yes, it did."

Questioned as to the reception accorded him in Texas and "presents" given to him Farley said his party had been met by a fleet of planes at Fort Worth, but denied receiving any "presents."

"Everybody who goes there gets a Texas hat," he added. "They took our other ones away."

The $25 a month which the Democratic national committee had been paying until recently to R. L. Johns and James Maher, postoffice stenographers, who testified to the destruction of Brown's correspondence, was characterized by Farley as "supper money."

"These boys were working late for me," he explained.

Ald. Maurice Shay Named Mayor Pro Tem of Berwyn

The Berwyn city council last night elected Ald. Maurice Shay, representative of the 6th ward and chairman of its finance committee, mayor pro tem to succeed Mayor Frank Novotny, who was killed last Friday in an automobile accident near Pontiac. Mayor Shay lives at 1827 Scoville avenue in Berwyn. He will hold office until June. Nominations for a successor to serve out Mayor Novotny's term, ending in April, 1935, will be made at a primary on April 10, and the new mayor will be chosen at the time of the June judicial election.

Sen. La Follette Charges Morgan Fights Seaway

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Senator La Follette [Rad., Wis.] asserted in the senate today that the "house of Morgan and its allied interests are seeking to destroy this administration" and prevent ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty.

The same interests, he asserted, "are determined to prevent a public power development on the St. Lawrence river, like that at Muscle Shoals and Boulder dam."

A strong supporter of the treaty, La Follette also assailed what he called the "vicious propaganda" against it by public utility and other "special interests." He said official reports sent to the senate by President Roosevelt contradict all this and answer all arguments in minority reports of Senators Lewis [Dem., Ill.] and Wagner [Dem., N. Y.].

Says Power Chief Benefit.

He asserted the argument of Lewis that the power development had no place in the treaty and had been included "only because of the cunning of the negotiators" for the Dominion of Canada "belies the whole public record of Franklin D. Roosevelt as governor of New York and impeaches his good faith and intelligence as President of the United States."

La Follette maintained the "paramount issue" before the senate was not whether a seaway should be completed from the great lakes to the ocean with free navigation for American ships, but "whether 1,100,000 horsepower should be developed by a public agency to compete with the great private power and utility companies dominated by J. P. Morgan & Co."

Listing the principal competitor of the proposed St. Lawrence power project as the Niagara Hudson corporation, a Morgan concern, La Follette said Morgan & Co. likewise was the fiscal agent for the New York Central, the Michigan Central and other railroads running parallel to the seaway.

Mr. Lewis, La Follette added, has "only disclosed his own unfamiliarity with the subject matter of the treaty, and the narrow interests of the Chicago sanitary district from which he views this great project in the speech he has made here belittling the intelligence of the President."

Discusses Chicago Diversion.

On the Chicago diversion argument La Follette's attack was particularly vigorous.

"I submit this whole question of diversion is not merely an international issue between the United States and Canada, but an issue between the Chicago sanitary district and other states whose rights are equal to those of Illinois," he said.

"I assert it is an absurdity that the senate should be asked to disregard the rights of seven other states, with 38 ports on the great lakes and connecting channels, and sacrifice public power projects on the St. Lawrence in order to permit one state, with one port, to withdraw water from Lake Michigan which the highest engineering authority in the United States declares is wholly unnecessary for navigation purposes on the Illinois and Mississippi rivers.

"It is a preposterous proposition that senators from that single state should set themselves up as guardians of the sovereignty of Lake Michigan and that they should perform the guardianship by seeking, on behalf of one port among all the states bordering on the grate lakes system, to divert and extract an excessive amount of water to the detriment of sister states and a friendly neighboring nation."

DIES OF AUTO INJURIES.

TO MOVE MAY 1ST YOU MUST GIVE 60 day NOTICE!

PLANNING TO MOVE this Spring? Then get out your lease now and read it carefully. If you want to move May 1, and your lease contains a 60-day clause, you must notify your landlord of your intention before March 1. If you fail to do so you may have to live in your present apartment another year.

NOW IS THE TIME to begin looking for an apartment. By doing so, you will have more time for careful comparisons of apartment values, avoid the uncertainty of last-minute selection, assure yourself of greater satisfaction.

THE CONVENIENT, time-saving way to look for an apartment is to read the apartments-to-rent want ad columns in the Tribune. Practically all worthwhile apartments at all rentals from $25 up, in almost all desirable neighborhoods, are advertised in the Tribune. Begin reading Tribune rental want ads today

Lines in your face come from jangled nerves

Jangled nerves can make you look older than you are. And that's bad news for any woman—or man either.

Look in the mirror today. See if you already have any of those telltale wrinkles that come from nervousness—and, if you have, do something about it.

For, remember, you can smoke as many Camels as you want. Their costlier tobaccos never jangle your nerves.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand of cigarettes!

TEST No. 15

Take a small rubber band—not more than two inches in length. Place one loop over your little finger . . . Then pull it across the back of your hand, well below your knuckles and catch the other loop on your thumb. When you are ready to perform the test, the band is in the position indicated in the drawing. Now, without touching your hand to your body, without help from the other hand, work off the rubber band. Average time is 10 seconds.

CELEBRATE NAZI BIRTHDAY WITH BOMBS IN AUSTRIA

Rumored Revolt Plot Fails to Develop.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Jan. 30.—Nazidom's celebration of the first anniversary of Chancellor Hitler's coming to power in Germany passed off today with Austrian independence still intact. If there was a plot to upset the Dollfus régime it flickered out.

Hitler's anniversary speech, feared as the spark that might set off the powder here, was fairly well messed up by the Austrian government's special blurring stations, which sent out signals on equal wave lengths.

The speech was heard nevertheless but its only effect seems to have been to set off a renewed series of stench bomb explosions. Students also staged demonstrations both in Vienna and the provinces by way of showing their sympathy for Hitler.

Dollfuss Organ Attacks Speech.

Government circles studied carefully Hitler's pronouncements, expecting to find in them some hint of what the German reply to the protest against interference in Austria would be.

The government organ Reichspost, commenting on Hitler's speech, said the chancellor deliberately avoided giving Austria a satisfactory answer.

"The sense of Hitler's speech," the paper says, "is that he is a past master at praising his own work. With surprising exactness he omitted to talk about the thing that interests us. This method may prove successful when he is talking to his own people in Germany but here across the border such a method of equivocation will prove harmful to him."

Casualties in Provinces.

In the provinces fusillades of exploding stench bombs and some casualties marked the Nazi birthday. At Bragentz Nazis threw tear gas bombs during a theater performance. A Heimwehr man not in uniform jumped out a window of the theater and a soldier who saw him thought he was the author of the bomb throwing and shot him dead. The incident is indicative of the tense situation in the provinces.

At Kufstein on the Bavarian border, a customs guard named Frantz Winkler has been missing for two days and today blood stains found in the snow led to the belief that he had been killed and thrown into the river.

What seems least sure about the whole situation tonight is whether the advance publicity has effectively forestalled any Nazi plot that was to have been pulled off today. The Nazis say it is postponed but not given up. It seems clear now that future maneuvers will be purely within the sphere of internal politics to avoid giving the impression that the inspiration of the movement comes from Germany.

France and Austria Sign Commercial Pact in Paris

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 30.—France and Austria signed a commercial accord here this morning. The details have not been divulged as yet, but it is safe to assume the agreement is more important from a political aspect than commercial. France, like Italy, which is reported ready to sign a trade treaty with Austria, desires as much as possible to make Austria economically independent of Germany.

SEEKING DIVORCE

IRENE BENTLEY.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Irene Bentley and her husband, George R. Kent, New York broker and socialite, are seeking a Mexican divorce, the film actress disclosed today, surprising many of her friends who did not know she was married.

"I'll confess," the brunette actress said, "we are getting a Mexican divorce. Mutual incompatibility is to be the grounds. We have both been in touch with our attorney and have requested him to file the necessary papers."

The couple married in New York City, where Kent is a director of an insurance concern, in April, 1929. They separated, Miss Bentley said, about eight months ago. Shortly after the separation the actress signed a contract with a film studio and came to Hollywood to start a film career.

AUTO THEFTS CUT 40 PER CENT BY COURT CAMPAIGN

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 22; recovered, 50; stripped, 8 (from police records for the twenty-four hours ending at midnight Monday).

Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Automobile court announced yesterday that the recently launched campaign against automobile thievery has already reduced thefts 40 per cent and has increased recoveries 10 per cent. His calculations were based on last January's figures, which showed the theft of 2,451 cars and the recovery of 2,322 in that month, as compared to the present month's showing of 1,516 automobiles stolen and 1,653 recovered.

"These figures are significant to the motoring public," said Judge Graber. "A reduction in car thefts and an increase in recoveries, if sustained, will mean lower theft insurance rates. Within sixty days at the present rate police recoveries of stolen cars should reach twice the number of those stolen each month. It is not too optimistic to hope that automobile thievery can be almost entirely wiped out under the new setup."

The Automobile court began functioning on Jan. 2 after police had pledged coöperation in curbing car thefts and had inaugurated a campaign against "fences." Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court instructed the January grand jury to pay special attention to car theft cases.

NAZIS REWARD HITLER; BECOMES RULER OF STATES

No Designs on Austria, Chancellor Insists.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—Nazi Germany glorified Adolf Hitler, its idol, today—the first anniversary of his ascension to power.

As a reward for the chancellor's stewardship his hand picked reichstag unanimously voted to reform the system of government of the republic. It presented him with the sovereignty rights of all states—some of which are more than 1,000 years old and had sworn never to relinquish their privileges.

Becomes Master of Germany.

The bill, as passed, consists of six paragraphs:

1. The national assembly of German states is abolished.
2. The sovereignty rights of the states are assumed by the reich and the state's governments become subordinate to Hitler's government.
3. The state governors are subordinated in office to the reich's ministry of the interior.
4. The reisch's government can create new constitutional law.
5. The reisch's minister of the interior promulgates immediately the ordinances to make this present law and its administrative regulations effective.
6. The law becomes effective at once.

Thus, Hitler became more than ever the master of the nation's 65,000,000 inhabitants.

Before receiving this anniversary gift, Hitler delivered a fervent address to a wildly cheering reichstag. He listed the so-called miracles he [illegible] for Germany. He told [illegible] that his country has no intention of robbing her of her independence. He sounded the death knell of monarchism. He again announced Germany's demand for equality "which no power in the world can prevent forever."

Ridicules Fears of Austria.

Referring to the warning of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria that "trouble was brewing on the Nazi front on or about Jan. 30," Hitler said:

"The allegation of the Austrian government that any attack by the reich is being undertaken or even planned against Austria must be rejected most sharply. To the German government's great regret, its relations with the Austrian government are not satisfactory.

"The fault is not ours. The assertion that Germany plans to violate Austria is absurd and incapable of proof. But it is only natural that an idea which has deeply stirred and permeated the German nation would not halt at the frontier posts of a country which for centuries was an integral part of the German empire.

"If the present Austrian government thinks it necessary to suppress this movement forcibly it is its own affair, but it will have to bear the consequences."

Then Hitler added this important sentence:

Tirade Against Monarchism.

In his tirade against monarchism the chancellor said:

"I protest against the assertions cropping up recently that Germany could be happier under its hereditary monarchs and princes. Some dynasties may have a few constructive pages in their history, but one should think only of the harm they did to the German people. The question of the final form which the state is to take is today outside all discussion.

"The present and future head of the nation is chosen by the German people and is responsible solely to them. I myself am deputized by the nation to enforce reforms and prepare the final constitution."

For an hour Hitler reviled his predecessors and democracy in general as "too cowardly to assume responsibility without placing part of it on the people."

Hitler devoted the second half of his speech to his foreign policy.

"As honest adherents to a real policy of reconciliation, we believe we would contribute most to real peace by insisting upon the restitution of Germany's honor and equality," he declared. "By fighting for equality Germany desired also to contribute toward improving world economic relations.

Hitler Calls for Peace.

"Germany desires peace with all nations, but we have noted with pain that the differences between our political conception and that of other peoples led to heaping upon the German people many unjustified reproaches and to meeting them with distrust.

"We hold that it is each people's business to determine its own domestic life."

At this point he sent a warning to Russia by declaring that communist propaganda must be suppressed in Germany.

"France," Hitler continued in a tone of regret, "does not yet see the wisdom of Germany's proposal for an agreement as substitute for a plebiscite."

(Inhabitants of the Saar basin territory will next year determine whether the area will become French, German, or remain under the control of the league of nations.)

"No other territorial differences exist between France and Germany," Hitler continued. "This promises well for the future. Germany does not want to threaten French security."

Hitler then pointed with pride to the recently signed pact of friendship and non-aggression between Poland and Germany. He also stressed the reich's cordial relations with Italy.

MAE MURRAY LISTS DEBTS OF $228,196 IN BANKRUPTCY CASE

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Liabilities totaling $228,196 were listed in federal court bankruptcy proceedings today by Mae Murray Mdivani, actress and former wife of Prince David Mdivani. Her assets, she said, are $324,500. Included among Miss Murray's debts are secured claims amounting to $109,740, and unsecured claims amounting to $117,728. Her assets are stated to include real estate valued at $232,000, personal property and jewelry worth $42,000 and unliquidating claims totaling $50,000. She listed exempt property valued at $500, including household furniture and fixtures.

M'CAHEY REVEALS PLANS TO BUILD 4 NEW SCHOOLS

Intend to Do Work with Federal Funds.

James B. McCahey, president of the school board, disclosed yesterday that plans were being pushed for the building of two high schools and two elementary schools this year with the aid of federal funds. The program was revealed when a delegation called upon him with a request that a new school be built at 42d street and Lake Park avenue.

This building was to have been the World's Fair school. Mr. McCahey assured the delegation that their school would be included in the program. Other new schools to be built with federal money, he said, will be the Verdi High school at 56th and Rockwell streets, a high school at Northcott and Hurlbut avenues in Norwood park, and the Leyden elementary school at Cornelia avenue and 74th court.

Tells Bad School Conditions.

Mrs. Hugh T. Martin, 3733 Lake Park avenue, president of the Central Shore Voters' league, who acted as spokesman for the delegation, told Mr. McCahey that children who were to go into the new World's Fair school had been housed in portable school buildings. She mentioned the bad conditions in these ramshackle schoolhouses and pointed out that several boys and girls had died of pneumonia.

"Last summer the school board went a long way toward correcting the housing situation," said McCahey. "An overbalanced school system was equalized and reorganized with the abolition of the junior high school type of instruction. More than 300 portables were abandoned in the plan."

Five New High Schools.

When the schools open next fall, McCahey said, an additional 150 portables will be eliminated through the operation of five new high schools. These buildings, now being completed with federal public works administration funds and school tax warrants, are Lane Technical, Steinmetz, Wells and Phillips High schools, and the Senn High school addition. More than 16,000 seats will be provided in congested areas. The Verdi High school, which is about 20 per cent completed, will relieve an overload of 2,000 pupils at the Lindblom High school.

GIRL HITCH HIKER GETS LIFT FROM ESCAPED CONVICT, TIPS POLICE

Amarillo, Tex., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Trapped by a girl hitch hiker whom he picked up in Oklahoma, W. H. Bybee, one of the Texas convicts freed from the Eastham state prison farm by Clyde Barrow Jan. 16, was arrested by Amarillo police early today.

The girl, Evelyn Clark, 22 years old, who said her home was in Los Angeles, sped away in Bybee's car while the convict was in a filling station after they had the machine serviced at Vega, 40 miles west of Amarillo. The convict hailed a truck to return to Amarillo and was captured as he neared the city, just a few minutes after the girl had turned the stolen car, with three guns and a quantity of ammunition, over to police here.

Bybee was sentenced to die for robbery with firearms at Paducah and to life imprisonment for murder at Breckenridge.

BANKS BUY TAX WARRANTS AND FINANCE RELIEF

Wilfred S. Reynolds, director of relief for the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, yesterday announced that a syndicate of Chicago banks had purchased $10,000,000 of state tax anticipation warrants based on a property levy to be made next year in the event a bond issue is disapproved at the November election. If the issue passes in the referendum the warrants will be retired and the bonds will be redeemed out of the counties' shares of the state gasoline tax over a period of 20 years.

The tax warrants, part of $30,000,000 authorized by the legislature, were sold by State Treasurer John C. Martin. The money acquired through their sale will finance the entire relief bill in Illinois during February and March. Relief expenditures during February are expected to amount to about $5,500,000, he said. Without the reduction in the rolls caused by the CWA, Illinois would spend $7,000,000 in February, he said.

Mr. Reynolds said that 200 additional employés of the relief commission, half clerical workers and half professional case workers, have been discharged effective Feb. 15 because of the reductions in the relief rolls caused by putting men into CWA jobs.

W. J. CUMMINGS' INCURSION INTO CAR MERGER TOLD

Syndicate Bid to Control System Rejected.

The story of how a syndicate headed by Walter J. Cummings made an unsuccessful effort to gain operating control of Chicago's unified surface and elevated lines, valued at $261,000,000, with a $1,000,000 investment was told yesterday in La Salle street.

Mr. Cummings resigned yesterday as head of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation and left Washington for Chicago. Tomorrow he will assume his duties as chairman of the board of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, a post to which his election was forced by the RFC after it had acquired a majority stock interest in the bank.

Mr. Cummings made his offer three months ago, it was learned, during negotiations for consolidation of the "L" and street car lines, and before the RFC started negotiations to get the Chicago bank post for him. Attorney Walter L. Fisher, who as an appointee of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson recently obtained agreement on the major details of a plan to merge the two transit systems and take them out of federal receivership, would not discuss the Cummings offer yesterday, but did not deny that it had been made.

Syndicate Conditions Told.

In return for its investment of $1,000,000 the Cummings syndicate, it was learned, set forth the following conditions regarding the consolidated and reorganized transit company:

1. That control of the company be invested for ten years in a voting trust of its common stock, controled by five trustees, "selected or approved by W. J. Cummings."

2. That Mr. Cummings be installed as chief executive of the new company, with his tenure guaranteed by the voting trust which, by the terms of the proposal, would "assure to W. J. Cummings the continuation of his management subject to the approval of the voting trustees"—selected by Mr. Cummings.

3. That the Cummings syndicate be given a bonus of 17 per cent of the common stock of the consolidated company, with a par value of $13,188,955.

4. That the new company should be able to issue and distribute securities "in a manner satisfactory to counsel selected by W. J. Cummings."

5. That all liens on the rapid transit ["L"] properties be cleaned up "in some way satisfactory to W. J. Cummings.

The last condition, it was said, caused the rapid transit interests, headed by D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair store, to reject the Cummings proposal. It would have relegated the "L" securities to a position in the reorganization plan inferior to that accorded them under the Fisher plan.

Bankers Behind Plan.

The Cummings plan was presented to Attorney Fisher by Robert O. Lord, a former vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, who presumably was acting for Mr. Cummings. The Harris bank financed Mr. Cummings' reorganization in recent years of the Chicago and West Towns Railway company, operating street cars in the western suburbs. A. W. Harris, chairman of the board of the bank, and Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, were said to have indicated their approval of the plan on behalf of the first mortgage bond holders of the street car companies, whom they represented in the consolidation negotiations.

In addition to the opposition of the "L" security holders, Mr. Cummings' connection with railway equipment companies was reported yesterday to have been one of the principal reasons for the rejection of his offer. The names of the other members of the offering syndicate were not disclosed, but one report was that they were some of his associates in the railway equipment business.

Mr. Cummings was president of the Cummings Car and Coach company, and vice president of the J. G. Brill company. The latter concern is controled indirectly by the American Car and Foundry company, which former Secretary of the Treasury Woodin headed before he entered the cabinet. All three companies manufacture street and elevated railway cars or other transit equipment.

Attorney Fisher continued his efforts yesterday to iron out details of his own consolidation plan. He conferred with spokesmen for various groups of junior security holders, who voiced a number of objections to his plan. He told them that he would welcome any constructive suggestions.

CUTTEN TO TAKE STAND AGAINST "GHOST WRITER"

Motion for Directed Verdict Denied.

After an unsuccessful effort to obtain a directed verdict of not guilty which would halt the suit brought by John R. Mauff, former secretary and vice president of the Chicago Board of Trade, against Arthur W. Cutten, grain and stock speculator, the latter's attorneys announced yesterday afternoon that Mr. Cutten will take the witness stand today in his own defense.

Mauff, who in testimony on Monday described himself as a propagandist and "ghost writer" for Cutten following the severance of his connections with the Board of Trade, is suing the wealthy broker for $50,000. The money, according to Mauff, represents pay for services which he rendered Cutten, but for which he received no pay.

Senators Are Mentioned.

Yesterday the names of a few United States senators and representatives were mentioned in the courtroom of Circuit Judge John Prystalski, where the evidence is being presented to a jury. But Mauff, who was the only witness for himself, spent most of the day describing the scene which took place when he learned from Cutten that he was not to be paid. During the afternoon he told of efforts made by Cutten to get him into a job with the federal farm board organization set up by President Roosevelt.

When Mauff was excused from the witness stand Attorney Thomas Condon, counsel for Mr. Cutten, who again appeared in court and remained throughout the day, asked Judge Prystalski to exclude the jury. This was done.

The atorney said a jury would never be able to fix any damages in the case, because the complainant had not shown that any damages had been suffered by him. Attorney Condon also said that any amount of damages fixed by the jury would be entirely conjecture and without basis of comparison for such services. He added that Cutten had made no promise to pay Mauff at any time and asserted that Mauff had not proved that such a promise had been made.

How Rules Were Changed.

Judge Prystalski overruled the motion and directed the defense lawyer to proceed with his side of the case.

During the morning, with Mauff on the witness stand, he was led by his lawyer, Morris Townley, to relate that he had been able to institute three important changes in the technical rules of the Board of Trade. He produced a sheaf of newspaper clippings and magazine articles which he said he had been able to get printed for Cutten.

Then Mauff said that "early in 1933" he had been in Cutten's office and had asked the speculator if he had "put me in the grain market." The speculator said he had not done so. Mauff then said he had reminded Cutten that there had been a promise to put him into the market in payment for his work. Mauff said that Cutten replied: "You are doing this work for the Chicago Board of Trade."

"No, Mr. Cutten," Mauff said, "I have been working for you."

"I paid you $25,000 in 1926 and 1927," said Cutten.

Tells of Former Salaries.

Mauff, after a colloquy between the attorneys and the judge, was allowed to tell the salaries he had received as secretary of the board of trade, as head of the paper board exchange, and while employed by three brokerage concerns. The salaries were respectively $17,000, $25,000, and $15,000 annually. No other evidence concerning the possible value of his services to Cutten was acceptable to the court, Judge Prystalski ruled.

Letters written to the late Alexander Legge when the latter was head of the Hoover farm board, and more recently to Henry Morganthau Jr., who at the time was an assistant secretary of the treasury, were placed in evidence. Correspondence between Mauff and several senators and representatives concerning a job under the secretary of agriculture was also identified.

"All these were attempts to get me inside where I might be more good than outside as a propagandist," Mauff explained.

The last witness of the day and the first for the defense was Boyden Sparkes, author of several articles about Cutten which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. Mauff had asserted that he gave Sparkes most of his material for the articles. Sparkes contradicted this, saying he had obtained his material from Cutten and from files of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

BIGGER CHANGES SEEN FOR MOTOR CARS OF FUTURE

Olds President Expects Rapid Advances.

BY HAL FOUST.

It takes a far stretch of the imagination to associate the horseless buggy of twenty-five years ago with the 1934 models on display at the National Automobile show in the Coliseum this week. But an even greater imagination would be required to picture the motor car of a quarter of a century hence.

"Developments of the future will be even more rapid than in the past," Charles L. McCuen, president of the Olds Motor works, remarked at the company's show headquarters in the Stevens hotel yesterday afternoon.

Many Engineers Busy.

"In 1909," he continued, "there were but a few dozen men, all with limited resources, working on the improvement of the gasoline buggy. Today the industry has thousands of highly trained engineers and the manufacturers are spending millions for research."

References were made to the possibility of vehicles receiving their power by wireless transmission rather than generating their own power, to the possibility of speeds comparable to the rates of today's airplanes, to the possibility of operating costs at only a fraction of the costs today.

Mr. McCuen smiled in the understanding manner that practical automobile engineers have in replying to notions of impractical inventors. Mr. McCuen was an engineer for fourteen years before he became president of the Oldsmobile company last October.

Changes Await Tastes.

"We can't make changes in this mass production business any faster than we can change the public's taste in motor cars," he said. "Also, we can't step up speeds much more until highways and streets are built to accommodate faster travel. The improvement in the cars has already advanced ahead of the improvement of traffic facilities.

"For the immediate future, within the next few years, it's reasonable to expect a higher compression engine to operate with greater fuel economy. Progress has already been made in this direction, but science is still trying to understand the characteristics of combustion so as to eliminate knocks at compression rates in excess of standard specifications."

Notes of the Automobile Show

Joseph W. Frazer, general sales manager, reported yesterday that the 1934 Airflow Chryslers, with radically new streamlines, are being received with favor throughout the country even in advance of production. "Orders on our books," he continued, "already call for 10,000 automobiles. This is 37 per cent as many units as we manufactured in the entire year in 1933. Not since September of 1928, the very peak of the boom, have we had 10,000 orders ahead at one time.

The Airflow De Sotos are also receiving friendly consideration in this resumption of automobile buying. Harry E. Mahaffey, Chicago district manager, said more demonstrations had been booked in the first three days of the 1934 show than during the entire exposition last year.

Hudson Motor company is conducting a business show at the Blackstone hotel this week. It consists of demonstrations of methods in automobile selling and servicing. It is being attended by large numbers of former dealers who retired during the depression and are now returning to the motor car business.

Half of the men and women who have signed for demonstrations in the 1934 Plymouths this week are owners of 1928 and 1929 automobiles, Walter R. Morse, regional manager for the Plymouth Motor corporation, compiled the data to support his theory that 1934 models are destined to replace large numbers of cars purchased during the boom.

Rufus S. Cole, vice president in charge of sales of the Hupp Motor Car corporation, reported yesterday that old time dealers are streaming into the company's exhibit at the Coliseum and into the company's headquarters at the Stevens hotel preparing to reënter the retail automobile business.

Joseph B. Graham, president of the Graham-Paige Motor corporation, in an address at a luncheon in the Palmer house yesterday, predicted that the company's entrance into the low price market this year will bring about a sharp increase in its sales volume.

F. R. Valpey, vice president, presided at the luncheon, which was attended by 300 dealers and distributors. Other speakers included A. I. Philp, vice president and general sales manager, and Louis A. Thoms, chief engineer.

Arthur J. Chanter, president of Pierce-Arrow, talked at the Stevens hotel yesterday noon before 150 distributors and dealers of the central west. Others on the program were Roy Faulkner, vice president; Thomas J. O'Rourke, general sales manager, and Alex Osborne, advertising counselor. Mr. Chanter's subject was the permanence of the fine car market.

"That reminds me—let's drop in at the Auto Show and see that Twin Ignition NASH for 1934 with Individually-Sprung Front Wheels."

Get going ~~fast~~ — DON'T CHOKE YOUR MONEY AWAY

2 to 20 times the normal amount of gasoline
IS POURING INTO YOUR ENGINE WHEN YOU DRIVE WITH CHOKE OUT
You are simply increasing the amount of gasoline your engine is burning when you pull out the choke—making the mixture richer. That's wasteful—costly—unnecessary! If you have to use the choke a lot, now, it's clear you need a faster-starting, faster warming-up motor fuel. Get it, and save money!

STANDARD'S 1934 WINTER GASOLINE

REDUCES AMOUNT OF FUEL USED IN STARTING, 30% TO 50%

Starts Cold Engines Faster... Catches hold almost immediately when you punch the starter—cuts down chance of flooded carburetor—saves costly grinding-down of battery.

Develops Full Driving Power Quickly... Holds that fast start—sends the power evenly into every cylinder from the very jump-off—lets you go into gear and away without waiting and with minimum use of choke.

Gives You More Miles For Your Money... No excessive waste of gasoline in starting—no burning of excess fuel to warm up the motor. That means practically all the gasoline you buy is converted into actual mileage.

IMPORTANT!

No gasoline—no matter how fast-starting it may be—can get you going properly if the wrong oil is dragging on your cold engine. Here's an oil that is specifically made to help things along in winter—doesn't get heavy and sticky in severe cold—always gives your engine free play:

STATE WINS NEW 'PLOT' EVIDENCE IN RACKET TRIAL

Judge Overrules Flood of Defense Objections.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

The state won an important point yesterday at the trial of eighteen defendants in the so-called racket conspiracy case.

Overruling a chorus of protests from defense lawyers, Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court, who is presiding at the trial, held that the prosecution might introduce testimony involving the defendants with 41 co-conspirators, listed by the state but not made defendants in the indictment. Thus the scope of the state's case was immeasurably broadened.

On demand of the defense, Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber submitted to the court the list of 41, by whose alleged illegal acts he expects to bind such defendants as Dr. Benjamin M. Squires of the University of Chicago, Ald. Oscar F. Nelson of the 46th ward, and Attorney Aaron Sapiro of New York, collective barraining expert.

Capone Cousin on List.

Included on the list were sundry labor officials and such gang worthies as Louis (The Louse) Clementi of the 42 gang, Philip Mangano, brother of "Dago Lawrence" Mangano, and Charles Fischetti, cousin of Al Capone. Capone is the principal gang defendant in the case, but the government refused to send him here from Atlanta penitentiary for trial.

Every effort was made by Defense Attorneys Floyd Thompson and Benedict J. Short to block admission of evidence concerning the 41. Responding with equal vehemence Prosecutor Raber admitted that if the court ruled against him the state's case would be seriously handicapped.

The issue arose just before noon when Mr. Raber called an independent tailor, Sam Miller, 819 East Pershing road, to the witness stand. Miller was expected to testify concerning a boycott alleged to have been imposed upon him by Aaron Maltz, business agent of the Retail Tailors' union, one of the 41 alleged conspirators not indicted.

Storm of Defense Objections.

Miller wasn't allowed to go very far. A storm of objections greeted his first mention of Maltz's name and both sides retired for the noon recess to provide themselves with citations. Attorney Short opened for the defense on resumption of court.

"We are treading on dangerous ground," he informed Judge Finnegan. "It is the rule of law that a conspiracy must first be established before conversations of defendant can be admitted. Prosecutor Raber, by the subterfuge of getting out lists of supposed co-conspirators, is attempting to get into evidence testimony that is far afield."

"In all my experience, I have never heard of such procedure," said Attorney Thompson, taking up the argument. "The state contends there is one conspiracy here when, in fact, there are four. Certainly the state will not attempt to prove that my client, Ald. Nelson, who advised the laundry drivers' union, had anything to do with the cleaners and dyers' case, involving Dr. Squires, or the beverage case, involving other defendants."

Illinois Vs. Common Law.

"In the English common law prior to 1606 fixing prices was an offense," Thompson conceded. "But the Illinois statute holds that the common law is binding in this state only where an explicit statute or the strength of public opinion rules otherwise. Certainly it is not illegal to fix prices in this country now.

"Mr. Raber has been introducing all sorts of uncorrelated evidence here and your honor has reserved a ruling on our objections because of Mr. Raber's promise to link it up later. But that is no protection to our clients."

Defending his position, Mr. Raber cited the celebrated case of People vs. Spies. Spies was one of the Haymarket anarchists, whose death sentence the Supreme court upheld, even though there was no proof of who threw the bomb that killed the policeman, for whose murder he was on trial. Raber also cited the case of People vs. Ryan, where the United States Appellate court upheld the conviction of a San Francisco agent of the Structural Iron Workers' union, whose agents had transported dynamite to scattered seats of labor strife throughout the United States.

Raber Outlines Testimony.

"The witness, Miller, will testify that Maltz sent a Negro boy into his store as a decoy to discover him cutting prices," Mr. Raber said. "The witness will say that Maltz came in right after the decoy left the store, accused Miller of cheating, then haled him before a cleaners and dyers' court, where he was fined $50. The witness will testify that when he pleaded inability to pay the fine, a wholesale cleaner withheld delivery of his goods for four days. I defy Mr. Thompson to say that's not criminal."

Without comment Judge Finnegan looked up the specific objection on which the oratorical flood was based, quietly ordered the jury brought in, and overruled the objection. Miller took the stand and related substantially the same story that Mr. Raber had outlined.

Youths Get 17 Years for Robbing Postal Station

Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone yesterday sentenced John L. O'Neill, 22 years old, and Leo Bindell, 19 years old, to 17 years in Leavenworth penitentiary for robbing a postal substation at 2457 West 63d street on Nov. 16. They held up Max Pomorantz, a clerk in the station, and took $235 worth of registered letters and $50 in stamps. When they were captured some time later they admitted 17 other holdups.

BY PARKE BROWN.

There was snappy action in both the Democratic and the Republican local camps yesterday. In each instance slate making was the cause of disturbance.

The Democratic organization, through County Chairman P. A. Nash, threw Emmett Whealan completely off its ticket. On Monday it had offered to slate him for a place on tax board of appeals as a substitute for the presidency of the county board which he now holds. He rejected a formal tender of the tax place and thereupon Nash announced that the offer was withdrawn and that the name of Edward J. Kaindl, the alternate selected by the advisory committee, had been substituted for Whealan's.

Whealan Stands Pat.

Whealan announced Monday night that regardless of the action of the Democratic county committee, which slated Clayton F. Smith for the post, he would run for the county board presidency. He adhered to that position. Nash called him on the telephone and asked for his final decision concerning the membership on the tax appeal board. A stormy conversation followed and Nash immediately announced the slating of Kaindl.

Kaindl represented the 34th ward in the city council for 14 years prior to 1931 when he ran for city treasurer, losing out in the election. In the council he served several terms as chairman of the committee on railway terminals. For almost three years he has been city collector by appointment of the late Mayor Cermak.

Soon after the slating of Kaindl, Sheriff William D. Meyering, left out in the cold by the county committee, said he would be a candidate for one of the two places on the tax board.

Crowe-Barrett Upset.

On the Republican slate there came a wide open split in the Crowe-Barrett forces which had been formulating its own ticket to run in opposition to the one selected by the majority of the regular county committee. This break was a result of the withdrawal of Arthur F. Albert, around whom the ticket had been started.

The break came at a meeting in the office of Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney. Albert sent word by Committeeman William V. Pacelli [20th] that he would not take a place on the ticket. That started the split. Several committeemen said they would not support the ticket minus Albert's name.

Then George F. Barrett announced that under the existing conditions he would not run for the county assessorship. Later he told newspapermen that the regulars had offered the west side fairer treatment than had been offered originally and that negotiations were under way. Before long a part of the group departed with Barrett while other remained to talk with Crowe.

Crowe Issues Statement.

Shortly thereafter Crowe issued a typewritten statement in which he said:

"Some ten days or two weeks ago 33 out of the 58 members of the Republican Cook county central committee revolted against the slating of George Nixon by the Weber-Moore-Harding faction for president of the county board. These committeemen asked me to join with them in an effort to nominate Arthur Albert for president of the county board. I agreed.

"Arthur Albert now tells me that the present boss of the Republican organization, who through his recently acquired evening newspaper has been attempting to muscle himself into control of both the Democratic and Republican parties in Chicago, has forbidden him to run and has forbidden Albert's friends on the Republican county central committee to support Albert in the primary.

"Albert and his friends tell me they must obey that command.

Recalls Deneen's Words.

"Charles S. Deneen, who has recently taken over a one-half interest in the present management of the Republican party, stated last spring that 'the present Republican Cook county central committee was not fit to run the affairs of the Republican party.' I now quite agree with him.

"It is now apparent to me that the only way to rid the Republican party of its present corrupt and inefficient leadership lies in an independent movement which, if started, I will gladly support."

Crowe said it was his understanding that Municipal Judge John H. Lyle still intends to run for county judge, that Patrick Sheridan Smith will run for sheriff, that William J. Balmer will run for clerk of the Criminal court. He also announced that William F. Galling will be a candidate for county clerk.

HUEY LONG POURS FORTH HIS WRATH IN SENATE PLEA

Asks Quiz on "Efforts to Defame Him."

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Unloading his wrath on all his opponents, at the head of whom he placed J. P. Morgan, Senator Huey Long today told the senate the politics practiced in Louisiana was no different from that of other states, and even of national commitees, and asked a senate investigation of efforts to "defame" 'and "libel" him.

Starting off with a vehement reply to the charges of corruption against Louisiana political machines leveled by the special senate committee that investigated the Overton primary, Long wound up by reading a "confidential" letter saying nothing wrong had been found in his income tax returns.

At the conclusion of his two and a half hour speech, punctuated by jokes, and laughter from the galleries, Chairman Connally [Tex.] of the investigating committee, and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the majority leader, said the committee had performed its duty despite many hindrances.

Connally Explains.

Connally said he would not have spoken had not Long referred to "unpleasant incidents' in connection with the committee's hearings in New Orleans.

Long had mentioned stories of Connally climbing a "fire escape" to get into the hearing room and the charges by John G. Holland, the committee investigator, that Connally was "yellow" for not showing up the first day of the hearings.

Connally said he had "denounced Holland publicly in the senate, and privately to his face, in unmeasured terms"; that Holland was a "treacherous, falsifying and disloyal employé," and that he had been discharged.

He added it was not a fire escape at all up which he and others climbed to avoid "mobs" in front of the building where the hearing was being held; that it was a "broad iron stairway" and the window through which he climbed opened into the hearing room, and not a woman's rest room.

Objects to Fund Stories.

Long said the investigating committee had found Overton, whom he backed for the senate, "as clean as the angel's ghost," but he objected to the criticism of the use of dummy candidates and collecting of campaign funds from state employés.

He contended the dummy candidate device was used in Iowa, Texas, Arkansas, and Mississippi and by the national parties in the last general election.

He asserted the electoral college was a "device used for fraud" to prevent candidates from running unless they were approved by the "bosses."

In a resolution, Long asked that a special committee of five senators be named to investigate who sent and how much money had been spent in sending information about him through the mails, over the radio and in the newspapers; whether it was libelous, and whether certain persons were not in contempt of the senate in praising Holland's denunciation of the Connally committee.

CITY AND SCHOOL BUDGETS FACE 26 MILLION DEFICITS

Citizens' Committee Asks Further Economies.

Deficits totaling $26,000,000 are facing officials of the city and board of education in the making of their 1934 budgets. This was disclosed yesterday by the citizens' committee on public expenditures in a lengthy analysis of the current debts, tax resources, and other assets of the two local governments.

The committee calculated the deficit of the school board at $16,999,999 and the city at $8,999,138. Suggestions for legislation to bring about tax rate adjustments for the two public bodies were made by the committee.

Economy Is Demanded.

These recommendations would be supported by the group, the statement set forth, upon two conditions. They were that the governments would continue to trim their financial sails in the storm of reduced resources and that no other tax rate adjustments for the major local municipalities in Cook county would be undertaken at this time.

The story of how the deficits came about is the same for both the city and school board. Extensive reductions in assessments, coming after expenses had been incurred, left the budgets of each government seriously out of balance for the last three years. The estimated deficits for these years are outlined in the table which follows:

1931	$3,154,356	$ 6,915,524
1932	3,390,225	8,252,421
1933	2,454,557	1,834,054
Totals	$8,999,138	$16,999,999

Schools' Savings Cited.

The condition exists even after considering 90 per cent of the estimated taxes as revenue, the committee declared.

The report directed attention to the accomplishment of the school board's economy program despite clamoring propaganda in opposition with the following statement:

"These items would not be so seriously unbalanced if the 1933 retrenchment program had been put into effect two years, or even one year, earlier. Except for the 1933 retrenchment program, the serious lack of balance would be much worse."

An absorption of the entire school board deficit during 1934, the committee said, is impossible "if there is to be some semblance of a school system upon the present basis during the year." A portion of the deficit must be absorbed, it was stated by further retrenchment, for any other course "would require tremendous and unjustifiable increases in 1933 and 1934 taxes."

Must Maintain Essentials.

Before launching into its recommendations the committee stated that its purpose was to see the essential services of government maintained, the limited credit of the governments protected, to have reasonably balanced budgets and to have these things accomplished without increasing total taxes for 1933 and 1934 above the 1932 level.

In connection with the city's budget problem the committee recommended that the 1933 and 1934 tax levies for all purposes other than bonds be approximately $46,575,442, with the levy for the corporate, or operating fund, $36,000,000. This total is in contrast to the 1932 aggregate of $45,900,466 with the corporate fund estimated at $33,348,800.

In its proposed setup the committee did not include a levy for the working cash fund in 1933 and 1934. This levy is estimated at $2,470,281 for 1932. The committee recommended that the levy be omitted for the two years.

Would Increase Taxes.

"If the working cash fund levies are made along with these suggested corporate fund levy adjustments," the committee explained, "the result will be a substantial increase in 1933 and 1934 city of Chicago taxes. Such a result cannot be justified."

The committee proposed that proper legislation be obtained to keep the corporate fund levy at $36,000,000 for each of the years.

The city officials, it was pointed out, have estimated that about $39,000,000 can be appropriated for 1934 corporate fund expenses as compared to 1933 of $47,700,000. More "conservative and reasonable" estimates would reduce the amount available to $36,000,000, the committee said.

The recommendations of the committee as a solution to the school board's budget problem would result in an increase in taxes above 1932 of approximately $5,300,000 for 1933 and $5,700,000 for 1934. The committee pointed out that the state levy had been eliminated because of the sales tax and the 1933 and 1934 total taxes would still be below the reduced level of total 1932 taxes.

Tax Adjustments Proposed.

The committee proposed tax rate adjustments for the school board in order to raise the resources for the educational fund and reduce them for the building fund. A specifix tax rate was not mentioned, but the proposed levies for the school funds were as follows:

	1933.	1934.
Educational	$44,000,000	$43,000,000
Building	2,441,569	3,500,000
Free text book	.....	400,000
Playground	608,300	608,300
Teachers' pension	988,112	988,112
Totals	$48,037,981	$48,496,412

The committee declared that until the peak in real estate tax delinquencies has been definitely passed, annual expenses should continue to be reduced if any progress toward solvency is to be made.

GET TOOTHBRUSH HE SWALLOWED, BUT HE CALLS IT WRONG ONE

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Uscher Schupack, a 55 year old clothing presser of Brooklyn, is recovering at home after an operation in the Jewish hospital, Brooklyn, to remove a toothbrush from his stomach.

About three weeks ago Mr. Schupack suffered an attack of hiccoughs while brushing his teeth and swallowed the brush. A week later, when pain became acute, he was taken to the hospital. There an operation was performed and the brush was removed.

When it was shown to Mr. Schupack, however, he insisted that it was not the brush he had swallowed. He was finally convinced it was, when the doctors explained that the acids of his body had caused the color to change.

ALDERMEN DALLY WITH IDEAS FOR RAISING REVENUE

A Plan to Tax Handbooks Wins Supporters.

Two hours of studying revenue sources yesterday convinced members of the city council committee on finance that they could raise the estimate of City Controller Upham on miscellaneous receipts to $16,932,000, an increase of $700,000. Their survey was a preliminary to the building of the 1934 city corporate budget.

The controller has sent a budget to the committee calling for the expenditure of $43,764,871, which is $4,118,324 below the 1933 budget total. But a reduction in personal property valuations by the board of tax appeals has given the aldermen the task of either cutting $4,000,000 below the controller's tentative figure or unearthing new sources of revenue.

The finance committee therefore decided to raise Municipal court fees in accordance with a recommendation of the judges, which would raise miscellaneous receipts by $300,000. The aldermen also estimated there would be an increase of $400,000 in general license fees, and this, with the $300,000, gave them their $700,000 total.

A New Revenue Idea.

Then they dallied with the idea of bringing in new revenue by licensing race handbooks.

"The gentlemen who are advocating special sessions of the legislature for the purpose of getting more revenue have overlooked one source, that of licensing and regulating handbooks and similar activities," said Ald. John A. Massen [48th].

"That's right," chimed in Ald. James B. Bowler [25th]. "There are 2,250 places that pay $50 a week for a racing service; the race tracks pay to the state $2,500 a day while open, and I see no more harm in making a book under the supervision of the police than in making bets at a race track."

There were more comments in which information developed that a subcommittee of the council committee on consolidation, reorganization and taxation, which is looking into the city's revenue complexities, is investigating reports that in other states handbooks and other forms of gambling are taxed.

Sonsteby Urges Fee Increase.

The increase in the Municipal court fees, which can be accomplished by a vote of two-thirds of the judges and two-thirds of the council, was advocated by Chief Justice Sonsteby last February. In a recent appearance before the finance committee the chief justice declared that the scale of court costs is too low, and that in justice to the taxpayers there should be a substantial increase.

The proposed schedule would increase the fees for filing and service for all suits between 30 and 50 per cent. Filing fees that now run from $2 to $8 would be increased to minimum amounts of $3 to $12. A full jury of 12 men would cost $20 instead of $12. The bailiff would receive a percentage of damages or claims collected, and a $1 fee would be collected for examination of title of all real estate filed with the clerk of the court.

The Chicago branch of the Commercial Law league has opposed the proposed new schedule of fees.

Sentenced to 3 Months for Obscene Literature

Municipal Judge J. William Brooks yesterday denied probation to Harry Gold, 41 years old, owner of a book store at 1806 South Kedzie avenue, and sentenced him to three months in the county jail for possession and sale of obscene literature. However, a stay of mittimus until Feb. 9 was granted to permit the defendant to appeal. Gold was arrested two weeks ago on the complaint of Jack Brown, investigator for the Illinois Vigilance association, who said he had purchased two pieces of obscene literature at the store.

LOEBS SETTLE ALIENATION SUIT OUT OF COURT

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—A settlement out of court in the suit of Elizabeth V. Loeb against the parents of her divorced husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Loeb, for the alienation of her husband's affections was announced at Mineola today.

Loeb is chairman of the board of the American Smelting and Refining company and was secretary to the late President Theodore Roosevelt. His son is William Loeb Jr.

The suit was brought for $100,000, but C. Walter Randall, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Loeb, stated that "the settlement was for not over $5,000."

Elizabeth Loeb, a former Smith college teacher, married young Loeb in 1926 when he was a junior at Williams college. She and her husband were divorced last April. She is eight years Loeb's senior.

"THANKS TO GAS HEAT I'M THROUGH WITH FURNACE WORRIES FOR LIFE!"

Henry T. Spivey tells his own story—how gas heat has been a blessing to himself and his mother and daughter, in their home at 7327 Stewart Avenue

"I don't know how we got along in those days when we had to fire the furnace"

WHAT does a conductor on the Chicago Surface Lines do about his furnace—when he's out all day, and many nights as well?

"I actually don't know how we got along in those days when we had to fire the furnace," says Mr. Spivey. "It certainly is a blessing for my mother. All we do now is set that little thermostat on the wall and the house stays just at the temperature we want it, night and day."

LOW COST GAS HEATING RATES ATTRACT THOUSANDS

With rates for gas heat now one-half of what they were in 1930-31, thousands of Chicago home owners are switching to this sootless, dustless automatic way of heating their homes. With gas heat, their furnace worries are gone! No longer do they shovel coal, chop kindling, sift and haul dirty ashes. Their walls and draperies stay clean much longer. And every hour, day and night, their houses are kept at the correct temperature—automatically.

YOU INVEST NOTHING!

You can have gas heat without one cent of investment for equipment! Here's our offer. We will install a burner in your furnace at our own expense. You pay only the rental on the equipment, which amounts to $3 a month in the average home. You try it for a month, two months, a year. And if within the year you find that you are not completely satisfied with gas, we will take it out at our expense and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. But—if you decide to keep gas heat—as we think you will—the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment.

MAIL COUPON TODAY

Don't delay! Think what gas heat will mean in greater comfort, better health and convenience for the entire family. With rates for heating with gas so low, it is pure folly not to investigate this liberal offer. Mail the coupon, and we will send a representative to make a free estimate on the cost of heating your home with gas. You will be under no obligation whatsoever.

Above—Instead of worrying about the furnace, Mr. Spivey now leaves his home in the morning with perfect assurance that it will be warm and safe and comfortable all day.

The Spivey home, at 7327 Stewart Avenue—only one of more than 20,000 homes in the Chicago area now enjoying the comforts of low cost gas heat. "One of the finest things about gas heat," says Grandmother Lorance, "is that it's absolutely clean. It seems like we scarcely ever have to wash the curtains any more."

"Now I know why so many people are raving about gas heat," says Mr. Spivey. Instead of poking fires and hauling out ashes, he now enjoys leisure hours in a house that is always warm and comfortable. "I actually don't know how we got along in those days when we had to fire the furnace," he says. His daughter Hope is also enthusiastic.

What Others Say About the New Low Cost Gas Heat

Gas Is a Servant in the Home and a Factory Hand Too

Gas does more than heat houses, cook, heat water and furnish automatic refrigeration for the home.

It is working in factories, large and small, the country over. No heating job is too delicate and exacting for gas in industry; no heating job is too big.

Gas puts the iridium tip on your fountain pen, helps solder your jewelry or glasses, and heat-treats the tiny steel wheels in your watch. In a single industry—making automobiles—gas is used to dry varnishes, heat plating vats, cast plates for batteries, temper springs, harden bearings and piston pins, braze radiators and forge bumpers. It roasts vast quantities of coffee, bakes ice cream cones, smokes hams and bacons and toasts cereals.

Hundreds of the things you buy and use from day to day have been improved in quality or made more economical by the part gas plays in their manufacture.

A TRUE STORY
By A MOTHER
who takes care of her home, and works four nights a week, too

YOU'VE got to hand it to the American woman! What she has done to keep her family together through this depression will perhaps never be properly appreciated.

Here's a letter from Mrs. Edmund F. Jones, 2721 West Meinecke Avenue, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Let her tell her own story.

"These days I certainly have to be mighty careful of my health, because besides doing all my own washing, ironing, cooking, and cleaning for a family of four, including two children, I help earn the family living, too, so I am employed four nights a week.

"I have been using Nujol for nearly ten years, and I still find it to be the one and only remedy for family use. In fact it makes other remedies unnecessary, because its use seems to banish common ailments. When you take Nujol regularly you never seem to have that tired, run-down feeling! Is it because it gets rid of all the sluggish body poisons?

"This picture I am sending you is of Patricia, who is five, and Bobby, who is two, but it doesn't really do them justice. I wish you could see their sparkling eyes, healthy, clear color, and see how full of pep they are. Both children take Nujol regularly. Patsy Ann has thrived on it more than four years, and Bobby ever since he was six months old.

"Once before I wrote you a letter about Nujol which you published, and people wrote me about it from California, Kansas, Canada, and all over the country. They wanted to be sure what I said was true; they wanted to be convinced by me before they tried Nujol. Well, I guess they are all on Nujol now!"

Nothing we could add to Mrs. Jones' letter would make it any more convincing. Follow her example. See what Nujol will do for you—bring your children up on it and make them regular as clockwork. Get it at any drug store, now in two forms, plain Nujol and Cream of Nujol, the latter flavored and often preferred by children.

What is your Nujol story? If you have been using Nujol for ten years or more, if you are bringing up your children on it, tell us. Address Stanco Incorporated, 2 Park Avenue, New York City.

AAA PREPARES TO ENFORCE NEW MILK PACT HERE

Plans to License Farmers of Chicago Area.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The federal government has reached an agreement with dairy farmers' representatives of the Chicago milk shed whereby the agricultural adjustment administration is to re-establish a marketing agreement with the Pure Milk association composed of 18,000 dairy farmers and proceed at once to license all milk distributors in Chicago and suburbs.

This information was made public yesterday in Chicago after telephone conversations between C. V. Gregory, editor of the Prairie Farmer, and Chester C. Davis, farm administrator of the AAA in Washington. Gregory served on the recent arbitration committee of three formed by Mayor Kelly to settle the farmers' milk strike early this month.

To Enforce Farm Price.

The AAA has agreed to enforce a farm price of $1.75 a hundred pounds [3.76 cents a quart] for all milk sold in fluid form and $1.25 [2.7 cents a quart] for all milk from which cream is to be extracted. Such milk is to test 3.5 per cent butterfat and there will be premiums for all richer milk and deductions for thinner milk. The same price schedule is to be required of every one purchasing milk for consumption in Chicago and nearby areas, it was reported.

The so-called blended price which will be paid to farmers for the total amount of milk sold in the milk and cream classes under the proposed new AAA license is $1.62 a hundred pounds [3.48 cents a quart] which is within 2 cents a hundredweight of the blended price fixed by Mayor Kelly's arbitration board. The arbitrators, in their award, set a price of $1.85 a hundred pounds [4 cents a quart] for fluid milk and $1.07½ [2.3 cents a quart] for milk from which cream is to be extracted.

The new price schedule, if approved by the membership or advisory board of the Pure Milk association, whose members produce more than 75 per cent of the metropolitan milk and cream supply, is to become effective on Feb. 1. The PMA directors are expected to meet today to discuss the proposal, which it is understood is satisfactory to D. N. Geyer, manager of the PMA, and three directors who were appointed last week to confer with the officials of the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

Blanket License Expected.

It was understood that the AAA planned to issue a new blanket license covering all buyers of milk and cream in the Chicago milk shed as a means of enforcing the new price schedule. This license is expected to contain a provision that every milk distributor shall be required to post a bond by Feb. 15 to insure his paying the farmers the new fixed prices. No stipulation as to retail prices of milk and cream is contemplated by the AAA.

The new trade agreement is now being drafted in Washington. The PMA committee hopes to bring it to Chicago by tomorrow, so that it may be approved by the association, it is understood. No approval of its terms by distributors is contemplated before it is signed and made effective by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Plan Use of Injunction.

"Rigorous enforcement" of the new license is said to have been promised by the AAA, with the use of federal injunctions to curb violators or to prevent them from continuing in business. The use of this legal means, by which violators of the recent prohibition law were punished, is said to have been held by legal counsel for the AAA to be possible under an interpretation of the farm adjustment act.

The new step taken yesterday by the AAA marks a new effort at regulation of the turbulent Chicago milk industry, following the collapse of former attempts at intervals since last May. The trade agreement between organized milk companies, the Pure Milk association, and the AAA was abrogated on Jan. 1 by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

DIES SUDDENLY AT WORK.

Samuel Marsh, 58 years old, 10047 Wallace street, a CWA painter, dropped dead of a heart attack yesterday while at work painting in the Walter Stock Grade school at 64th street and Blackstone avenue.

QUAKE IN NEVADA DAMAGES BUILDING; FELT IN CALIFORNIA

Mina, Nev., Jan. 30.—(AP)—A severe earthquake damaged a dozen buildings here today. The shocks were felt over a wide area, extending from Salt Lake City through Nevada and into northern California.

Thirty shocks of decreasing intensity were felt within an hour after the major quake. They were continuing at intervals of every few minutes.

Schools immediately were dismissed and children were kept outdoors. No injuries had been reported.

At Salt Lake City occupants of several tall buildings reported they felt the quake, but without damage.

Buildings swayed at Sacramento, Cal., and chandeliers in the state capitol swung for several minutes after the shock.

UNUSUAL TYPE OF BACILLUS FOUND IN TRAYLOR CASE

Rare Germ Discovered as He Improves.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, who has been stricken with pneumonia for more than two weeks, has a rare type of the ailment caused by Friedlander's bacillus, his physicians announced last evening.

At the same time, however, they gave out an encouraging report on his condition, stating that he had shown progress throughout the day and apparently was growing stronger. Their statement was one of the most optimistic since the latest of Mr. Traylor's relapses, which occurred early Monday.

Find Unusual Germ.

Dr. William R. Cubbins, spokesman for the group of physicians in charge of the case, said that a laboratory examination showed the Friedlander's bacilli present in a specimen obtained from Mr. Traylor's lungs.

"The type of pneumonia caused by this bacillus," Dr. Cubbins said, "is a very unusual one, carries a high mortality rate, and usually terminates early in a fatal manner. The mortality is as high as 80 per cent, but usually in the early stages of the disease.

"Although it was one of the first forms of pneumonia discovered, not much has been added to our knowledge of it since that discovery. The disease of this bacillus was encountered frequently among the young men in the armies of all the nations in the world war, often complicated by the presence of other infections.

Easily Becomes Peril.

"The usual habitat of the bacillus is in the mouth. Probably it is present in the mouths of 90 to 95 per cent of normally healthy persons. But it is a bacillus easily changed from a relatively innocuous stage to one carrying a maximum danger. It acts like a well trained house dog which suddenly goes mad."

Discovery of the bacillus accounted for obstructions which were observed in Mr. Traylor's bronchial tubes, that being a characteristic of that form of infection, Dr. Cubbins said. Mr. Traylor also suffered periods of irrationality yesterday.

Dr. Cubbins said that the discovery of the form of pneumonia from which he is suffering had relatively little effect on the treatment of the case. The same treatment followed from the beginning of the illness would have been followed had the physicians known that Friedlander's bacillus was present, he said.

U. S.-CANADIAN DEAL ON TRADE HIT BY BENNETT

Liberals Attack Premier for Failing to Act.

BY GEORGE SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 30.—Canadian-American trade reciprocity, as mooted a year ago, is still in a state of "exploration" by the two governments, Premier Richard B. Bennett intimated to the house of commons today.

The statement was so discouraging to Canadian parliamentary proponents of a trade pact between Canada and the United States that they shouted interruptions and injunctions at the premier. Mr. Bennett said that the joint reciprocity statement made by himself and President Roosevelt, issued last April, was still applicable. That statement said the two governments were exploring the situation.

Challenge to Liberal Leader.

Referring to the criticism directed against him yesterday by Mackenzie King, the Liberal leader, for failure to bring a trade agreement before the Canadian public, Bennett today challenged King to demonstrate that the American government was anxious for such an agreement.

"If the mountain will not come to Mahomet," shouted William Duff, member of the house from Nova Scotia, "why does not Mahomet go to the mountain?"

"Reciprocity," Bennett said, "might be a very difficult thing to accomplish in any country under the present disturbed conditions of the world."

Bennett Compares Prices.

Western Canadian Liberals also sat up to take an interest in the reciprocity discussion and interjected suggestions.

Bennett then quoted hog, cattle, butter, and egg prices at Canadian and American points to show that in each of these instances Canadian prices are considerably higher than American.

"Is that the kind of reciprocity the Liberals want?" he demanded. "If it is, then go and tell the farmers that."

Explains His Idea of Pact.

"The only form of treaty that can be satisfactory," Bennett said, "is one which is fair and just to both countries—one that offers opportunity to the products of one country in the markets of another under fair conditions."

"That is what we want," Vallance interrupted.

"If any other agreement is in the minds of those who have been speaking in this house I can say there will be no agreement," Bennett concluded.

Duff will present a formal motion for reciprocity between the United States and Canada later in the session.

Greenfield, Ind., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Thirty-three years ago Ivory Duffenbaugh laughed and sucked a needle into his lung. Now Dr. Charles M. Gibbs has removed the needle from Deffenbaugh's left arm, where it had formed a swelling beneath the skin. The needle had passed through the left lung and other vital organs in its journey of thirty-three years.

HARVARD MAT CHAMP ON TRIAL AS STOCK EXCHANGE GAS BOMBER

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—A jury that solemnly protested it had "no prejudice against Harvard men or lawyers" began sitting today in the trial of Eugene S. Daniell Jr., the 28 year old Harvard wrestling champion and 1932 presidential candidate [325 votes, all in Boston]. He is charged with planting two tear gas bombs in the ventilating system of the stock exchange on Aug. 4, last.

Daniell is being tried for assault in the second degree and malicious injury to property—Edward J. Mitchell, the superintendent of the building, asserting that he suffered "grievous bodily harm" from the lachrymal gas that routed the 2,000 traders and employés. The draperies of the exchange are said to have been damaged to the extent of about $300 by the gas.

The gas bombs, iron bottles looking a good deal like elongated hand grenades, were found against the screen of the ventilator. Through serial numbers they were traced to a sporting goods store in Boston and a clerk was said to have identified Daniell as the man who bought them for $12 apiece.

SOVIET BALLOON LOST AFTER TRIP TO STRATOSPHERE

MOSCOW, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A new world's altitude record was claimed today by Russian civil balloonists, but lack of reports as to their whereabouts after their surprise flight caused some alarm tonight in official circles.

The craft reached a height of 20,600 meters [67,585 feet], the crew reported in a message received at 11:59 a. m. Moscow time [3:29 a. m., C. S. T.].

Looked for Near Moscow.

The last word received direct from the balloon, which made its secret ascent as "a present to the seventeenth communist party congress," said it was seeking a landing place near Colomna, 75 miles from Moscow, where the Red army's stratostat U. S. S. R. balloon landed last September after claimed attainment of a height of 19,000 meters [62,304 feet].

[Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle of the United States set the present recognized stratosphere flight record Nov. 20 when he and Maj. Chester L. Fordney reached a height of 61,237 feet. The record previously had been held by Prof. Auguste Piccard at 53,153 feet. The Soviet Union is not represented in the International Federation Aeronautique, which approved the Settle mark, and hence the Russian flights can not be considered for the record.]

Correspondents who motored laboriously over snow-covered roads to Colomna with soviet aviation officials were unable to find any trace of the bag.

The craft, known as the "Osoaviakhim," was manned by Pavil Fedoseinko, Andrey Yasenko, and Ilya Uysyskin.

Visibility Reported Poor.

They reported when they reached their limit that the outside temperature was between 33 and 49 degrees Fahrenheit below zero, and about 20 below inside.

The message "all is well" was followed by later information that visibility was so poor the crew could not determine their exact position. Airplanes were sent from Moscow to help the trio locate themselves.

The start was made at 3:40 a. m. Moscow time [12:10 a. m. central standard time], from the civil aviation airport eight miles from Moscow. Only a few military and civil aviation officials were present.

The aim was to beat the mark of the Stratostat U. S. S. R. The "Osoaviakhim" belongs to the Soviet Civil Aviation society.

DRAFT ORDINANCE FOR BRIDGE AT ASHLAND AVENUE

Engineers of the board of local improvements yesterday started preparation of an ordinance for submission to the city council calling for the construction of a bascule bridge across the north branch of the Chicago river at Ashland avenue. The cost of the span has been estimated at $1,700,000, of which a small portion, probably less than $50,000, will be a special assessment against property owners. The board will try to get the remainder from gasoline tax revenue.

The city had applied to the federal government for permission to build a fixed bridge, the cost of which would have been $900,000, but property owners in the vicinity and improvement organizations objected. They said that legal actions would tie up the construction work, and claimed that the bridge should be built immediately, even though at a greater cost. The board agreed and approved the bascule span project.

AGAIN DODGE SCOOPS THE FIELD WITH NEW BIGGER AND MORE RUGGED MODELS FOR ONLY $645.*

Determined to Increase Its Leadership in Its Price Class and Win 1st Place by an Even Wider Margin in 1934, Dodge Offers Amazing Array of Features Never Before Found in Any Car

LAST year Dodge was America's most talked-about car. Naturally. Priced just a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars on the market—yet with features not found in many of the highest-priced cars—sales leaped ahead at a sensational rate. Before the year was up, Dodge had passed every competitor and stood in first place in its field.

An Even Greater Dodge for 1934!

Dodge means to strengthen that position of leadership this year. For again Dodge offers a car that gives you most for the dollar. Bigger. Faster. With many new ideas that improve performance . . . add to comfort . . . assure safety.

And at the same time, all the great features that caused thousands to switch to Dodge in 1933 are still in it.

All the Famous Dodge Features!

PLUS—hydraulic brakes . . . all-steel body . . . Floating Power engine mountings and all the other features without which no car can be said to be up-to-date.

And again Dodge offers you the famous "Show-Down" Plan. The plan that makes it as easy to check motor-car values as it is to tell day from night.

With this simple plan you can compare Dodge against the other cars for yourself. You don't have to shop around. Don't have to have "demonstration" after "demonstration." The "Show-down" Plan alone will give you the facts you want to know.

See this new, bigger Dodge at your dealer's now. Drive it. Ride in it. Go over its features one by one. Compare it with competitive cars on the "Show-Down" basis.

*The new, bigger Dodge on 117-inch wheelbase. Coupe $645; Coupe with rumble seat $695; Two-door Sedan $695; Four-door Sedan $745; Convertible Coupe $745. On the 121-inch wheelbase, Brougham $835; Convertible Sedan $875. * All prices f. o. b. factory, Detroit.*

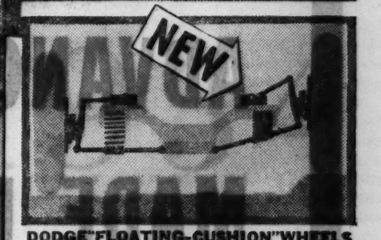
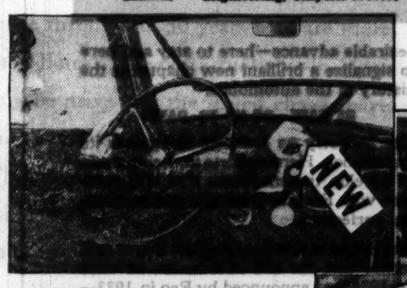
NEW DODGE "7-POINT VENTILATION"—An improved and perfected ventilating system. (1) Cowl ventilator. (2) Windshield opens or closes by means of crank on dashboard. (3) Front half of forward window may be swung open in "butterfly" fashion. (4) Rear half of the window can be raised or lowered independently of the front half. (5) By means of a simple device, both halves may be locked together and raised or lowered as a single unit, just as an ordinary window. (6) Rear door window raises and lowers. (7) Rear quarter window can be swung out in "butterfly" fashion.

DODGE "FLOATING-CUSHION" WHEELS—No matter how bumpy the road may be, Dodge new front-wheel suspension assures smooth, level riding. When either front wheel of the Dodge strikes a bump, the wheel—independently of the rest of the car—rises and falls with the bump. No jar. No shock. No tilting of the car. With "Floating-Cushion" Wheels (tested over thousands of miles of rocky, furrowed country); patented Floating Power engine mountings, hydraulic shock absorbers, shock-proof cross-steering, low-pressure tires and long 117-inch wheelbase, Dodge is the only car in its field to offer all these advantages.





AT LAST! A simple, quick, easy way to open the windshield . . . just turn the crank. Operates instantly, adjusts to any desired opening. Works a new way, by means of an ingenious steel band. Holds windshield firmly. Makes rattling impossible. One of the seven great features of Dodge ventilation.

STORAGE SPACE—INSIDE! Simply raise the back of the seat, and there you'll find plenty of room for luggage, packages, etc. Safe, secure, wonderfully convenient. Does away with an outside trunk rack that gets in the way of spare tires.

FOREIGN LANDS OWE U. S. DEBTS OF 12¾ BILLION

622 Million Behind; Only Finland Paying Up.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Foreign nations owe the United States $12,710,451,610.40, of which all but 2 billion dollars is due from Great Britain, France, and Italy, Secretary Morgenthau reported to the senate today in response to a resolution recently adopted on motion of Senator Borah.

Finland is the only nation which has kept up her payments. The others are behind $662,108,837.36 on account of principal and interest due under funding agreements and debts deferred under moratorium arrangements.

Character of Debts.

The total of this sum past due is divided into:

Principal	$281,590,100.47
Interest	365,133,618.76
Moratoria	15,385,109.13
Total	$662,108,837.36

Seven countries, including Great Britain, which have made payments on accounts due between July 1, 1932, and Jan. 4, 1934—the date of the Morgenthau figures—owe $6,919,866,167.16, and are behind $195,596,228.29 in payments.

Eight others, including France and Germany, none of which made payments during the same period, owe $5,423,985,542.68 and are behind $108,559,354.14 in amounts due under contracts to pay.

Sums Still Unfunded.

Three others, Armenia, Nicaragua, and Russia, owe $357,953,254.93, no part of which has been paid, and all of which except $20,700,000 is due from Russia. These debts are unfunded, whereas all the others have been revised under funding arrangements.

Britain, France, and Italy together are in debt to this country $10,605,032,885.36, their amounts unpaid according to contract summing up to $272,115,568.97, as follows:

	Debt.	Due.
Italy	2,008,103,288	13,087,010
Total	$10,605,032,885	$272,115,568

Secretary Morgenthau's tabulations, it is understood, will be used by Senator Borah when debate begins this week on the Johnson resolution to bar flotation in the United States of bonds of nations in debt to the United States.

August F. Lohmann Dies at 60 in Aurora Home

August F. Lohmann, 60 years old, head of a monument company bearing his name at Aurora and a member of the Kane county board of supervisors for more than twenty years, died yesterday at his home in Aurora.

MR. MURPHY GOES TO HIS OFFICE, BUT JUST FOR HEARING IN QUIZ

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The department of markets, represented by Commissioner William Fellowes Morgan Jr. and his deputy, Michael Fiaschetti, sat in solemn judgment today on the case of John Murphy, the $2,400 a year clerk who leaped into fame the other day when it was learned he had taken 1,625 days off since 1927—and got paid for it.

Mr. Murphy came to the office today, just for the hearing. He hasn't been able to get down from his home on West 103d street for some time. He used to come down for his pay checks, but he hasn't been able to do that since the new régime rumbled into action. His doctor wouldn't let him.

Well, they read the evidence. It was pretty good. In one year he took off 303 days, there were fifty-two Sundays in that year and a holiday or two, leaving a balance of five days when Mr. Murphy was right on the job clerking away.

"This is such a strain on me," he said plaintively. He looked around at all the expectant faces, paused a moment, and then said: "Yes, such a strain on me. I can hardly sleep, you know, and it's very hard for me to eat. I think you ought to give me an adjournment." This request for another day off was received in a very stony silence.

His defense thereafter consisted of silence. Decision was reserved.

EARLE WYNEKOOP IS FOUND LIVING IN MILWAUKEE

CRIMINAL COURT.

Robert Le Doux and Joseph O'Neil, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Robert Hedley, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life; Thomas Redmond, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years; Louis Gibson, Thomas Little and Robert Lee, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years; Walter Sakaitis, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years; all by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Frank Evans and Tony Demb, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Barney Gillen and Robert Reynolds, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years, by Judge Donald McKinlay.

Earle Wynekoop, who was absent from the trial of his mother, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, charged with the murder of his wife, Rheta, was found in Milwaukee yesterday. He was living under the name of Harry Clarke in a rooming house at 842 North Ninth street, across the street from a police station.

Earle said he had lived there since Jan. 10 when he left here on the advice of his attorney, W. W. Smith. Police who found him said he carried a blackjack and kept a stiletto in his room. Earle insisted he carried the blackjack for protection and said the knife in his room was a letter opener.

In her cell at the county jail his mother was reported very ill. Jail Physician Francis W. McNamara said her condition was unchanged from Monday when she collapsed and was unable to appear in court for reassignment of her case.

HALF OF JURY TO TRY WOMAN DOCTOR PICKED

Charged with the Murder of Another Physician.

Greenwood, Miss., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Six men, including three farmers and a CWA worker, today finally were accepted by both state and defense as half the jury which will try Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, 33, on a charge of murder for the alleged poisoned whisky highball death of her friend and fellow practitioner, Dr. John Preston Kennedy.

The state sought a jury which would "not be led astray by some moral issue that might be brought in," and the defense continued to demand jurymen pledged to require "positive proof" by the state that the woman physician was responsible for Dr. Kennedy's death.

Defense Eliminates Six.

With examination of more than four score talesmen, the state has twice filled the box with jurors acceptable to it, only to see the panel broken up under defense examination.

This afternoon, after a lengthy conference with Dr. Dean, the defense suddenly exercised half of its peremptory challenges and eliminated six men from the box, accepting the six others already approved by the state.

The state exercised its first peremptory challenge to remove from the box a juror who said he was unbiased but who admitted "sympathy for any one in trouble," coupling this with the statement that his wife had visited Dr. Dean in jail.

Faces Slain Man's Brothers.

On entering the court today, Dr. Dean, smartly gowned in brown, came face to face with the two brothers of the man she is charged with killing and who caused the murder charge to be lodged against her.

They were Dr. Henry Kennedy and Dr. Barney Kennedy, who have alleged they took a deathbed statement from their brother in which the latter charged Dr. Dean with responsibility for his fatal illness.

The three came to a standstill across the counsel table from each other, exchanging fixed stares. The woman doctor eyed the two men unwaveringly and the brothers presently moved on to their seats a few feet distant.

Smoking was permitted in Judge S. F. Davis' court today, the judge himself puffing at a comfortable black pipe as the jurors were examined.

Condemn to Death 5 Mules, Veterans of Hunt for Villa

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Five Fort Sam Houston mules, the last survivors of 272 mules which hauled supplies for Gen. John J. Pershing's punitive expedition to Mexico in 1915, have been condemned to death because of their age. They are 29 years old.

TRIAL SEPARATION IS UPHELD BY JUDGE IN STRANGE LOVE TANGLE

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Trial separation today received the official sanction of a New York Supreme court justice when Justice Samuel I. Rosenman, in a rare use of judicial discretion, gave Mrs. Edith Goldsmith, 27, three years to recover from an infatuation for Gordon Bjorkman, 21.

The husband in the "triangle" is Leo Goldsmith of the Bronx. The couple were married N v. 10, 1925, when Goldsmith was 25 and his wife 18.

Mr. Goldsmith has neither proved nor sought to prove any misconduct against his wife, the court said.

Since a permanent separation sanctioned by the court would bar Mrs. Goldsmith from the support of her husband forever, Justice Rosenman pointed out, he decided that if Mr. Goldsmith rebuffs any attempts on the part of the wife toward reconciliation at the end of the three year period she may apply for alimony and a separation in her favor.

COUPLE REWED, FIND THEIR OLD DIVORCE IS VOID

Mrs. A. Margaret Sorensen, 6229 South Honoré street, and John W. Watson, 738 West 61st street, a policeman, were informed yesterday by Superior Judge Rudolph Desort that they are still legally married to each other, though they thought they were divorced ten years ago. Both are remarried. They told Judge Desort that they would quit living with their present mates and seek annulments of the bigamous marriages. The unusual procedure followed the disclosure in court yesterday that a divorce decree Mrs. Sorensen obtained from Watson on June 29, 1923, was set aside two weeks later without their knowledge.

The discovery was made by Judge Desort as he was glancing over the records while hearing Watson's plea to have the court void an order requiring him to pay $7 a week for the support of his daughter, Grace, who has now become of age. Watson was arraigned on Mrs. Sorensen's complaint that he owed her $3,314 in support money.

U. S. RELATIONS WITH JAPAN ARE BETTER—HIROTA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 30.—"I think there has been a change for the better in the relations between the United States and Japan since Franklin D. Roosevelt became President," Koki Hirota, Japan's minister of foreign affairs, said today. "Despite war scare stories and reports to the contrary, plans to improve these relations, especially those concerning trade, are being conducted with the proper American officials."

The foreign minister was replying to interpellations by Ryuji Nagashima of the Seiyukai party in a budget committee session in the lower house of parliament. Nagashima declared there is reason to believe soviet Russia is showing an aggressive stand toward Japan since American recognition of them. He cited the speeches of Dictator Josef Stalin and other soviet officials. He asked what Japan is going to do to counteract this.

Hirota said he regretted the situation. He declared Japan's policy will be to endeavor to improve relations with the soviet government by settling outstanding questions. The foreign minister added he is confident that if the Chinese eastern railway problem is solved, the way will be paved for an improvement in relations. He said he had assurance that Stalin desires peace in relations with Japan. As for the United States, Hirota gave assurance that Japan has no desire to incite ill feeling, and will do her utmost to guide relations into the normal channel.

3 Gunmen Seize $10,000 Cash in Canadian Bank

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 30.—Three daring gunmen held up a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada here today and escaped with $10,000 in cash after imprisoning three customers, the bank manager and the cashier in the bank vault.

DORSEY DENIES PLOT CHARGE IN INSURANCE CASE

Machir Dorsey, once wealthy insurance broker, took the witness stand yesterday before a jury in Judge Benjamin Epstein's court and denied that he was engaged in a conspiracy with five co-defendants to loot the cash assets of the Security Life Insurance company and its affiliate, the Northern States Insurance company of Hammond.

Dorsey was the last of the defendants to testify. He told the jury that the various insurance companies in which he was interested at one time had nearly two billion dollars' worth of life insurance in effect. Three of his companies are now in the hands of receivers.

The defendants are charged with putting $1,900,000 worth of mortgages on a 30 acre tract near Waukegan, and then dumping the mortgages on the Security Life and Northern States companies. The prosecution charges that the land is not worth more than $500,000. Dorsey testified that the appraisal firm of Coats & Burchard valued the property at $3,500,000.

The evidence in the case is expected to be concluded today or tomorrow.

RICH, HE WILL STORE CORN TO GET U. S. LOAN

Newton, Ia., Jan. 30.—(AP)—E. H. Maytag, wealthy manufacturer, today announced he will warehouse 60,000 bushels of corn on his farms to obtain a $27,000 loan from the Federal Commodity Credit corporation.

Maytag signed some of the corn loan contracts for several of his farms today.

"While the Maytag farms are not in need of quick cash or financial assistance," Maytag said, "it is my belief that only whole-hearted cooperation by all farmers can achieve success in President Roosevelt's program for farm price lifting."

HELLO, SALLY... STILL LOVELY. HOW ABOUT DINNER AND A DANCE TONIGHT?
WONDER HOW SHE GOT RID OF THAT AWFUL BREATH?

Now Keep Breath Sweet 24 hours a day

EASY TO GET RID OF BAD BREATH AT ITS SOURCE BY THIS IMPROVED, SCIENTIFIC WAY THAT DOCTORS ADVISE

Don't fool yourself into believing that you are secure simply because a rinse or gargle with a mouthwash leaves your mouth tingling with a clean, pleasant taste.

To get rid of bad breath and taste you must get at the root of the trouble. That's in your stomach if you're an average person. Excess acids ferment foods, form obnoxious gases that rise up into the mouth and cause embarrassment.

So naturally the easiest, surest way to get relief is to get at the root of the trouble. Doctors advise a teaspoonful of BiSoDoL in water morning and night.

This pleasant-tasting blend of six valuable digestive remedies works wonders. It swiftly neutralizes excess acids, soothes and heals the inflamed mucous membranes. And keeps your stomach so settled and sweet that you are sure of waking up in the morning with a clean, pleasant taste and certain of having a sweet, inconspicuous breath all day!

Don't forget that your breath is only as sweet as your stomach and nothing can keep the stomach any sweeter than BiSoDoL. Try it. Also when you have indigestion, gas, heartburn or any other distressing acid trouble take BiSoDoL. It's the improved, quicker-acting way to get rid of pain and discomfort that doctors have used for many years with success. All druggists sell BiSoDoL.

THE BIG ENGINEERING ADVANCE FOR 1934 WAS MADE BY REO IN 1933!

THE CAR WITHOUT A GEARSHIFT LEVER

ANYONE who has yet to familiarize himself with the operation of the car without a gearshift lever—the new SELF-SHIFTING REO—is missing perhaps the most important automotive development of the last 15 or 20 years!

Since May, 1933, this amazing car has served thousands of delighted owners in every part of the world, under every conceivable condition of road and climate.

So revolutionary has it proved, so practical and advantageous, that leading engineers are now predicting that ALL cars will eventually have automatic transmissions of the REO SELF-SHIFTER type.

In other cars—eventually. In the new Reo—NOW! Bear that in mind when you choose your new car for 1934!

NO EFFORT—NO STRAIN OR FATIGUE

Think of eliminating the work and bother of shifting gears!

Picture yourself driving with the utmost ease and comfort—even in dense traffic lines where constant starting and stopping are necessary—without having to manipulate a gearshift lever!

In the SELF-SHIFTING REO this work is performed automatically—silently, smoothly and without strain on motor or driver.

Accelerate and go automatically into high! Slow down and change back automatically to the proper ratio! No action or effort on the driver's part. Wholly relaxed, with hands on the wheel and eyes on the road, he is not continually turning his attention to a shifting lever.

Is it any wonder owners are saying this new Reo is a SAFER car to drive? That it is less tiresome—and ever so much easier and more enjoyable!

NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

The letters from REO SELF-SHIFTER owners are the most enthusiastic of the many thousands it has been our pleasure to receive in 30 years of Reo-building.

Even men and women who never could be induced to drive before are now enjoying the pleasures of motoring—because this car has taught them there is no need to dread traffic, no occasion for worry about strain or fatigue.

It has shown them that even an inexperienced driver can match the experts in sweeping away from the traffic light—

That three can ride comfortably in front, because there is no gearshift lever to take up valuable room—

That they may enter or leave the car from the curb, without stumbling over a shifting lever or exposing themselves to the dangers of the street side.

BE SAFE—BE UP-TO-DATE!

The industry as a whole recognizes its importance. Heroic efforts are being made to develop transmissions that will compare with Reo's in feasibility and mechanical perfection.

But in the meantime the alert buyer will realize that the BIG automotive advance for 1934 was announced by Reo in 1933—

That the car being predicted for the future is already here!

Others are experimenting, planning, predicting—but the exclusive, patented SELF-SHIFTING REO has already proved its case!

The wise buyer will choose the new Reo because it is a car of superb quality and appearance, because it will be up-to-date for years to come—

And because it will NOT suddenly be made obsolete when other manufacturers find an answer to the inevitable demand for automatic transmissions!

Beauty Casts Its Own Reflection

The NEW BUICK for 1934

Beauty . . . Each year a new style of beauty blossoms forth at the automobile show. Buick is setting that style for 1934—with gorgeous beauty in the brilliant lines of its true windstream design. Perhaps no modern trend grants the fine opportunity to artistry that windstreaming does. Buick designers, taking full advantage of this opportunity, have literally modeled a graceful new pattern for motor cars—smooth and sleek to slip through the air with ease and silence. At the show, be sure to see the Buick display in all its captivating beauty. Then, and not until then, decide on your new car.

Dependability . . . The unsurpassed performance, the famous dependability and staying qualities which have won for Buick worldwide preference throughout 30 years—all are more highly developed than ever in the new Buicks. The powerful Valve-in-Head Straight Eight engine, the torque tube drive and the sealed chassis have proved themselves to be sound and sturdy for tough service up into the hundreds of thousands of miles. The most impressive tribute to Buick dependability is the universal satisfaction of Buick owners and the enthusiasm with which great numbers continue to drive Buicks, one after another.

Value . . . This year Buick goes farther than ever before in building cars of surpassing excellence and value. Even the lowest-priced of the new Buicks is a big car—impressive in its beauty. With Knee-Action wheels—plus balanced weight and springing, the ride stabilizer and air-cushion tires—Buick's ride is translated into a smooth, restful glide. Buick's new center-point steering is almost unbelievably easy and steady; its vacuum-power brakes require only half the usual effort; starting is automatic. In all its years of fine manufacturing, Buick has never built values to equal these new cars.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

GEN. JOHNSON'S ELEPHANTINE PETS.

Gen. Johnson has been in eclipse of late, but he emerged the other night at Worcester, Mass., to defend his administration from the charge that it is ruining the small business man and his employés. The general was attempting to destroy the cumulative effect of many thousands of complaints which small merchants and manufacturers addressed to their senators and representatives after they found they could obtain no relief from Gen. Johnson and his subordinates.

For a man whose career in NRA began with such stampings and bellowings as have not been heard on this continent since the days of the Mississippi flatboat, the general has been singularly retiring of late. He had almost earned the right to be called Pussyfoot Johnson Jr., after that advocate of a different form of prohibition. Probably the general would have preferred to remain in obscurity at least as long as congress is in session, but he was smoked out.

His address was a not very remarkable bit of special pleading for a bankrupt cause. He could not refute the well known fact that the men who lobbied the so-called recovery act through congress last spring were the representatives of big business. There is no doubt why these men wanted the law. Big business was being pushed around by smaller and more agile units which were far better able to cope with depression. The immense aggregations of plant and machinery with their overpowering load of overhead costs were geared to boom conditions of production.

In depression the inherent disadvantages of an elephantine organization became manifest. The executive control was remote and could be exerted only at great cost through a line of high salaried subordinates. The loyalty of the individual employé to the employer whom he knows, which is characteristic of many small businesses, had no counterpart in the impersonal organization of big business. Big business suffered from all the disadvantages of bureaucratic organization. It moved slowly, and it could not adapt itself quickly to new and difficult conditions.

Big business was under another heavy handicap. Its directing heads were not owners. Neither, for that matter, were they hired managers in the accepted meaning of the phrase. The bigger the corporation and the more scattered its ownership the more likely it is that the chief executive is essentially a politician. He may be, in addition, a good manufacturer or a good business man, but his essential qualification is his ability to get himself elected to his post of management. His personal charm and his persuasiveness are his chief claims to distinction.

Such men in the depression found themselves in competition with men whose own fortunes were at stake in their businesses. The outcome was not difficult to predict. Personal charm was no great asset in such a struggle. The executives of big business knew it and went running to congress for rescue. Their plea, of course, was thoroughly disguised. The alleged objective was to destroy what was called cutthroat competition, but the real objective was to restore to the larger units the dominance in their fields which they were rapidly losing.

The device adopted was the so-called code of fair competition, with the full power of the government and the courts available for its enforcement. Big business knew that it could dominate the committees which drafted codes and the enforcement organizations set up under the codes. Congress swallowed the scheme hook, line and sinker. Gen. Johnson, wittingly or unwittingly, permitted the system to develop pretty much as the men who devised it wanted it to develop. Under those circumstances to expect that the codes could serve any other purpose than the handicapping and perhaps destruction of little businesses for the benefit of big ones was to expect the impossible. What has happened is exactly what was expected to happen.

Prices have been regulated to prevent the small man from obtaining any advantage from his more efficient plant. Wages have been regulated to the disadvantage of the small town manufacturer, who now must pay his men as much or almost as much as is paid the worker in the big cities, where labor is generally more efficient and living costs are higher. Gen. Johnson pretends that his measures are directed only against sweatshop conditions, but he can hardly believe that himself. Literally millions of delicate adjustments of prices and wages, worked out over many years of experience, have been ruthlessly cast aside for a rigid scheme calculated to keep big business afloat.

Senator Nye has made public a few of the instances of oppression called to his attention. As striking an example as any which he cited was offered the other day in a letter published in the Voice of the People. A woodworking plant on the north bank of the Ohio, at Metropolis, Ill., was forced to close, throwing several hundred men out of work, because under the code this employer was arbitrarily obliged to pay wages 30 per cent higher than were paid in competitive plants in Democratic territory just across the river.

Gen. Johnson seeks to create the illusion that the New York sweatshop is a universal American institution for which a drastic remedy had to be provided. This is more of the same kind of camouflage which concealed the original purposes of NRA. The general, whether he knows it or not, is playing the same old game of pulling Wall street's chestnuts out of the fire.

DILLINGER AND HIS GANGSTERS.

The attempts of Wisconsin authorities to get possession of John Dillinger out in Tucson were unreasonable. They were calculated to obstruct justice. Both Indiana and Ohio can put these four killers on trial for murder, both states have capital punishment, and each has a case of murder in which an officer of the law, doing his duty, was killed by the gangsters. Wisconsin wanted the desperadoes for a bank robbery in Racine. The prospect of standing trial for that crime was so attractive that the four killers signed extradition waivers offered them by the Wisconsin officials in Tucson and welcomed a trip to Wisconsin as a haven. It was a chance to escape.

If the Arizona officials had not been wholly out of sympathy with the effort of one state to take the prisoners away from two others which claimed them for murder, a serious complication working against justice and for the benefit of the criminals might have arisen. It appears that the Wisconsin officials even tempted the Arizona police with a bait of rewards offered for the capture and return of the prisoners for bank robbery.

If Dillinger and his gangsters are sentenced to death in either Indiana or Ohio and are executed the crime of bank robbery in Racine will have been expiated. If the four were sent to a Wisconsin penitentiary for the bank robbery the murders in Ohio and Indiana would be left crying vainly for justice. The Wisconsin attempt to take the prisoners was inconsiderate and as an example of improper procedure censurable. In any such case of disputed jurisdiction the community which has suffered the greatest injury is the one to bring the criminal to trial, and even if the charge in Wisconsin were murder the Wisconsin authorities would have been asked to stand aside because their state does not execute murderers and Dillinger's gangsters have proved that prisons do not hold them very long. Their depredations since they broke out of the penitentiary are proof enough that the execution of a capital sentence upon such man killers is the only protection upon which people can rely.

Indiana has Dillinger. Indiana political management of a prison allowed him to get his gangsters out of the Michigan City penitentiary. That can't be squared, but now that the state has obtained possession of the criminal its justice as well as he will be on trial.

BUSINESS OPENING FOR AMBASSADOR BINGHAM.

Opportunity has come to Robert W. Bingham, American ambassador to Great Britain, to do a neat thing, to show a warm and human understanding, to promote good relations with Great Britain, to make royalty his friend, to win the sympathies of the British populace and to turn a brisk bit of business for his fellow countrymen. Mr. Bingham may or not be in England just now. There was something about his health the other day. But he can arrange it through his staff.

Queen Mary and her lady in waiting, Lady Ethel Ann Desborough, were traveling from Sandringham palace to Cambridge for some shopping when the car stalled. The men in livery could not do anything about it, the car being of the bulldog breed, but Percy Titmouse, a commercial traveler in the brewery line, happened along in a small car and was flagged down to give Queen Mary a lift—a romantic story which in Sir Walter Raleigh's day might have begun a career for a Sir Percy.

Mr. Bingham's opportunity is to give Queen Mary an American car, any American car. Any American make will take the queen from Sandringham to Cambridge or anywhere else.

Editorial of the Day

"PANEM ET CIRCENSES."

[New York Journal of Commerce.]

Readers of ancient Roman history will recall the cry of "Bread and Circuses," which came to be the standing political slogan of the imperial city's masses. Experience then taught the lesson that indiscriminate governmental largess, once handed out, is very difficult to withdraw. Where efforts were made to end such distributions of public funds the stability of the political régime that sought to do so was seriously jeopardized.

Perhaps it would not be unkind to say that something of the same experience is now being encountered by the federal government here. The Civil Works administration has doubtless played a major rôle in relieving distress throughout the country and in spreading purchasing power which has given some immediate stimulus to business in recent weeks. But the cost to the federal treasury has been very heavy and the President, in order to keep within his already swollen estimates of relief requirements for the current fiscal year, has indicated that CWA expenditures are to be curtailed gradually after Feb. 15 so as to end on May 1. Apparently he counts upon the momentum of the current moderate upturn in business, along with a normal seasonal improvement, to permit a withdrawal of public aid that will be replaced by an expansion of private business activity.

Immediately, however, the cry has been raised that such expenditures cannot be withdrawn without bringing in its wake great distress and disaster. New large appropriations to continue the Civil Works administration with federal funds are being sought from many quarters, including some powerful legislative and welfare groups. Even efforts to reduce individual rates of compensation on public works projects, on the ground that sums disbursed in certain areas were well above prevailing pay rates, have met with marked opposition.

Inflation and public spending programs are easier to start than to end. If the President is to continue along his present path, eschew highly dangerous currency inflation schemes, and seek to stimulate a normal business recovery through currency stabilization and a revival of confidence and private initiative, then he must act firmly and reduce the Civil Works expenditures as rapidly as feasible in accordance with his announced budget plans. There is general agreement that starvation will not be tolerated in this country and that relief must be provided where severe individual hardship is faced. Experience shows, however, that normal business revival can be counted upon to provide employment gradually for those without work after a major depression period. In the meanwhile measures must be taken to relieve the terrific strain on federal finances that relief and recovery expenditures now constitute, if the credit of the federal government is to be kept strong for future emergencies as they should arise. This requires administrative firmness and decision under circumstances such as now prevail.

THE LADDER, O LANOO.

Tread paths of wonder to the infinite?
Then measure life and measure death, Lanoo,
Though death is but a divine ecstasy—
Touch not the waters of dark ignorance
Until you find a ladder made of gold
Where foot-held, is the Knower and the Known.
Then . . . you may test the world of Cause, Lanoo,
To find if life is but a graven path—
A caravanserai where many rest
In rich brocades and buckled cloaks but are Stuffed effigies and prisms without light.

Perhaps, Lanoo, when the ladder shall be found
Forgotten words, once sterile on your tongue,
Will make return and bring surprising fruit,
Whose right, effect, though golden be the disc
And dropped down into action from above.
Do lilies bloom upon projecting thorn
Or jasmine star upon a banyan tree?
Does not ascending smoke encurve among
The blue-white conscious clouds inviolate?
So shall the evil mingle with the good
As votaries their avatars attend.

They know not of the ladder to the spheres
Whereon eventually man ascends
To disappear . . . but comes again to birth
Where white experience, the great mother
In tenderness unbearable, Lanoo,
Feeds at her breast a tried humanity,
Although her eye shall not let fall a tear.

And shall I name the ladder's several rungs?
Approach its steps in one high mannerism
As though you trod upon an ancient road.
When you hear a bird call to its long lost mate
The first step will be known, but hidden still;
The second . . . as though dreams were living things . . .
The third, Lanoo, in swirls of purple light
Is like a mansioned nautilus that calls
For freedom from its coiling, opaled shell.

Upon the fourth step you will hear, as on
The fifth, a flute song in the breaking heart . . .
The sixth . . . a blast that stirs the climbing one
Until he swoons in beauty. Lights flash out
As he prepares to mount the seventh rung.

And shall you reach this goal, beloved Lanoo?
It is not known but to the sufferer
Who finds that will can render all things pure:
It is the place where all sound is absorbed
In one great silence like a singing tower
Where all the bells move tongueless in the breeze.

Before your feet are set, Lanoo, upon
The golden ladder of the ultimate
Appraise the high and low, for ugliness
Is but one side of beauty's hidden face.
So take this cup, Lanoo, and then proceed—
Count numbered rungs that lead toward liberty.
The flute song and the broken heart are one
When you have found the ladder. Then, Lanoo,
Tread on the wings and step across the world!
Walk paths of wonder to the Infinite!

Then I sneak out and go over to the parking station and get the ancient relic out and give her a pat on the head and a couple of kicks in the slats and yo hicks and huzza—away we go, as smooth as silk, for home. GALL STONES.

THERE are several causes of gall stones. Probably in many cases several of these causes coöperate to bring about the result, but it is possible that any one could turn the trick by itself. As to some of them there is no question. In others the verdict needs to be "guilty but not proven"; while still others are like a grand jury indictment—reasonably suspicious.

Among the main and contributing causes are: Indolence, physical inactivity, overeating, heavy meals, constipation, reverse peristalsis, vomiting, belching, bacteria in the gall bladder, mucus in the gall bladder, inflammation of the gall bladder, and a diet too rich in cholesterol and other lipid bodies [such as yellow of eggs, brains, sweetbreads, liver], rich foods, alcohol, condiments. Probably we should add dyspepsia, for gall stones and dyspepsia make a vicious circle, each aiding and abetting the other.

To one who reads the list of causes there will occur methods of prevention, some one or more of which he can take as applying to himself and his habits. First let us consider the bacterial cause. Every part of the digestive tract has its own bacterial life. The lips teem with microbes. There are many kinds in the mouth, but not so many as are on the lips. Those of the mouth and different parts thereof differ somewhat from those of the lips.

There are a very few active bacteria in the stomach. Those that are active there stand acids well. Most bacteria in foods go to sleep when they reach the stomach, to wake up farther down the line. The small intestine has some bacteria, but they vary in different parts of the twenty odd feet of tube. In the large intestine there is a very rich bacterial life, wholly different in character from those farther up.

Good health depends very largely on keeping each group of bacteria in the pen in which it belongs. Some are absorbed from the large intestine, to be picked up by the liver and thrown back by the bile route. Some of these are apt to damage the liver, some the gall bladder, and some cause gall stones. In vomiting, violent belching spells and other forms of reverse peristalsis bacteria tend to get out of the lower stretches, where they are not often harmful, and into the upper stretches, where they may cause much trouble. Gall stones are one of the possibilities. It follows that attacks of indigestion, vomiting, drunken debauches with puking, violent attacks of belching and of indigestion lay the foundation for gall stones.

Gall stones are apt to contain a good deal of a near-fat called cholesterol. We call these near-fats lipids. Some foods are rich in them. Others contain almost none. The foods that contain least of them are the fruits, vegetables, starches, sugars, milks, and mixtures containing these. A regular egg diet is rich in lipids.

Obesity makes for gall stones. It is true that some spare people have them. But the rule is that the persons who have gall stones are those with considerable paunch, or with a superabundance of fat in other locations when the paunch region is too much compressed to hold rolls of fat. The heavy eaters and the physically inactive are also in the gall stone list, as one would expect.

MUCOUS COLITIS.

Mrs. M. L. writes: 1. What is mucous colitis and what are the symptoms? 2. Do you consider it incurable? 3. Does cancer generally follow?

REPLY.

1. It is a form of bowel trouble in which much mucus is passed. There is considerable pain and much nervousness.
2. Most cases can be cured but not quickly nor easily.
3. No.

We have a booklet on constipation, which has a section on mucous colitis. You can get this booklet by sending 10 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope.

YEAST.

L. T. C. writes: 1. Is yeast harmful to a person with high blood pressure? I take two cakes a day. 2. Is yeast fattening? 3. What benefits are derived from taking yeast?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. Not directly.
3. Yeast is rich in vitamins, especially vitamin B complex. It is of service where that vitamin is needed.

RINGWORM OF SCALP.

Mrs. T. A. B. writes: How can one cure ringworm of the scalp? My 4 year old son has eight infected spots on the head.

REPLY.

The easiest method is to cause the hair on the areas to drop out. This is usually done with X-rays. After the hair comes away the ringworm generally disappears with but little treatment.

STOCK PURCHASE.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What steps can be taken to recover money paid for stock? 2. The company has not lived up to representations made at the time of purchase. 3. Will I have to employ the services of a lawyer? 4. At this time I cannot possibly retain a lawyer and am wondering whether there is a department in Chicago or in Washington which could take the matter up for investigation. J. C.

1. By writing to the secretary of state, Springfield, you could ascertain whether the sale was a violation of the securities law. If not, your rights would depend on the contract under which the stock was sold.
2. We cannot advise without knowing the nature of those representations and the facts as to the breach.
3. You probably will.
4. If the amount involved is substantial and your position has merit, you should be able to get an attorney to undertake the matter on a contingent fee.

BOARD BILL.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I owe about $100 for room rent and one day when I returned to my room the lock was changed and the owner would not let me in and refused to give up my clothes and other personal belongings. Among my property are papers and documents that belong to other people and they demand return of same. At present I have no money to pay this bill and (1) the landlord claims he has a right to hold everything until I pay him. 2. He also states that he has a hotel license and the innkeepers' act gives him these rights. S. A.

1. Clearly, he has no such right. You might try threatening him that the owners of the goods will sue him in trover for the value, treating his action as a conversion.
2. His hotel license would not give him a right to hold the goods of persons who are not transient guests without court proceedings.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS.—Gossip in Athens, a city which a newcomer soon learns is more often a rumor factory than a fountain of distilled fact, is busy with a report that King Zog of Albania will soon be thoughtfully turning the pages of an album filled with handpicked photographs of American heiresses.

The idea, according to published reports, is that he would like to marry some American debutante of recognized family and resources, if she is willing to change her faith and—through the acceptance of Allah's only prophet—occupy the vacant half of the Albanian throne.

Zog I. is a bachelor and a Moslem. He would like to marry and he would like to get out of debt, and by doing both he would like to free himself of his position as the cork on the line Mussolini has dropped into the Balkan whirlpool. At present he can do none of these things, for politics and finance bar every gateway he might take in Europe.

Now, according to the printed reports in Greece, he has turned to America, and has sent an extra-confidential investigator, Caten-Pascal Serasi, to the United States in the hope of finding a bride. As far as European royal standards go, such a connection with a commoner would be morganatic. But the Albanian dynasty does not rate all the ribbons worn by the older European royal families, anyhow, and the possibility offers a way out of his predicament.

The reports printed in Athens state that Zog instructed Serasi to obtain such particulars of prospective brides as name, social rank and photograph, with any details concerning dowry which might be available.

The accounts declare that the royal looker-over has been fairly successful and will return soon with his material.

The rumor may be only idle gossip, but politicians are intrigued at the prospect. Many of the Balkan states would approve such a step for political reasons. Some would oppose it. Albania is now overshadowed by Italy, and dares not be anything but a good friend with only the narrow strip of Adriatic sea between the two countries, not to mention other considerations.

Albania's northeastern border adjoins Jugo-Slavia, and therefore impinges on the French inspired little entente, comprising Jugo-Slavia, Rumania and Czechoslovakia. There is the crux of the problem. Whichever way Zog might turn for an alliance with a princess of the blood, he would run headlong against one faction or the other.

It is said there are no suitable prospects which, at the same time, would be acceptable in Rome and still leave Zog free from Italian influence. Until money is available he cannot cast off on his own without annoying Italy and thereby Bulgaria, whose queen was Princess Giovanna of Savoy. That situation would arouse Greek opposition, for the Bulgarians hope some

LAWYER CRIMINALS.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Rumors that the East Chicago bank holdup was undertaken to provide funds for the defense of men now on trial and subsequent reports that the Bremer kidnaping was accomplished for the same purpose forcibly direct attention to the question as to the right of attorneys to defend known criminals, receiving as their compensation the fruits of their clients' crimes.

The average layman believes that a lawyer should not try to secure the acquittal of a client whom he knows to be guilty of the offense for which he is being tried. The same belief is held by many lawyers, with varying degrees of heartiness and with various limitations and qualifications.

The doctrine of the typical criminal lawyer is, however, very different. His doctrine is sometimes called "the sporting theory" of the law. Briefly stated it is this: "Every accused person is not only entitled to a fair trial, but a trial in accordance with all the forms of law." The idea is that whether you have committed a crime or not, you ought not to be sent to jail, or executed, or fined unless in your prosecution all the formalities of the law have been punctiliously observed. Merely by kidnaping a man you do not forfeit your full rights to life and liberty. There still remains your right to a trial in due form, and only after strict observance of all the forms of the law do you lose these rights. Under this theory the purpose of a trial is not merely to determine the guilt or innocence of the accused, but is a sporting proposition; that is, under the rules of the game, no matter what crimes you may have committed, you can still insist as a matter of right on playing out the trial game to the last card.

To many people it would seem incredible that there are attorneys who can enjoy wealth and respectability while they make a practice of sending out the friends and associates of criminal clients to commit additional crimes in order to procure the funds needed to defend their clients against similar crimes previously committed. Yet every lawyer knows that such things occur.

In the eyes of the law a person is not guilty of a crime until his guilt is proved beyond a reasonable doubt. You cannot, of course, deny the accused the right to counsel, on the ground that he is guilty anyway, without prejudging his case. There ought, however, to be some way to stop the practice of criminal lawyers directly encouraging the commission of new crimes to provide funds for the defense of the old crimes.

It is well known that there are certain attorneys who specialize in habeas corpus proceedings for pickpockets, and other attorneys who specialize in habeas corpus proceedings and other defense proceedings for other specialized crimes. In my own experience an attorney in another city once made an attempt to collect damages from the publishers of the phone directory because, as he frankly stated, he was a "dip attorney," and the good will of his business depended on visiting "dips" being able readily to find his name and phone number. Through the mistaken listing given him in the phone directory his business was, according to his statement, seriously impaired.

This evil can, in my opinion, be corrected only by a change in attitude on the part of the legal profession. As long as lawyers, not involved in practices of this sort, look on those who are amassing wealth through indulgence in these practices with amused tolerance, or even admiration and envy, the practice will continue. Whenever it is the sincere mass opinion of lawyers that criminal attorneys who indulge in the practices in question are no better than the criminals they represent, and they shape their attitude toward such lawyers in accordance with this sincere belief, a long step will have been taken toward the correction of this vicious situation.

PAUL B. FISCHER.

LAWYER CRIMINALS.

Muskegon, Mich., Jan. 24.—Chicago's troubls with criminals and their lawyers can be reduced by passing a law, agreement, rule, or ordinance of legal practice that no attorney may represent the same man twice in a criminal trial; no firm of lawyers or member thereof may represent a man twice; nor can any lawyer appear for a criminal except on direct call of said criminal after arrest. Any attempt to represent twice would be cause for disbarment.

It should be illegal to accept retainers from public enemies except for appearances as they come up, not before.

A WORD FOR PAT ROCHE.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—I have read with great interest your editorial in today's TRIBUNE, "Scotching the Kidnapers."

While it is not my purpose to detract credit from any one person, it certainly is my intention to remind you of the man who was responsible for the arrest and the preparation of the Hackett kidnaping case. It terminated in a conviction only because of the marvelous groundwork of investigation and detection which was laid.

I speak of Pat Roche, who, although relegated to private life, continued on the trail of the Hackett kidnapers and delivered them lock, stock, and barrel to the state's attorney's office.

It was my privilege to work beside Roche during the investigation of the Lingle murder and in the arrest and conviction of Leo Brothers I first saw his great ability as a detective. He has repeated in the Hackett case.

ANALOGY.

Gary, Ind., Jan. 25.—Years ago they used to say in baseball that Fielder Jones of the White Sox was a great manager as long as Ed Walsh's arm held out, and today the Roosevelt fans will doubtless be able to keep on cheering—as long as the United States treasury holds out.

When the public funds begin running low, why just declare that one dollar equals three or four—how simple!

Incidentally, as election day approaches it will be interesting to see if the administration doesn't adopt a more liberal policy toward the war veterans.

MOVIE MANNERS.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Perhaps many of the readers of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE will agree with me when I say there should be a ruling in each motion picture theater against people eating, chewing, munching, unwrapping packages, etc., while viewing their idols on the screen. This is without a doubt my greatest peeve when I go to the theater. Undoubtedly any one who can afford the price of a ticket should be able to partake of sufficient nourishment before entering the theater to last throughout the performance.

MAYOR RECOUNTS BENEFITS TO CITY IN WORLD'S FAIR

Tells How Chicago Won Respect of Visitors.

Mayor Kelly, speaking before 1,500 guests at the World Fair meeting of the State Street council at the Palmer house yesterday, said that Chicago's greatest accomplishment of 1933 was that of regaining the respect of the world. This was accomplished, the mayor said, through glowing accounts of visits to the city carried back to home communities by the millions who attended A Century of Progress.

"People learned that reports of Chicago were exaggerated or entirely false," the mayor said. "Crime was reduced and visitors found the streets safe and the Chicago police force polite and willing to help them. This drive on crime will continue until Chicago is completely clean of criminals and hoodlums.

"City's Finances Better."

"I venture to say that Chicago, started to prosperity by A Century of Progress, will be the first out of the financial morass. City finances are in better shape, Chicago business is better, and both will continue to improve as the months pass.

"We owe a debt to President Dawes of A Century of Progress and the other energetic men who made it possible. We can repay this debt by supporting the Fair in 1934. The year 1933 put Chicago ahead of the depression and 1934 will keep it there."

Walter Gregory, president of the State Street council, in introducing Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Exposition, said that "while business men and Chicago in general were bowing their heads in sorrow, a group of determined men put over the Fair when the world said it could not be done."

Mr. Dawes assured the audience that the 1934 Exposition would be more interesting and worthwhile than the 1933 Fair, and if given the proper support by Chicagoans should be more successful. He pointed out that of the 85 per cent of last year's exhibitors who were invited to return, 55 per cent had made contracts and another 15 per cent had indicated their intention of obtaining space.

Benefits of Good Will.

"The good will reaped by Chicago through the 1933 Fair was greater than the economic profit. More than 10,000,000 visitors were hospitably received and well treated in Chicago," he said.

He pointed out that Chicago department stores, which showed an average business loss of 20 per cent in 1932 as compared with 1931, showed an average gain of 13.6 per cent during the five months of the Fair. The 75 major hotels in Chicago showed an average increase in business of 133 per cent in 1933 as compared with 1932, Mr. Dawes said, and street car traffic increased 11.2 per cent. He said that a total of individual bank accounts in Chicago showed an increase of one and one-half billion dollars during 1933 as compared with the national increase of one-half billion dollars.

COLORS RETURN IN MEN'S STYLES TO HAIL REPEAL

Prohibition repeal, greater leisure due to NRA economic measures and the radical new designs in automobile and home construction are called responsible for innovations in masculine attire. These new styles are being shown at the joint convention of the National Association of Merchant Tailors and the Merchant Tailor Designers' association which opened yesterday in the Palmer house.

Raymond G. Twyeffort, chairman of the convention's fashion committee, pointed out the cocktail suit and the champagne coat among the new styles. He called these "our contribution to the new era of leisure and our definite recognition of repeal."

Silk Sash Shown.

"The cocktail suit," said Mr. Twyeffort, "is designed for informal day wear, especially at the time of the now popular cocktail hour between 4:30 o'clock and 6 p. m. The coat is built with a soft roll lapel and is developed in the colors of gray, blue-gray and brown. The trousers should be of a corresponding color, except there should be a bold white check."

The models on display at the convention's style exhibit show a plaited silk sash being worn with the champagne coat. The coats are designed along the same general lines as a tuxedo coat. The materials are of tropical weight in the pastel shades of blue, gray, bisque, green, canary, and champagne.

The host suits for informal home use are done in colonial cashmeres in blue, purple, green, maroon, and wine color. A distinct innovation is that the trousers, made either to match the coat or in blue or black, are lined with silk. In these various color combinations the tired business man is supposed to find relaxation and enjoyment.

Coats Are "Streamlined."

"This renaissance in color," Mr. Twyeffort declared, "was born of the great out-of-doors and was cradled by the new deal. The American male can now wear a costume attuned to the new spirit. He will find emotional expression in the color schemes afforded."

This 1934 style insurrection has not been confined only to color. There has been an apparent attempt at "streamlining." In material design of the coats and trousers, for example, stripes run perpendicular, while for the vests the stripe navigates the torso horizontally. Pocket flaps lie neatly back, as against the wind. Sleeve cuffs are taboo and outside buttons are a rarity.

Conservatism, however, is still the rule in the design of business suits. The trend seems definitely away from padded shoulders and the emphasis now is upon developing "height." All lines of the sack and double breasted suit adhere to this design.

Judge Forces Youth to Surrender Auto Keys

Judge Edward S. Scheffler imposed a new penalty yesterday on William Flick, 17 years old, 2029 West 17th place, who was arraigned before him on a charge of leaving the scene of an automobile accident. He ordered the youth to surrender the keys of his car and not to drive the vehicle until the keys are returned to him next Sept. 7. If the youth fails to obey the order he will be sentenced to jail.

"In my opinion," the judge said, "the most severe punishment I can mete out to a boy who drives recklessly is to take his automobile keys away and forbid him to drive."

STORY OF ARTHUR'S LONG HUNT FOR HIS RIDING BREECHES

How Arthur Fritz, owner of a Shetland pony camp at River road and North avenue, spent $60 in street car fare to track down a man who had stolen $23 and a pair of riding breeches, was revealed yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Harry B. Miller. The defendant, Fred Nold, was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell after the charge had been changed from grand to petty larceny.

Fritz told the judge that he left Nold in charge of his business early last year when he left for a month's vacation with his wife. When he returned, the witness said, he found Nold, $23, and a pair of riding breeches missing.

With one clew, a bar of soap left behind by Nold, Fritz took up the search. Three times weekly from Feb. 15 to Dec. 19, 1933, Fritz made the street car trip to the Premier hotel on the west side, the name of which was on the soap left by Nold. On Dec. 19 he found Nold and had him arrested on a charge of grand larceny.

"It was not grand larceny," Nold told the court, "just a breach of trust."

"Breeches of trust," Judge Miller interrupted and passed sentence.

Burglar Takes Off Victim's Suit, Throws Him 2 Stories

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—A Negro burglar forcibly removed the suit of James Gallut, 44 years, in a second story room of a boarding house today and when Gallut protested threw the unclad man though the window. Gallut is expected to die from the fall. The burglar escaped with the suit.

Head of Chinese Province Denies Setting Up Own Rule

NANKING, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The governor of Sinkiang province, on the eastern boarder of China, telegraphed the national government today denying establishment of an alleged independent government. Dispatches from Moscow last week reported formation of the new state. Nanking officials said then that following Mohammedan outbreaks Sinkiang officials refused to obey nationalist orders.

RAYS "SEE" WHAT INQUISITION OF SPAIN DELETED

Infra Red Photos Aid Historians.

By use of the rays in photography at the famous Huntington library here obliterated portions of literature of the inquisition period are being restored.

While nothing startling has yet been found in the deleted passages, Dr. L. Bendikson, in charge of the photographic reproduction work, said "we hope to be able to throw some new light on that period in showing what was considered at that time to be unworthy for reading."

Similar Pigments Differ.

The Huntington library has a vast collection of Spanish books printed during the inquisition and each of them contains parts carefully blotted out.

The use of infrared radiation was suggested by Dr. Ira S. Bowen of the California Institute of Technology, and the basis of this suggestion was that the powers of reflection and absorption of different pigments vary in different regions of the spectrum.

Thus it was found that it was possible to distinguish between two apparently identical pigments by means of a photographic image, made with infra-red radiation, excluding almost the entire visible spectrum through the use of a filter.

Opened by the Censor.

In the Huntington library is a set of 12 volumes in Latin of De Bry's voyages, the first ten of which [formerly in the Britwell court library] bear inscriptions indicating they were expurgated by the censor for the Spanish inquisition.

Funeral services for Police Captain Thomas J. Pilkington will be held tomorrow morning at St. Thomas Aquinas church with burial in Mount Carmel cemetery. Capt. Pilkington died early yesterday of heart disease in his home at 5137 Washington boulevard. He was 67 years old.

Capt. Pilkington, for the last two years in command of the Gresham station, has been on furlough since Jan. 16, when he became ill.

Capt. Pilkington came to Chicago from Ireland when he was 17 years old. In 1893 he joined the police force and was assigned to the Des Plaines street station. He was made a sergeant 14 years later and transferred to the Fillmore street station. He was promoted to a lieutenancy in the traffic division in 1914, and became acting captain at Austin station two years later. Receiving his captain's commission in 1921, he served at Warren avenue, Austin and Marquette stations before taking command at Gresham.

High Court Grants Writ to Killer of Policemen

Arthur Lavac, 40 years old, 1533 Elmwood avenue, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for killing two Berwyn policemen, was granted a writ of error in the case yesterday at Springfield on his appeal to the Illinois Supreme court. Lavac killed Policemen Frank Svec and Edgar Chatterton when they tried to serve him with a warrant on Dec. 12, 1932, charging him with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Lavac had refused to permit his children to attend school because he objected to compulsory vaccination.

CLEVELAND WILL DEFAULT FEB. 1 ON 1¼ MILLIONS

Lacks Money First Time in History.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The city of Cleveland will default Thursday on payment of $1,199,000 due on its general bonded indebtedness and $88,345 interest, but will pay both interest and principal on waterworks and light plant bonds.

Louis C. West, finance director, said today that the city will pay the Feb. 1 $30,000 on its waterworks bonds, plus interest of $30,750, and $60,000 on light plant bonds, with $14,525 interest. Sinking fund obligations due Feb. 1 total $1,422,620, of which $1,289,000 is principal and $133,620 interest.

Failure to pay on the general bonds Thursday is to constitute the first default in the city's history.

Lack Money for March 1.

Mr. West would not say definitely that the payment would not be met, but said that "no action has yet been taken to meet the payment due on the general bonds. As of today," he explained, "we do not have the money."

Under Ohio law, the city has 60 days from the date of maturity to "cure" its default. Total bonded debt payments, plus interest, due this year amount to $14,300,000. The next item is to come due March 1, $1,500,000 in principal and interest, for which money is not yet available.

Mayor Harry L. Davis plans to bring before the state legislature this week a plan for refunding the city's bonded indebtedness.

La Guardia Seeks Extension.

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—With the fate of his economy bill at Albany still in the balance, Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia dispatched a telegram to Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes at Washington appealing anew for federal financial help for the distressed city.

"Tomorrow," the mayor's message said, "is the deadline fixed by you to give the city an opportunity to balance its budget and improve its credit so that we could qualify for the 23 million dollar loan for the completion of the Eighth avenue subway.

"When I conferred with you and the President I was hopeful that we could do so by Feb. 1, and certainly could have done so had the legislation been granted. May I therefore request a reasonable extension of time, with the understanding that if the legislature refuses to pass the necessary bill or so emasculates it or destroys its effectiveness by amendments then, of course, it would be unfair to ask you to keep this money tied or earmarked. Fair play and a real spirit of patriotism would suggest that it be allocated to cities who are receiving the coöperation and help of their state legislatures. I will keep you informed daily of the progress in Albany. Your governor is doing everything that is possible to assist the city."

Late afternoon advices from Albany said the mayor's bill had been defeated in the assembly. Conferences were begun, however, with a view to patching up the measure or fixing up a new bill.

ADMITS HIS CAR HIT GIRL AFTER CHANGING STORY

Louis J. Strauss, 2943 North Kilpatrick avenue, was booked on charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident yesterday at the Damen avenue police station after he had admitted that it was his car, and not that of a hit and run driver, which struck Miss Bernice Baumbart, 17 years old, 2254 Roscoe street, Monday at Oakley and Belmont avenues.

The girl is in a critical condition in the Martha Washington hospital with a fractured skull and other injuries. Strauss took her there Monday evening, saying he found her lying on the street as he drove past. After Sergt. Edward Garrity and Patrolman Emmett Ferguson had found bloodstains on his car, however, he admitted his car had struck the girl. She walked into the side of it, he asserted.

Two deaths yesterday raised the Cook county motor death toll for 1934 to 111. The victims:

Miss Mary White, 45 years old, 130 West Superior street. Died in Henrotin hospital of injuries received Monday night when she was struck by an automobile near her home.

Mrs. Mathilde Geschwind, 65 years old, 142 West 112th street. Struck at 111th street and Indiana avenue last night by an automobile driven by Dr. S. J. McCormick, 11153 South Park avenue. She died as Dr. McCormick was taking her to the Roseland Community hospital, where he is a member of the staff.

Harry Muller, 43 years old, 5502 Adams street, died yesterday in St. Therese's hospital in Waukegan of a broken neck received Jan. 2 when the automobile he was driving collided on Waukegan road, five miles northwest of Waukegan, with a car driven by Miss Mary Casey, 1422 West Wisconsin avenue, Milwaukee.

FLUSH KIDNEYS OF POISONS AND STOP GETTING UP NIGHTS

Thousands of men and women wonder why backache bothers them—why they have to visit the bathroom often at night—why flow is scanty and sometimes smarts and burns.

Any one of these symptoms means that your kidneys and bladder need attention now before these minor symptoms develop into serious trouble.

To flush out waste poisons and acid from kidneys, soothe your irritated bladder and put healthy activity into them, get a 35-cent package of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules and take as directed.

This tried and true medicine always works—you'll feel better in a few days, as this supremely effective diuretic and kidney stimulant drives excess uric acid from the body. But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine right from Haarlem in Holland. All good things are imitated.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $183,124, making a total of $103,677,740 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Jan. 30	$ 11,492	$ 14,093
Uncollected	15,429,299	41,268,264
	1930.	1931.
Jan. 30	$ 55,294	$ 102,245
Uncollected	65,306,447	63,826,966

MAIL PROPERTY SCHEDULES TO COUNTRY TOWNS

Mailing out of the 1933 personal property assessment schedules to country towns was begun yesterday after County Assessor J. L. Jacobs had met in his office 30 country town deputy assessors and explained to them the details of their work. Chicago taxpayers will not receive their schedules until about the middle of February.

Schedules were mailed yesterday to the towns of Schamburg, Rich, Orland, Elk Grove, Palos, Northfield, Barrington, Hanover, Worth, Wheeling, Stickney, Bremen, and Riverside. The remainder of the 30 country town schedules will be sent within a week, the assessor said.

The 1933 personal property tax bills will become delinquent after Jan. 1, 1935. Taxpayers have 10 days after receipt of the schedule to fill them out and return them to the assessors' office. If they fail to do this the assessor will estimate the value of their property and a penalty of 50 per cent will be added to the bill.

County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough yesterday filed petitions for receivership against 20 properties owing $26,480 in delinquent taxes.

FRENCH AIRMEN LEAVE BRAZIL ON FLIGHT TO AFRICA

NATAL, Brazil, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The French mail plane Southern Cross took off today for Senegal, Africa, on its homeward flight to France. Its crew hoped to cross the South Atlantic in from eighteen to nineteen hours.

Blame Crash on Signals.

FORTALEZA, Brazil, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A misinterpretation of radio signals because of varying systems employed by different countries appeared today the reason the Italian mail plane which crashed here yesterday lost its course. Two of the crew of four were injured.

Francia Lombardi, commander, and Count Franco Mazzoti, second pilot, said while near the island of Fernando Do Noronha late Sunday radio signals from Natal and the steamship Westphalen, anchored in mid-ocean as an air base, confused them.

HARRY CHAPMAN, FENCE COMPANY EXECUTIVE, DIES

Harry G. Chapman, vice president and general manager of the Cyclone Fence company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation located at Waukegan, died suddenly of heart disease last night in the William Penn hotel at Pittsburgh, where he had gone on a business trip.

Mr. Chapman, who was 49 years old, lived at 326 Greenwood avenue, Waukegan. He had been employed by the fence company for 15 years and last year was promoted to his present post from that of general sales manager.

His widow, Mrs. Emma Chapman, and two daughters, Estelle and Edna, survive. The body will be brought back to Waukegan.

FOES RUSH TO ATTACK ON NEW FRENCH CABINET

Own Party Refuses to Give Support to Daladier.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 31.—[Wednesday.]—Difficulties began to pile up for Edouard Daladier's new cabinet almost as soon as it was formed, with the result that observers are predicting today it will be overthrown in a week.

One of the outstanding voices of protest aimed at the color of the new government was reported to be that of former Premier Edouard Herriot, powerful president of Daladier's own party. He is said to have announced in the lobbies of the chamber of deputies last night that he intended to resign his leadership. His colleagues stated they urged him to hold off for the time being, but Herriot refused, and already party leaders are looking around for a new chief, with former Premier Camille Chautemps as the likeliest candidate.

Tardieu Group Hostile.

Another embarrassing move came from former Premier Andre Tardieu's group, which is represented in the cabinet by Col. Jean Fabry as war minister. No sooner was the cabinet announced today than the party leaders were hurriedly summoned to a meeting, and Fabry was read out of the organization. Tardieu is reported to have personally written a resolution refusing confidence to the new government.

Furthermore, many Radical Socialists are ready to kick over the traces and for the first time in history the party did not make a formal declaration of confidence in a member of its own party on his assuming the premiership.

The Socialist organ Populaire also bristled with hostility in this morning's issue, indicating that Daladier can look for support neither to the Socialists nor to the Rightist parties.

Bourse Also Unfavorable.

The bourse, like the public, reacted unfavorably yesterday, with government securities selling heavily and registering substantial drops, while withdrawals from savings deposits throughout the country continued on an unhealthy scale.

The reason for all this antagonism is that Daladier is regarded as having whipped together only a scrub lineup, composed, with three or four exceptions, of men who have hitherto served as understudies to the big shots and have no reputation in the country.

The Royalists are jubilant over the progress of their cause during the last few weeks and are confident that their strength will grow by leaps and bounds.

Says Republic Is Shaken.

"The republican régime is shaken," a spokesman for the party said. "We don't mean by this it will fall tomorrow, but there are unmistakable signs it is beginning to totter. Recent street demonstrations have shown that not only enrolled Royalists but a great majority of the French people want a radical change."

Daladier meanwhile went ahead with his housecleaning plans in connection with the revelations following the 60 million dollar Stavisky pawnshop bond scandal. He announced the new government would appear before the chamber of deputies on Feb. 6.

GOVERNOR PROMISES QUIZ ON LYNCHING OF FLORIDA NEGRO

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Hillsborough county authorities, ordered to act by Gov. Sholtz, said today's lynching of a Negro here by a group of unmasked men will be "thoroughly investigated" by the county grand jury as well as by a coroner's jury.

Robert Johnson, Negro, was shot five times and killed early today. Deputy Constable T. M. Graves said the mob took the Negro from him as he was transferring him to the county jail between 2:30 and 3:15 p. m.

Johnson was arrested Sunday for an alleged criminal attack on a young white woman. Officers said the young woman had identified clothing worn by Johnson as the same as that worn by her attacker, but that the criminal assault case still was under investigation.

Graves said he did not recognize any members of the mob who forced him to accompany them.

400 PASSENGERS MAROONED BY CANADA BLIZZARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 30.—The worst storm in twenty-five years today blew down the Matapedia valley, which extends from lower Quebec into New Brunswick.

The storm piled up immense snowdrifts in temperatures ranging from 10 to 22 degrees below zero and held up four crack Canadian National railway passenger trains between Campbellton, N. B., and Riviere du Loup, Que. Four hundred passengers on the trains were provided with food from near by towns, while relief crews were struggling through the snow to the rescue.

At Chicoutimi the snow was seven feet deep and roads as well as railway lines were blocked.

DAVE AND AIMEE MEET; HE FINDS IT WEE BIT CHILLY

Los Angeles, Cal. Jan. 30.—(AP)—Dave Hutton, baritone, late of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton's Angelus temple, made two ineffectual efforts to strike up a conversation with his estranged mate today, and received a cold reception from Aimee.

"I hear you had a good crowd out there," the affable Hutton remarked as they sat down around a table for her deposition in the ex-choir singer's divorce suit. He referred to a debate in which the evangelist engaged last night with Charles Lee Smith, self styled atheist, on evolution.

"Yes, there was a good crowd," Aimee replied, laconically.

Undaunted, Dave made another sally into the realm of conversation.

"I thought you were learning to fly."

"No," replied Aimee just as coldly, "I have been in a plane and taken the controls, that's all."

"Well, flying's bad business for some people," rejoined Hutton.

It was a flying elopement to Yuma, Ariz., that culminated in their marriage a few years ago.

HOW OFTEN have you tossed and turned, unable to sleep because of a tickling in the throat, or a slight cold? Just put Mistol Drops in each nostril before you go to bed—and see how much better you sleep! Mistol Drops safely soothe nose and throat irritation, whether from smoking or because you have caught cold.

If it's a cold that's coming on, stop it right where it starts—before it has a chance to spread. Colds are a germ infection, you know, and the nose and throat membranes offer an ideal place for cold germs to multiply and spread.

When you put Mistol Drops into your nose and let it run back into your throat, it spreads its healing medication into the deepest nose and throat passages, and stays there long enough to do you some good. What a relief, when your throat is hot and burning! Mistol Drops soothe, heal, protect!

Many cold treatments are too strong and harsh, but Mistol Drops, as your doctor will tell you, are mild and harmless. They contain no ephedrin.

Get the healthy habit of using Mistol Drops regularly. A few drops in the morning will help protect you against the disease germs you may breathe during the day: a few drops at night will keep your nose clear and clean, keep your breath sweet, make you breathe easily and sleep soundly.

Alumnae Club of Bryn Mawr Sponsors Show

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE young women who went to Bryn Mawr college and who live in and near Chicago have been wanting to give a benefit of some sort to raise money for the scholarship fund of this district for some time, but they couldn't seem to find anything that just suited them.

They considered this and that—you who have had no experience in such matters wouldn't imagine how hard it is to find something that gives promise of being a success to "take over"—and at last they hit upon what they consider the very best thing they could have found—the opening night of Cornelia Otis Skinner's engagement here the end of next month.

This talented young woman went to Bryn Mawr from 1918 to 1920 and has many friends here among the girls who were there at that time, so she always is entertained a lot when she is in Chicago. She is to open on Feb. 26 at the Selwyn theater and her program that night will be "The Loves of Charles II.," in which she wears 5 gorgeous costumes of the 17th century, so Mrs. John B. Allen told us yesterday. Which of Charles' many loves she impersonates in this entertainment we don't know, for that monarch had one wife, Catherine of Braganza, and seven mistresses, so history records, all of whom were mothers of his children except the queen.

Which ones Miss Skinner will bring to life on the stage of the Selwyn Mrs. Allen didn't know, either, but undoubtedly Nell Gwynn will be included. The others of the list from which Miss Skinner had to choose in portraying Charles II.'s loves are Lady Castlemaine, the duchess of Portsmouth, Lucy Walter, Catherine Peg, Lady Shannon, and Mary Davis.

Every one who saw Miss Skinner's delightful impersonation of "The Wives of Henry VIII." last year will be looking forward to this new monolog, so the Bryn Mawr alumnae anticipate that their benefit will be a great success. Mrs. Cecil Barnes is having the committee members to tea on Friday, Feb. 9. Miss Eloise Re Qua is general chairman.

Smith Professor to Visit Chicago.

The alumnae of another eastern college are looking forward to a visit this week from one of the most popular professors on the Smith college campus, Prof. Roy Welch, who is chairman of the department of music. He is coming to be the guest of the Chicago Smith College club and the Chicago College club at a joint meeting at 11 o'clock Saturday at the College club. He will give an illustrated lecture [illustrated on the piano] on "Convention and Revolt in Music."

The alumnae of still another eastern college are planning a benefit for next month for the Chicago Wellesley club will give a bridge party and fashion show on the afternoon of Feb. 20 in the ballroom of the Drake hotel. Mrs. William E. Schweitzer is general chairman. The proceeds will go to the club's scholarship fund which sends a girl from the Chicago area to Wellesley each year, one who otherwise would be unable to go.

About twenty-five young women, most of them post-debutantes, will be strolling in the handsome doors of the Woman's Athletic club on Michigan avenue shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon for the luncheon that Mrs. Le Roy Kramer and her daughter, Mrs. Richard M. Lamport [Julia Kramer] are giving for Miss Jean Hyman. Those who like a game of bridge will remain after the luncheon to play.

Junior Leaguers Study Stage Craft.

Ever up and coming, the young women who are concerned with the Junior league production of "Peter Pan" have persuaded their popular young director, Edson Rice, who will be here from New York for another couple of weeks, to give them a course in stage craft.

Their first meeting was yesterday morning in the Junior league office at 619 North Michigan avenue. In the next fortnight there will be five additional meetings that will give them all of the essentials of scenery, stage lighting, and stage setting.

Twenty "pupils" signed for the course yesterday, including Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III. and Mrs. Philip B. Maher, both of whom are real "artists" when it comes to stage design; Mrs. Robert White Jr., Miss Helen Bell, Miss Virginia Winston, Miss Alice Jaques, and Mrs. Robert M. Curtis.

The Junior league has announced that all of the tickets for the two remaining Saturday morning performances of "Peter Pan" are being handled through the Studebaker theater box office, not at the Junior league office.

Youngest Pupils Enter Domestic Art School.

Debutantes and post-debs may attend classes at the School of Domestic Arts and Science with more serious interests in mind, but the sewing teachers at the Belden avenue school haven't found any more precocious pupils than little Helen Burch and her baby sister, Elise.

Helen is only eight and Elise is just five, but they made up their minds at Christmas time when they found dolls in their stockings that they would have to have wardrobes for their little families and the only way to get what they wanted was to make the dresses, coats, and bonnets. The result is, their grandmother, Mrs. Paul Schulze, has registered them for the dressmaking course at the Domestic Science school.

They're the youngest pupils in the class and, it almost goes without saying, the only ones who are sewing doll

Necklines Get Headlines in Style News

The Neckline Is Style Key to New Frocks

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Know your new necklines if you would be an expert at labeling new frocks at a glance . . . for by their necklines the newest clothes are hung or not hung in the best wardrobes. Everything of interest and splendor is found around the neck and shoulder seams. Slashes and slits, gouged-out formations, triangles, squares, oblongs, and even half moon sections are to be found decorating and startling the front sectors of the attractively designed one piece dresses of the 1934 vintage.

With a simple, flawlessly tailored and cleverly cut black, navy or dark brown dress a good clothes hound can accomplish wonders of smartness and individuality. One shop has a famous collection of flowers, made of every conceivable material, that can be used on simple circular or V necklines. For instance, two languidly lovely white velvet calla lilies that can be twined around the high neckline with a slender lily crossing each shoulder seam. Quantities of poppies, white and colored, either small or outsize blooms, can be anchored to other necklines.

With just the average bit of imagination and resourcefulness you can accomplish ravishing results with ribbon . . . all kinds of two, three and four tone effects are available, stripes that make you gasp, checks, scrolls, squares, and all manner of different designs can be found on ribbons, satins, soft crepy weaves, and swishing perky taffetas.

Such a ribboned neckline has been photographed . . . it is a striped three toned red length of eye-filling taffeta frilled smartly around the shallow slash in the front of the frock. A glittering clip of rhinestones holds it together and it has been knowingly cut to fit super-smoothly at the back as a collar.

The other decorations for dark dresses are the white accents . . . a deep squarish cut linen collar, a huge white shaggy "mum" and a stunning half white and half navy blue belt. Both dresses can be found in a Chicago collection and show what can be accomplished with different necklines.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

There are few things in this life quite equal to the satisfaction that seeps into a woman's soul when she can march into her favorite beauty salon and grandly "get the works." There is something simply swell—elegant about reclining on a salon chaise longue while an operator with magic in her fingers gives you a treatment—a cleansing, an oiling, a massage, a toning and at the last an honest to goodness professional makeup. You feel like a Sybarite, and even if you're darkly uncertain about next month's rent it's a delicious feeling.

Too bad, isn't it, that this puts such a nick in the small budget? But since it can't be helped we small budgeteers have to satisfy ourselves with such sprees when we can afford them and home treatment when we can't. And then there is always the Spartan, questionably comforting thought that the body's trial is the soul's balm.

It's this home treatment angle we have on our mind today. There are some phases of a salon treatment that can't be given to oneself—but you can do plenty, madame and mademoiselle, that will do your soul and your skin a lot of good when you give yourself a home treatment. The creams you need, the lotions, and the gadgets are all over the place—easy to find. It's the knowledge of just the right steps, just the right movements that most of us need.

An enterprising Chicago woman who realized this has done something about it. Without charge any woman who is a bit uncertain about whether the massage stroke should be upward, downward, inward or outward can now stop in at a local beauty salon to learn each step by movie. Seated at a dressing table in the film is a woman who might be you or me—and just as we could if we knew how, she gives herself a treatment. Every step is demonstrated, even to patting, which should never be helter-skelter.

When you've seen the film you've had a sound lesson in skin care, a lesson you can use to advantage when you find yourself at your own dressing table with twenty minutes to spare. We think, with apologies to Mae Tinée, that it's a slick little movie that all beautiful and trying-to-be beautiful ladies should see.

Max Bendix Is Ill; Musicians to Give Testimonial Concert

A testimonial concert for Max Bendix, for many years a violinist and concert master, will be held on Feb. 18 in the Auditorium theater. The proceeds are to be given to Mr. Bendix, who is now recuperating from an illness in the University hospital.

Alice Mock, soprano; Ada Paggi, mezzo-soprano; Laurence Salerno, radio baritone, and Grace Nelson, pianist, will appear. Giacoma Spadoni will conduct a symphony orchestra recruited from the Chicago Grand Opera company, the Chicago Symphony, and the Little symphony.

Mr. Bendix made his professional appearance at the age of 9. He was concert master for the Theodore Thomas orchestra from 1886 to 1896.

Good Morning!

QUALITY: Fair.
MUSIC: Best thing about the piece.
DIRECTION: Unimaginative.
STAGING: Unremarkable.
PHOTOGRAPHY: So so.

ACTING: The male lead, Fritz Schultz, one of those plump, softie, sweet men, portrays a playboy husband and sings gutturally in a fair voice. Evelyn Laye—quite charming to behold and with a nice voice, is cast as a neglected wife with a sense of humor. In familiar operetta fashion she teaches her coy and philandering husband a lesson by donning disguise and luring him into making love to herself. Comedy is introduced by Jay Laurier as a jailer. He's pretty funny. Other rôles are performed ably enough.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Not much, I'm afraid. The story's too obvious and the film too long.

New Cars Stir Memories of Early Models

Recall Perilous Journey of Mrs. Armour.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

In 1899 Mrs. J. Ogden Armour piloted Chicago's first foreign pedigreed horseless carriage from her south side mansion at 37th street and Michigan avenue to the offices of Armour & Co., in the old Home Insurance building at Adams and La Salle streets.

Policemen stared in amazement. Horses snorted at the curious sight. Like the men that Cadmus planted, urchins and grownups sprang up from nowhere to get a bolt or a ball bearing for a souvenir. And when Mr. Armour came down from his office to ride home he declared firmly and finally, "Never again, Lolita, it isn't safe."

This week as floating power and knee action are rivaling monetary policy and subzero temperatures as dinner table topics, members of Chicago's pioneer families are recalling the days when their first automobile was a phenomenon more notable than a skyscraper. After dinner they are visiting the 1934 Automobile show at the Coliseum to compare the astonishing progress made in motor transportation in three short decades.

Proud as Mrs. Armour and the late Mr. Armour were of the more advanced models they acquired in later years, they always cherished an unequaled affection for the bright red Panhard that was their first gas car and the sensation not only of society but of Chicago. Just about the time they bought this automobile John W. Gates and Walden Shaw had duplicates imported from Europe.

There were a few American built cars on Chicago streets at the turn of the century. . . . Walter Keith had one and George Seaverns another . . . but they could not compare in size or beauty with the models that had been imported. The foreign cars were eight horse power. They had tiny tonneaus, long shanked steering wheels, bulbous horns, tall seats, conspicuous lamps, and of course no doors nor tops.

Mrs. Armour wishes she and Mr. Armour had kept their Panhard. Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine has kept the Mercedes acquired by her family 26 years ago. It's a duplicate of the car formerly used by Kaiser Wilhelm . . . red, 70 horse power, built like a "charabanc," with six seats that sit like rocking chairs and five gear shifts. Mrs. Valentine has the car at her summer home at Southampton and every year on her birthday takes it out to the delight of every one who vacations at the fashionable Atlantic seaboard resort. Some time she intends to give it to the Rosenwald Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park. All of the carriages, the Victorias, and the wagons that were once owned by Mrs. Valentine's family were presented several years ago to Henry Ford's museum at Dearborn, Mich.

"I'll never forget our first trip in the Mercedes," relates Mrs. Valentine. "We all went abroad together in 1908 and met the car in Cherbourg. Then we toured 6,000 miles."

The automobile was, of course, established as a successful experiment in Europe when it was only a rumor in this country. In 1901 Edward T. Blair wrote a letter to his mother, Mrs. William Blair, here telling her of the joys of a motor trip with Allison Armour through France. Meantime Mrs. Blair was sitting in her Michigan avenue window [the site of the Congress hotel] watching electrics make their way feebly up the avenue, usually accepting a hitch to reach Madison street.

And this recalls the story of the Woods electric that felt its way up Michigan from 22d street on a summer day in 1899 for the purpose of testing a city ordinance. This law, not long in effect, provided that horseless vehicles should keep off boulevards. Block after block crept the horseless carriage, sticking close by the curb, its occupants eyeing every policeman. Blue coats looked but gave no chase.

"H'm, they don't know about the law," speculated one of the passengers. Finally, with no prospect of arrest in sight, said passenger disembarked at the Auditorium corner and invited a policeman, sunning himself, to arrest them. They were booked at the Harrison street station. Soon after the ordinance was repealed and horseless vehicles were admitted to Chicago boulevards.

Mrs. Lois Kellogg was one of the first Chicagoans to undertake an extended trip by motor. Much to the astonishment of her friends she traveled to Springfield in 1902. After a series of back slides, punctures, minor explosions, and innumerable stops at farmhouses for water she reached her destination at the end of the third day.

James Hamilton Bell, who surprised his coachman by making a chauffeur out of him, owned one of the first Pierce Arrows in Chicago, a big black affair that a passenger entered from the rear? Meeting a trolley car unexpectedly one bright spring day, Mr. Bell won the encounter by upsetting the trolley and its load.

Mrs. Frank B. Mulford remembers gasoline fumes and broken ball bearings while a passenger with Rosecrans Baldwin and William B. Hale long before she was old enough to be a debutante.

The automobile had its difficulties in penetrating the strict conservatism of Lake Forest. Arthur L. Farwell introduced motor transportation there in 1904, but the town fathers considered it so dangerous that they passed a special ordinance for protection. This required a man on horseback to ride ahead of Mr. Farwell waving a red flag and ringing a copper dinner bell.

All of these reminiscences antedate by several years the automobile license, which came into being in 1907 when Sidney S. Gorham introduced a bill in the state legislature that later became law. As father of the law Mr. Gorham has always had license No. 1.

Social Register Lists Separate Addresses for Curtis B. Dalls

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The January dilatory domicile pamphlet of the New York Social Register, just issued, lists separate addresses for Curtis B. Dall and his wife, the former Anna Roosevelt, daughter of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Dall's residence is listed as Panache, an estate in north Tarrytown, N. Y., while the address of Mrs. Dall is given as the White House, Washington.

In the winter edition, issued last November, the Dalls' address was given as 49 East 65th street, Manhattan. This is the President's town house.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

IT was hard to tell which of the two was the more astonished. The driver of one car, speeding northwest on Peterson road last Sunday afternoon, squeezed past another driver, nearly scraping the second car, in the effort to make the green light.

Surprise—Ring—Neo-modern—Knee action.

"Freshie!" shouted the driver of the second car, rolling down the window and leaning out to be sure the other driver heard his epithet.

"O, yeh?" sneered the other right back. Staring thus at one another, mutual recognition was instantaneous. The freshie was a Scott street dweller and the other driver was his butler with his wife, the cook, seated beside him, taking a jaunt on their Sunday afternoon off.

HE was from out of town and he was inspecting the furniture in the modern furniture section of a loop store.

"What kind of furniture is this?" he asked the salesman.

"Neo-modern," laconically replied the salesman.

WE find the phrase "knee action" being mentioned continuously in connection with the new cars a mystifying phrase and were sympathetic with a woman friend who asked her husband if it meant you could drive with your knees. Apparently it is mystifying to the feminine mind in general, as indicated by the comment of a woman at the auto show the other day. She peered all around the front compartment of a new model and then opened the door and climbed into the front seat. She tried both pedals—the puzzled look remaining on her face; monkeyed with the gear shift lever, and then remarked:

"Well, I can't see that the knee action is any different in this car than any other. It takes just as much strength for me to push the pedals as it does in my old car."

REPORT BLAMES BAD PLUMBING FOR DYSENTERY

City Health Authorities Are Cleared.

A comprehensive report on the outbreak of amebic dysentery in Chicago during the summer and fall of last year was made public yesterday by a medical committee appointed at the request of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health.

The committee after investigating all possible angles of the epidemic placed principal blame upon faulty, old fashioned plumbing facilities. These facilities permitted water to be contaminated and it was from contaminated water, the committee found, that the disease originated.

800 Cases Considered.

Members of the committee were Dr. Albert J. Chesley, Minneapolis; Col. Charles F. Craig, M. D., retired, of New Orleans; Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, Chicago; Dr. Ludvig Hektoen, Chicago; Dr. Thomas Bird Magath, Mayo clinic; Dr. George W. McCoy, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Henry E. Meleney, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. F. W. O'Connor, Columbia university; Dr. Milton Portis, Chicago, and Abel Wolman, chief sanitary engineer, Maryland board of health.

The committee met in Chicago from Jan. 22 to Jan. 26, heard reports and inspected at first hand the various places suspected as the starting points of the dysentery. The studies were not confined to Chicago, but covered cities hundreds of miles away. The cases of some 800 persons afflicted with the disease were considered.

At the outset the committee's report stated that the steps taken to discover the cause of the disease were correct and were adequately and properly carried out. In fact, the outbreak might not have been recognized and traced to Chicago but for the action taken by the Chicago health authorities, the committee found.

Two Points of Infection.

The committee devoted considerable attention to two principal points of infection. Both these places, hotels catering to thousands of people, were found to get most of their water supplies from the city water mains. In both places the committee discovered:

1. Old and generally defective water and sewerage piping layouts, potentially, at least, permitting back siphonage of a number of fixtures, such as bath tubs and flush toilets, into water lines.

2. Chance breaks in sanitary sewers or heavy overflows of mixed sanitary sewage and storm water drainage in and outside of basements.

3. Cross connections of serious character between water and sewer lines or between water lines carrying potable water and water potentially subject to contamination.

Faults Are Corrected.

Many of these faults, the committee declares, are typical of the plumbing layouts and sewer systems in the older buildings in Chicago and other cities, and are a potential source of danger. Already the main plumbing faults have been corrected in the two places studied.

The committee described in detail the operation of these old plumbing systems and told how the record rains of last June 29 and July 2, when more than 4 inches of rain fell, flooded basements, inundated kitchens and otherwise carried danger of contamination. In such ways the disease originated, was contracted by restaurant workers and others, and spread to the public.

In its summary the committee recommended precautions for hotel and other employés who serve the dining public, and made general and specific recommendations relating to the correction of defective plumbing systems.

Board of Health Acts.

Dr. Bundesen issued a statement detailing what the board of health is doing to carry into effect the recommendations of the committee. He said the board and the department of public works are constantly conducting a search for illegal connections between safe and unsafe water supply systems and last year 1,050 such connections were found and removed.

An exhaustive study of the whole water and sewage systems of hotels with antiquated plumbing has been under way for weeks, Dr. Bundesen said, and any defects found are immediately ordered corrected. The study will include all hotels, hospitals, and larger office and factory buildings.

With reference to the recommendation that has to do with "the prevention of overflows of sewage in the basements of any hotel and for correction of antiquated plumbing and conditions of food handling," Dr. Bundesen said orders are being issued and followed up by thorough inspections both by plumbing and food inspectors.

A request for the emergency employment of twenty sanitary engineers for the use of the board of health has been made to the city council.

Recreation Center Is Mayor's Idea.

A formal request was submitted to the federal government yesterday by Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt for CWA labor and funds to transform the five and a half acre vacant lot southwest of the new United States postoffice into a small park that would furnish recreation to workmen and residents of the neighborhood.

The action was taken at the suggestion of Mayor Kelly, who has been advocating for some time the plan to make a downtown recreational center of the plot of ground. The lot, which is bounded by Harrison, Polk, Clinton, and Canal streets, was purchased by the government with the intention of building the postoffice on it.

Will Cost $145,000.

Commissioner Hewitt sent a communication to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., stating that "the city of Chicago earnestly petitions you to give permission to the CWA to beautify the site" as planned and asking that the government provide the funds necessary for materials and supplies.

City engineers have estimated that the plot can be beautified at a cost of approximately $145,000, of which $109,000 would be spent on CWA workmen's wages, and the balance for materials. A plan submitted by Walter Wright, city superintendent of parks and playgrounds, included the construction of a combined comfort station and shelter house, tennis courts, softball diamonds, and landscaping.

Mayor Suggests Fieldhouse.

Mayor Kelly offered the suggestion that a fieldhouse be constructed so the place could be made into an all year round recreational center. He pointed out that if the federal government would construct the building the city or west park board could probably find a way to finance its maintenance.

The park would be of value to the numerous government employés in the postoffice and other workers in the vicinity as well as to residents who are now so far removed from an open air space that outdoor recreation is almost impossible for them, the mayor said.

W. C. PERCIVAL, STAGE AND FILM WRITER, IS DEAD

Walter C. Percival, stage and screen writer, and twin brother of Mrs. Ralph T. Kettering of Chicago, died Monday night in Hollywood of heart disease, it was learned yesterday. He was 44 years old. Mr. Percival collaborated with Larry Evans in writing "Someone in the House" and "Among Those Present," which George Tyler produced with H. B. Warner as the star. Mr. Percival was known in England as author and star of "The Choice." He was born in Chicago and was educated in public schools and the University of Chicago. He is survived by his widow, known on the screen as Kate Campbell, and by his mother, twin sister, and a brother, Joseph.

HENRY ELFBORG, SHIP CHANDLERS' FIRM HEAD, DIES

Henry G. Elfborg, president and treasurer of H. Channon company, ship chandlers, for the last 15 years, died yesterday in his home at 2350 Lincoln Park West. He was 63 years old. His death was attributed to complications which resulted from an operation last fall.

Mr. Elfborg was born in Sweden and came to this country in 1890. He became a civil engineer and was the inventor of several devices used in railroad construction. He was an official of the Ajax Forge company for 23 years. He was a Mason, a life member of the Chicago Art institute, the Electric club, the Chicago Athletic association, the Chicago Golf club, and a director of the Augustana hospital.

Surviving are his widow, Mary, and two daughters, Jane and Ruth. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at the Fourth Presbyterian chapel. Department managers of the Channon company will be pallbearers. Interment will be at Graceland cemetery.

WILLIAM LLOYD, DRINKING FOUNT INVENTOR, DIES

William H. Lloyd, 75 years old, 1638 Winona avenue, a retired sanitation engineer and inventor, died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage. He had been a resident of Chicago for thirty years. Before his retirement four years ago he was associated with the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company, maker of plumbing supplies. He had spent sixty years of his life in the improvement of sanitation and had invented thirty-two devices in that field, the most prominent being the bubbling drinking fountain. Surviving are his widow, Margaret; two daughters, Wilma and Alice, and two sons, Phillip and Llewellyn.

R. P. HOLLETT, 78, CHICAGO LAWYER, DIES IN FLORIDA

News reached Chicago yesterday of the death Jan. 16 in Sarasota, Fla., of Rhoderick P. Hollett, Chicago attorney. He was 78 years old. Admitted to the bar in Columbia, S. C., in 1879, he came to Chicago in 1881 after his marriage to the daughter of the Rev. A. C. George, at that time pastor of the Centenary M. E. church.

Attorney Hollett served as attorney for the town of Lake until it became part of Chicago. For years he was a member of the board of the First M. E. church of Evanston; president of the board of the Lake Bluff Orphanage, and legal adviser to the National Sunday school board of the M. E. church.

Surviving are the widow, Elinor, of the Windermere hotel, and three children, Mrs. G. J. Symington of Los Angeles, Capt. George L. Hollett of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. W. S. Davison of Auburn, N. Y.

DOUBLEDAY, N. Y. PUBLISHER, DIES IN HIS 72D YEAR

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Frank Nelson Doubleday, 72, prominent New York publisher, died here late today. Although he had been in ill health for many months, death, due to an internal hemorrhage, came unexpectedly.

"Made Publishing Business."

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Frank Nelson Doubleday was known to the book world here as "the man who made publishing a business."

He was the first man to realize the possibilities of Joseph Conrad as an author. He kept a list of "writers who write." They were the authors whose works he accepted and published.

Among them were O. Henry, Rudyard Kipling, Gene Stratton Porter, Booth Tarkington, Edna Ferber, Rider Haggard, C. N. and A. N. Williamson, William McFee, and a host of others who achieved fame in the world of literature.

He was born in Brooklyn in 1862, schooled there in the Brooklyn Polytechnical institute, and entered the employ of Charles Scribner's Sons, publishers, in 1877.

The name of Doubleday entered the lists of book publishers in 1897 when S. S. McClure joined with Doubleday in a publishing enterprise which lasted three years. Then Doubleday met Walter Hines Page, later ambassador to England, and the firm became Doubleday, Page & Co.

The publisher included among his enterprises the World's Work, Country Life, Garden Magazine, Short Stories, and other magazines.

clothes. Most of the rest of the students are post-debs with spring weddings in mind. There are Miss Eleanor Cushman, who is engaged to Charles G. Kimball; Miss Louise Dewey, who is to become Mrs. Edward B. Smith; Miss Chloe Watson, whose engagement to Pierre Bouscaren was announced last fall, and Miss Grace Dewes, who with George S. Oram is making plans for a late spring wedding.

Miss Imogene Bucklin, who is to wed Frederick M. Hurd a week from Saturday, is finishing up her domestic science course this week with final examinations, and so is Miss Carolyn Erminger, who has set April 30 for her marriage to John de Laittre.

Lighthouse Aids to Meet Friday.

The Lighthouse Volunteer Aids will meet Friday morning at 11:30 o'clock in the home of the president, Mrs. Wilbur C. Smith, at 1400 State parkway. Miss Betty Brawley, the Aids' publicity manager, is very anxious that the new members come to the meeting, for it is at that time that the date for the annual spring party will be set and the plans for its success formulated.

Last year, it will be remembered, the party was a dinner-dance, given in May, in Old Heidelberg at A Century of Progress, before the Fair opened. This year, too, the party will be given in May.

Mrs. George Rasmussen of 3400 Sheridan road will be a hostess at tea Friday afternoon, and her guests will be members of the committee in charge of the Red, White, and Blue club benefit to be given Sunday afternoon at the Auditorium theater. George Gershwin is the steller attraction of the benefit, which is certain to be one of the most enjoyable of the winter.

The Arts Club of Chicago has sent out invitations to its members for a dinner at 7:30 o'clock a week from Sunday to meet Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schoenberg. Later in the evening the Chicago Symphony orchestra will give the first Chicago performance of Mr. Schoenberg's Kammer Symphonie, Op. 9.

Find New Things in Bead Pictures.

Before Mrs. Patrick C. Hill (the former Genevieve Carpenter, whose home is now in Fort Worth, Tex.) went out to Lake Forest the beginning of this week to be with the Shreve Badgers, she stopped at the Art institute to see the lovely bead pictures her kinswoman, Mrs. Frank B. Mulford, has loaned for exhibit there this month.

Mrs. Hill, unfortunately, is in Chicago primarily for the purpose of a tonsil operation. But now that the operation is successfully completed and she is well on the road to recovery, she is thinking about her return to Fort Worth.

Incidentally, Mrs. Hill and several of the other friends of Mrs. Mulford who have visited the Art institute this week have found in the bead pictures things they didn't observe in a casual way the day of the Antiquarians' reception. There are three pictures that have their dates woven into their designs. One of them, an Italian piece, is marked 1816; nother which came from Germany is dated 1827, and an exquisite French picture was made in 1823. These dates, needless to say, make the pictures especially rare.

It was in Poland that Mrs. Mulford acquired her first bead pictures and became so delighted with it that she decided to collect the rarest and finest examples she could find. Most of those she has now she has reframed, interpreting the mood of the picture in the new frame.

"And this is a strange thing for me to do," comments Mrs. Mulford, "this variety in framing, because always I have wanted uniformity in picture framing." Testimony to this feeling are the eight etchings that decorate the walls of the Mulfords' near north side apartment. Each etching is an original and very different, but all are framed alike.

Although Mrs. Mulford has changed the frames on her bead pictures, she has never repaired them in any way. She is one of those collectors who prefers a hole with old world flavor to a perfect piece tinged with the modern.

Cradle to Resume Tiffin Musicals.

The Cradle is resuming the tiffin musicals that it had last year in its little buffet luncheon room that is run the year around for the benefit of the little orphanage, and the first one will be given next Monday at 11 o'clock. Bruno Steindel, cellist, and Doris Wittich, pianist, will give the program. Mrs. William Barnes is chairman of the committee in charge.

According to tradition the directors of Madonna center have set April 28 as the date for their eleventh annual party. This next week they will go to work to find the most attractive place possible for the setting. Every year the directors have chosen the last Saturday in April for the party.

Young Frank Vanderlip is beginning to think a month is incomplete without at least one trip from New York to Chicago. He was here around the holidays. He came again for the Carr-Sampsell wedding and now he is in town once more, this time with his father, Frank Vanderlip, and his sister, Virginia.

The purpose of this trip was the senior Mr. Vanderlip's address Monday evening before the Union League club. They are planning to return east late today or tomorrow.

Stuart Logans Go to Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Logan left yesterday for two months in Miami, where it is hoped Mr. Logan will recover entirely from the illness which has kept him away from business for the last month.

Mrs. Carter H. FitzHugh and her daughter, Miss Mildred FitzHugh, Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody and her younger son, Patrick Healy Peabody, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen V. Horton, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Compton are among the Chicagoans aboard a cruise steamer that sailed last Friday from New York. Mrs. Peabody and Pat will leave the cruise at Jamaica to spend the rest of the winter on that delightful island and the Comptons also will leave the ship at Jamaica. They will be there several weeks and then will fly home via Miami.

Who Said the Weather's Cold?

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ainslie Bear of New York City announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Cecile, to Philip Edwin Crystal, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Crystal of New Rochelle, N. Y. Miss Bear is a niece of the late Max Pam and of Judge Hugo Pam of Chicago. She is a graduate of the Horace Mann school and is now a junior at Connecticut college. Mr. Crystal attended Cornell university and is in business in New York. The wedding will take place in June.

Open Chamber Music Series; Good Playing

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Chamber music took a decided turn upward last night when the Mischakoff String quartet played the first of a series of four concerts in the foyer of Orchestra hall. The series has been organized by the Chicago Chamber Music committees, of which the managing committee has Mrs. Ralph H. Norton as chairman and Mrs. Alfred M. Wolfe as treasurer, with Miss Eleanor Block, Mrs. Harry Lackritz, and Mrs. Thomas Marshall as other members. The advisory group consists of Charles H. Hamill, Augustus S. Peabody, Albert A. Sprague, Frederick A. Stock, and Charles H. Swift.

An audience of gratifying size was present, and the quartet introduced the series with some playing of uncommon merit. The quartet, Mischa Mischakoff, Samuel Thaviu, Milton Treves and Daniel Saidenberg, all members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, are first class individual players who have developed a fine ensemble, a matter of each one knowing what the other three are doing and fitting his own performance in with theirs.

Three numbers were on the program, a fine old work by Mozart, H. Waldo Warner's clever, glittering "The Pixy-Ring," and the opus 10 by Debussy. Here were interpretations in three different manners, yet all of them maintaining clarity, balance, and lovely tone.

The next concert will be on Feb. 26 by the Philharmonic String quartet, another organization from the ranks of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. In March and April the Mischakoff organization will return for the two final concerts.

Vecheslova, prima ballerina, and Chabukani, male star, both from the Marinsky theater, Leningrad, will make their first Chicago appearance on the stage of Orchestra hall tonight. They are the first soviet ballet dancers to have been allowed permission to visit America.

Comments from New York, where they have been appearing, are to the effect that they can leap high and whirl faster than perhaps any other dancers alive, and there are such other words of approval as "hilarious," "forthright charm," and "disarming youthfulness of spirit."

Bride Today

[Swisher Photo.]

Miss Jasmine Romney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Romney, 2545 North Sawyer avenue, will marry John K. Edmunds of Chicago in Salt Lake City today. Mr. Edmunds, an attorney, is the son of Mrs. Frieda K. Edmunds, 2425 North Kedzie boulevard. They will spend their honeymoon in the Rockies. They will reside at 2623 North Spaulding avenue.

Chicago Memorial Hospital Operates Without Deficit

Despite an average occupancy during 1933 of about 50 per cent, the Chicago Memorial hospital, through economy measures operated without a deficit, Raymond M. Ashcroft, president, announced yesterday at the annual meeting.

"Of the total services rendered during the year 34 per cent were charitable, 52 per cent part pay patients, and the remainder regular pay patients," Mr. Ashcroft said.

Wash Dress Exhibit Features Variety of Cotton Goods Styles

A diversified array of new materials and novel color combinations characterizes the cotton dresses being displayed at the Wash Dress and Children's Apparel show at the Merchandise Mart. More than 125 manufacturers from coast to coast are showing fashions for spring and summer clothes. Everything from morning and afternoon frocks, garden party and dance wear to special sports and beach wear, and all styles of children's dresses and coats are emphasizing a wide variety of cotton materials, according to the manager, T. J. Reed.

A style show for buyers was held yesterday under the direction of Miss Thelma Roberts. Smart sport and street costumes were seen in the new "tailored lace" and "strong lace"; "awning cloth," peasant linens, and Roman striped seersucker. The favored material for party dresses was plaid organdy with gloves to match.

The show, which began Monday, will continue through Feb. 10.

Asserts Japan Will Seize Philippines if United States Leaves

Declaring opposition to the granting of Philippine independence while Japan stands ready to seize the islands, Dr. Cosette Faust-Newton, traveler and the possessor of twelve university degrees, spoke before the Rotary club luncheon at the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

The militaristic group in Japan, and not the Japanese people, was cited by Dr. Faust-Newton as the reason for her warning. "Japan must expand," she said. "The most obvious thing for the Japanese to do if we stepped out of the Pacific would be to use the same measures they did in the acquisition of Manchuria; first, a peaceful colonization and gradual absorption of leading industries, which has already been partly accomplished; then a swift military maneuver which would win absolute power."

BY MARY MEADE.

Once upon a time liver was looked upon as little better than dog meat. Remember? It costs so little that it can't be good, was the way folks put it. Then searching scientists discovered that this same liver was astonishingly high in the food iron which combats anemia, and builds good blood, and in the whole lineup of vitamins which protect against "hidden hungers" and disease. And at once reputation and price soared together.

Of course, that was calf's liver. It was slightly more tender and desirable than that from its parents, so at the old time low price beef and pork liver were simply not on the social register.

But a chance discovery in the laboratory has now upset the apple cart again. While calves proudly zoom their liver prices, wily housewives are turning to beef livers instead, and discovering, to their glee, that plus being more penny saving than calves' livers they're also more distinguished for food value.

But don't consign all this bargain liver to the frying pan. Eating it thus, even though our beloved deep fried onions come along, becomes pretty monotonous. Instead, as a starter for variations try

1½ pounds beef liver [one piece]
¼ cup bacon drippings
¼ cup flour
1 medium onion, sliced thin
2 carrots, sliced thin
1 cup chopped celery
3 cups diced, raw potatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ cup minced salt pork
2½ cups canned tomatoes

Melt the bacon fat in a frying pan. Dredge the liver with flour and then sear it until brown on both sides in the fat. Hoist it out of the pan and into a casserole, adding on top the sliced carrots and onion, also the potatoes and celery. Season between the layers, and pour the tomatoes over all. Sprinkle with the chopped pork and bake with a cover in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 2½ hours. This will satisfy six husky appetites.

And have you ever stuffed an especially plump, luscious liver? This does the trick:

STUFFED BAKED LIVER.

Wipe a small beef liver with a damp cloth, then cut it with a sharp knife to make a pocket. Better start the cut at the thick end. Have ready a highly seasoned bread dressing held together with a little egg and made nippy by a small chopping of onion. Now skewer the opening with woodpins [not calling them "toothpicks" any more, you know!] and lard the top of the liver with salt pork. This is sometimes done with a regular larding needle, which carries the fine thread of salt pork into the liver and leaves it there. Or, if the needle is not among your kitchen gadgets simply cut slashes in the upper side of the liver, laying narrow strips of salt pork in the cuts. Now stir together a tablespoon each of butter and flour, a teaspoon of salt, and 3 cups of meat stock. If you haven't stock on tap use 3 cps of boiling water in which you've dissolved 3 bouillion cubes. Pour this uncooked sauce over the liver and bake in a casserole for 1½ hours, using a moderate oven. Baste the liver with the sauce every 10 or 15 minutes. This stuffed laddie is delectable preceded by tomato cocktail and served with fried onions, green peppers stuffed with macaroni, a crisp salad, a light dessert, and coffee.

We've tried a variety of liver loaves, and I believe this turns out to be one of the best. It's temptation itself when served with chili sauce or with horseradish cream.

BEEF LIVER LOAF.

1 pound beef liver
1 cup toasted bread crumbs
1-3 cup minced fresh pork
2 tablespoons tomato catsup
1 egg, beaten
Juice of ½ lemon
1 tablespoon minced onion
Salt and pepper to taste

Skin the liver, slice, and cook in boiling salted water for 5 minutes. Grind it and add the remaining ingredients. Turn the loaf into a greased baking pan and pack firmly. Lay strips of bacon over the top and bake at moderate heat [350 degrees F.] for 1½ hours.

Harriet Davidson to Wed N. Y. Theatrical Producer

Miss Harriet Davidson, former Evanston girl who went to New York for a stage career, last night confirmed reports that she is to be married to John R. Sheppard Jr., New York theatrical producer. Miss Davidson is visiting friends, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, 1615 Ridge avenue, Evanston. The marriage will probably take place Saturday in St. Luke's Episcopal church in Evanston, she said. She is the daughter of Carl Davidson, Chicago attorney.

THE WILD BIRD

By OWEN JOHNSON

SYNOPSIS.

Barbara Brawne, aged 22, is completely dominated by an adoring though jealous father, who is against every modern idea and improvement. Lynwood, their home, is in the prim and proper village of Oxbridge, a place of intellectual sanctity. Barbara seems predestined to join the ranks of the village spinsters. She contemplates rebellion. Gregory Rance, popular novelist, is visiting her cousin, Laurie Chiswick. They are mutually attracted. Barbara overhears Rance asking Laurie about her. He says she is the sort of girl he'd want to marry. Laurie leaves and Barbara makes her presence known to Rance. She asks him to marry her. But when she learns he is divorced, she tells him it is hopeless and leaves him. Gregory feels humiliated. The Chiswicks give a party to announce the engagement of Laurie's sister, Elizabeth.

INSTALLMENT XV.

RESENTMENT.

Fred Chippinway added in a whisper, "The Buttles always move in flocks of three. It'll amuse you to know why they never married. They had special reasons. Miss Anna couldn't make up her mind between two equally eligible suitors. Miss Susan's financé had a drop on the end of his nose and Miss Fanny just couldn't believe in the love of a suitor who proposed by letter. See the old lady with the false front, sitting over there in the corner. I thought she was dead these ten years. Eighty-six, if she's a day! And look at Tony fidgeting over there. He never gives a party, but he looks as though he regretted it. There's a good looking girl with red hair. Well, how are you? Everything all right? Good!"

A woman passed, and Chippinway darted forward.

Meanwhile, Peter Van Valgah, magnificent in swelling white shirt front, with his beautifully brushed side whiskers, was making his courtly rounds, inquiring with the dignity of a reigning potentate as to the favorite complaints of the dear old ladies, while Killian, his brother, slender and svelte, bent over the hands of the younger matrons. He had the low, tea cup pitch to his voice, so disturbing to the spinsters of the second and third degree, who fondly looked upon him as the last possibility and beamed as he discoursed brilliantly on mutual ailments, the comparative records of the weather, and gave his pronouncements on who was who and who was not. The youngest generation slouched in, stared at the antiquities who frowned on them from the camp stools, and moved towards the punch bowl. Around the room, fragments of conversation could be heard.

"Miss Mintie, it's a pleasure to see you as young and charming as ever."

"Hello, you big bum, when did you kick in?"

"When do we drink?"

"I remember her great aunt's wedding."

"Sarah Chiswick?"

"No, no! Annie. What a grand air she had."

"What's this scandal about the Prouties?"

"My dear, haven't you heard? Why, she is divorcing Jo to marry——"

"Well, in my day a girl who dressed like that——"

"Wasn't her mother a Colbert?"

"Why here comes dear Miss Buttles."

"What a world ours must seem to them," he thought, "and yet, only a generation between us. I suppose what I write is anathema—if they ever have heard of me at all. I must brush up on them. Background. The roots—the causes of rebellion. They are rather dears, though. When we are grandmothers and grandfathers we shan't do so well." He glanced at the critics row where a dozen of the older ladies were plying their lorgnons. "Like a shelf of old romances. If I could only take them down, one by one, and read. What a quaint old house. Real people have lived in it—and kept it, gone up and down the stairs, grand old stairs, wonderful old engravings, real people, holding to each other. The family idea. Is it gone or will we grope back to it, hungry and disillusioned? Background, background, that's what I lack. I must relate things to the past. I'm only a reporter—we're all reporters, reporting the things that flash around us. We don't go back far enough. We are too impatient to attack. After all, it's all one. The quality that made them fanatics and prudes is the same that makes their grandchildren rebels and agnostics. And tomorrow, other generations will revolt against us. The pendulum swings. Yesterday is always a part of today. By Jove! I'm glad I saw this."

The aunts passed. He heard some one address them as Miss Brawne, and his thoughts flew back to Barbara. Would she come?

If she didn't she was afraid of him. If she did? He drew back so as to watch the entrance. All at once he saw her coming down the stairs. His glance went up as hers went down and met his. She nodded gravely, put out her hand to the bannister and continued deliberately. At the same moment the orchestra broke out into a gay rhythm. There was a chorus of exclamations, and the crowd about him surged forward to the inner rooms, enveloping Barbara and carrying her with it. Had she purposely avoided him? He was not sure. All the resentment he had felt flamed fiercely within him. He wanted to hurt her, without acknowledging that she had the power to hurt him.

"If I make no effort to speak to her?" he thought. "Ignore her completely. Treat it like an episode—that's what she deserves."

He waited a moment and then drifted in seeking her figure in the crowd The doors had been flung open on the terrace. Japanese lanterns were swinging over the dancers, the elms beyond, rising like thunder clouds against the stars. After a time he saw her under a yellow and vermilion lantern talking to a group. She was in a robe de style, silver, gray, and black, an old-fashioned necklace, diamonds, sparkling in a silver lace setting on her brown throat. The black hair was parted in the middle, and rippled back from the temples, leaving the forehead clear and brilliant. The dark eyes were the larger for the shadows beneath them that traced faint Vs. She was smiling.

"Why does she smile?" he thought irritably. "She sees me looking at her and pretends she doesn't." He continued to watch her, obsessed. "Just what she should wear. What a lovely body and what instinctive grace. All the rest are types, she is some one. Whom does she remind me of?" He remembered a remark of hers. "Jane Eyre, or better, Elizabeth Browning. A little of both. In more ways than one. Not Victorian though, so much as Second Empire. A woman Victor Hugo or Alfred de Musset might have loved. Shall I ask her to dance? Still, no one knows we have met." A sudden inspiration made him smile. He knew how he could turn the tables on her.

She had seen him and no one else, ever since she had entered, watching him apprehensively.

"He hates me," she thought, "because he does not understand. He hates me and will not speak to me."

All at once she heard Evangeline say:

"Barbara, this is Gregory Rance, who wants to meet you."

"But we have met before," she said, falling back on the smile she had worn all evening as her mask.

"Yes, but so casually," he said grimly.

"How he resents me," she repeated with conviction.

"May I have this dance, Miss Brawne?"

She raised her arm and moved a step nearer him, thinking:

"Whatever he says, I shan't blame him."

When he put his arm around her, the music stopped, but he did not release her, waiting while the dancers clapped for an encore. Then they began to dance silently through the surging crowd which pressed them together, at times swaying from foot to foot, hardly moving. She closed her eyes. At the end of the encore he brought her back to the group and departed with a bow. Not a word had been exchanged.

When Girl Pays for Boy It Is Her Own Fault

Any Male Will Take What Is Given Freely.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Will you print an article about men who let their girl friends pay for shows and give them money when they are out of work? Doesn't a girl lose all respect for one who does this sort of thing? TROUBLED."

If you're a victim, Troubled, you know whether respect is held or lost through the form of conduct described. So how about writing an article about girls who contribute to the named delinquency? Wouldn't that seem more to the point? After all, the practice would die a quick death were girls not willing victims. It is a voluntary act on the part of the girl, you see. There is no law, moral or legal, to bind her to the giving. The young man doesn't even rob her of the money. She gives merely because she is asked and she has not the stamina to decline. In fact, if you trail this giving-paying trait to its lair you'll discover that there is a very definite weakness behind the gift. The girl is afraid she'll lose her man if she does not comply with his money request. She fears she will not have his company unless she arranges the evening financially. In other words, she is the coward of the two if you look at it that way, or she is paying for the privilege of the man's company.

It's despicable for a young man to trade on a girl's affection to the extent of tapping her for loans. No matter how hard up he may be it's inexcusable. On the other hand, we repeat: So long as "no" remains in the English language the girl has only herself to blame for being victimized. And let it be added, it is a rare girl or woman indeed who doesn't, in her heart, believe herself victimized under the circumstances. But with a weak one's well known ability to shift the blame she won't admit that she's in the wrong.

What good would preaching on the subject to young men do if said young men could still find women willing to finance them? Besides it's human nature to accept without fuss or feathers, or even gratitude, that which is come by for the mere asking, which is the reason why young women of the giving hand are usually dealt with unappreciatively and why they eventually get a bit sour themselves on their open-handed policy.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Mrs. Roosevelt this afternoon attended the concert of the Boston Symphony orchestra, Serge Koussevitsky, conductor. She was accompanied by Mrs. Cordell Hull, wife of the secretary of state; Miss Marion Dickerman, and Miss Marguerite Le Hand.

Senator and Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis entertained at dinner for the following fellow Chicagoans now in the capital: Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Townsend McKeever, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, Edward H. Bennett, Ambrose Cramer, and Mr. and Mrs. Adlai Stevenson. Washington guests included: Rear Admiral and Mrs. Mark Bristol, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Emanuel Lombard of the French embassy; Mrs. Demarest Lloyd, Mrs. Henry Corbin, Señor Don Eduardo Vivot of the Argentinian embassy, and Lady Lister-Kaye, here from London.

Mrs. William Fitch Kelley of Aurora, Ill., and Washington entertained at luncheon today at the Mayflower and had as her ranking guests Mrs. Stone, wife of Justice Harlan Fiske Stone, and Mrs. William Howard Taft, widow of the chief justice and former President. Mrs. Kelley's thirty guests were seated at small tables in the Palm court.

Right Posture Adds Inches to Dumpy Figures

Youthful Poise Is Reward of Good Carriage.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Small girls, who would crave an inch or more of height, and big girls, who'd crave an inch or two less of waist should look into the possibilities of posture.

If the small girl does not carry herself erectly, ordinarily, and does try out a good, erect carriage, and she has a measuring rod handy, she can plainly see on the measuring rod that an inch, an inch-and-a-half, even two inches, may be added with the changed position of the body. And the girl with the thick waist and diaphragm may experience an exciting moment, measuring herself in her ordinary posture and in the new and better one.

That's only one thing the nice posture does for you. Besides it makes your frock look a thousand times better. No model, no matter how expensive, has an air unless the body it was made for is carried with an air. Then, there's a powerful lot of youth in the way one carries herself. I don't think anything, excess weight or a deformity, has the ageing effect of a badly poised and badly carried body. There's something which gets into the feet to lift them lightly when you have the trick of good posture down fine, something very gay and young and charming.

If you've been standing or sitting badly for years, it is not going to be so easy to perk right up and be the gay young thing you might be. You have to strengthen the tone of the shoulder and back muscles before they will stand alone. And there's a delightfully simple exercise, one of the renowned West Pointers, by the way, that is excellent. Hold a broom handle at hands-length down in front of you. This is count one. Raise to count two by bringing handle up chest height. Count three, raise handle high overhead. Count four, bring it down to shoulder blades in back. Count five, down to buttocks, pause and come back, counting, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5. This is a good exercise for chest and back, too, since it automatically "places" them.

Now, for another simple straightener. Hold the shoulders steady, arms bent, hands about ear level. Keep elbows forward, but turn wrists back and raise the chest.

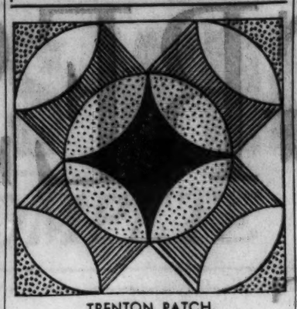
Historical Event Is Theme of This Interesting Quilt



TRENTON PATCH.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is another of those interesting historical quilt blocks which owe their designing to the famous Battle of Trenton. The oft repeated story of Washington's famous defeat of the Hessians, in December of 1776 and January of 1777, is the inspiration of the "Trenton Patch." The original was made as colorful as the combined uniforms of the two armies. It is pieced in blue, yellow, red, and white.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send five cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn street.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE PROOF OF THE PI

THEN I'M TO CORRECT THE TYPE I SET YESTERDAY!
YES, ACCORDING TO THIS MARKED PROOF.
Mrs. Alexander Higtosser has just returned from Florida. Al reports that he lost the largest sail fish ever seen in the gulf stream. He knew it was a hodey when it struck! says Al. And he pulled it off his feet Al says, if he hadn't kept his head.
he played it a minute before it broke water and got away. Then it leaped 6 feet in the air and was he surprised when he found it to be a 2 master with schooner rig.
LOOK, MR. QUAD, I'VE GOT PART OF THE TYPE ALL MIXED UP.
OH OH, SKEEZIX! THAT'S WHAT WE CALL PI.
PIE? WHY DO THEY CALL IT PIE?

Events on the Stage

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Katharine Hepburn's Chicago appearance in "The Lake" will begin Sunday, Feb. 18, instead of Monday, Feb. 19, as first announced. She will have an engagement of two weeks in the Erlanger theater, but not as a part of the subscription season of the American Theater society, whose next offering at the Erlanger will probably be "Double Door."

Miss Hepburn will bring her entire company, now at the Martin Beck theater of New York, without a change in the cast. Among the distinguished players who will be seen with her are Blanche Bates, Frances Starr, Colin Clive, Lionel Pape, Philip Tonge, Vera Fuller-Mellish, and Eva Leonard-Boyne.

The tour that Miss Hepburn will undertake at the close of her current New York run [Feb. 10] will be of only eight weeks' duration.

Raymond Hackett has been engaged for the rôle of Don Juan in Melaine Koll's drama, "The Mad Lover," to be staged in the Punch and Judy theater Feb. 9. The first announcements of this play named Glenn Hunter for its hero. Hackett was prominent in the long New York run of "The Cradle Snatchers," and since then has been in the Hollywood army of actors."

A revival of "Peter Ibbetson" [the play, not the opera] is being planned for the Studebaker theater to succeed "Elizabeth Sleeps Out," now in performance there. Horace Sistare, manager of Randall Productions, Inc., the firm now holding the lease to the Studebaker, thinks that Rollo Peters, recently of "Autumn Crocus," will be the right man for the title rôle of "Peter Ibbetson," which was first acted on the American stage by John Barrymore.

"Artists and Models," a revue whose title recalls Broadway shows of ten and fifteen years ago, is now being given as the stage entertainment at the Palace theater. Jans and Whalen, chatty comedians, and Jimmy Savo, a droll pantomimist, are the leading performers. This show contains handsome stage settings, some excellent singing, and an attractive group of dancing girls who bear the Chester Hale trademark.

One Youngster Rebels Against 'Team' Athletics

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

I wonder if teachers ever realize how much thinking and sizing up children do. I don't mean thinking about history or geography or whether A walks X miles and B walks Y miles, they will ever meet at all—and what difference does it make anyhow! What I mean is, thinking about school and education—about schooling as it is and education as it might be. This present crop of boys and girls is not such an "accepting" generation as the one or two that went before. It may have to fall in with a lot of things it doesn't approve of—but it's doing a lot of thinking at the same time.

Here's a thirteen year old talking over the athletic program of his boarding school:

"The whole afternoon every day is spent on team work. Building up the team—that's all the athletics are. Well, that's not so hot. I don't care a norful lot for competitive athletics—I like games but not in such a businesslike way.

"Now that was one thing I liked about A—— school. The different classes had teams and we played against each other but we could do other things besides in the afternoons. When there was snow we had all kinds of winter sports and you could get a bunch of boys together and play play any game you liked."

The Real Tragedy of

DOUG and MARY

BY

Adela Rogers St. Johns

● What happened to this greatest love story of modern times, now tragically ended in divorce? What was lacking, with apparently every wish fulfilled—love, fame, youth, beauty, health, wealth? Those who have loved Mary and Doug, who have looked on them as models of domestic happiness, want to know—are entitled to know.

Now the whole sensational story has been told, by an intimate friend of Mary and Doug—written with sympathy but with utter frankness. In the February 10th issue, now on sale, Adela Rogers St. Johns gives the readers of Liberty the unvarnished truth. No important fact is concealed—because in this intensely dramatic story is a lesson for every lover, every wife, every husband. It is an important human document, that YOU can profit by. BEAUTY and PROGRESS
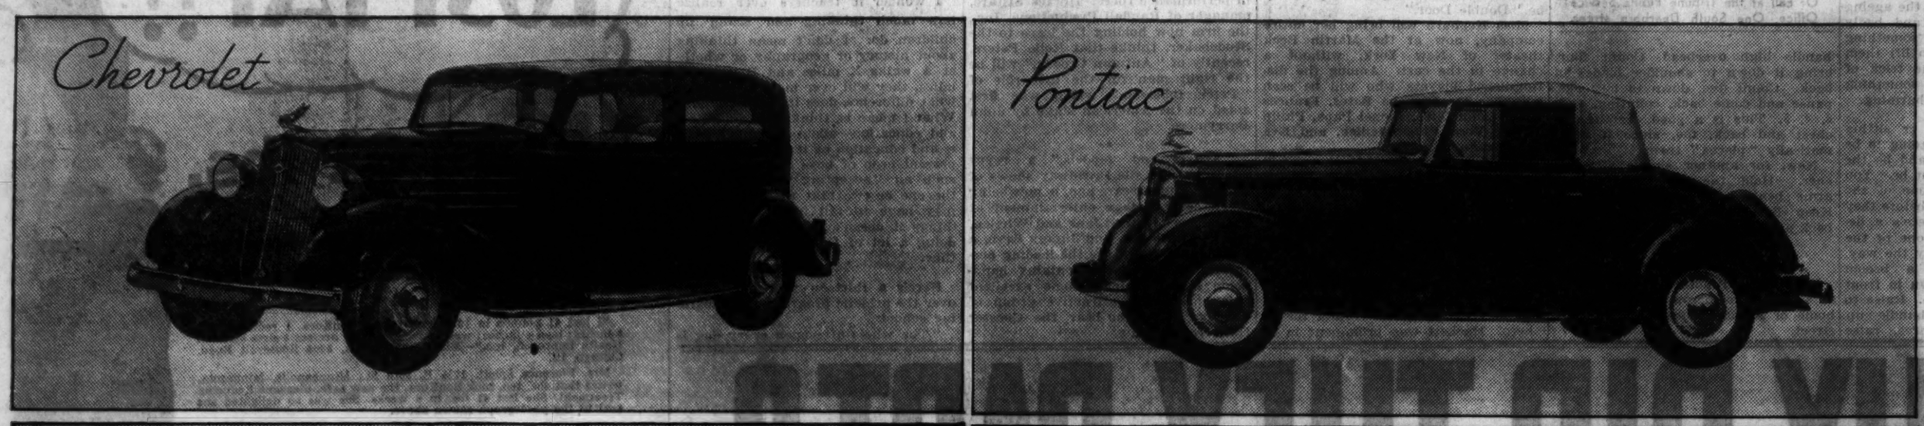
by GENERAL MOTORS



WHAT DO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE THINK IS BEAUTIFUL? The comments that you made at the Automobile Show were caught by eager ears listening for every murmur of criticism or praise.

We KNOW what today's Americans are saying of beauty in automobiles.

They say:

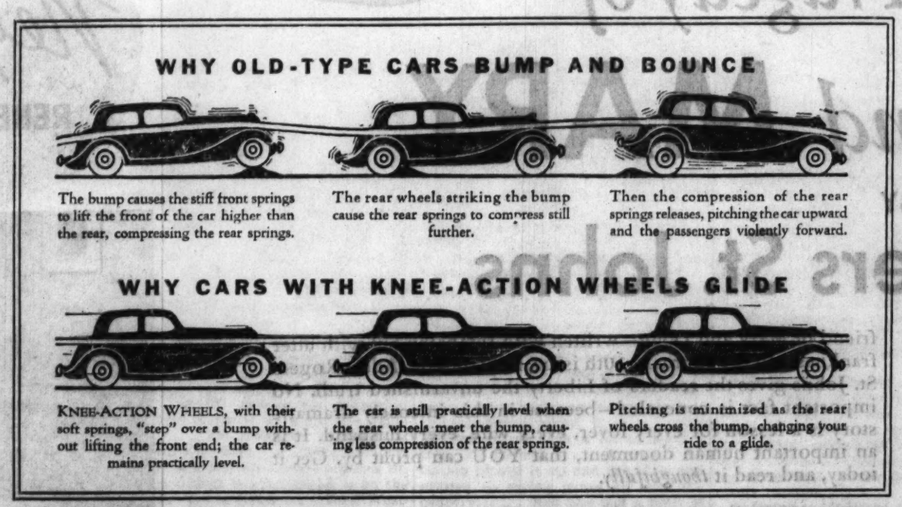
"We want our cars to have beauty which satisfies, not showiness that startles. We want them to have the beauty that one can live with and grow daily more contented with. We want them not to astonish but to be admired."

The 1934 General Motors cars have a consistent beauty that extends through the entire line. They have not only the beauty of appearance but the beauty of performance—the beauty which is embedded in the old-time truth: "Beauty is as beauty does."

AND WHAT IS PROGRESS? Progress connotes the strength and daring of the pioneer, the power to revolutionize. The self-starter, introduced on a General Motors car, revolutionized motoring. Four-wheel brakes, sponsored by another General Motors car, were a revolutionary development. So was Ethyl Gasoline, setting a new standard in motor fuel and making higher compression engines possible. Fisher No Draft Ventilation, a feature of all General Motors cars in 1933, was again revolutionary.

And this year KNEE-ACTION WHEELS! Pioneered by General Motors, proved through three years of gruelling experiment and test, KNEE-ACTION WHEELS have been the feature of the 1934 show. They abolish jar and jounce; the ride becomes a glide.

There will always be motoring progress. The General Motors Engineers, Research and Proving Ground assure that.



WHY OLD-TYPE CARS BUMP AND BOUNCE
The bump causes the stiff front springs to lift the front of the car higher than the rear, compressing the rear springs.
The rear wheels striking the bump cause the rear springs to compress still further.
Then the compression of the rear springs releases, pitching the car upward and the passengers violently forward.
WHY CARS WITH KNEE-ACTION WHEELS GLIDE
KNEE-ACTION WHEELS, with their soft springs, "step" over a bump without lifting the front end; the car remains practically level.
The car is still practically level when the rear wheels meet the bump, causing less compression of the rear springs.
Pitching is minimized as the rear wheels cross the bump, changing your ride to a glide.

2,344 COMPETE IN SILVER SKATES DERBIES TONIGHT

BOYS' RACES TO START MEET AT LINCOLN PARK

Decide Champions of 7 Classes.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

All arrangements have been completed for the 17th annual Silver Skates Derbies sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE which will be held tonight at Waveland and Sheridan road in the Lincoln park district. Prospect of moderating weather will favor the 2,344 entrants who will compete for the seven pairs of Silver Skates and the other awards.

WALTER ECKERSALL.

Racing numbers for four age classes—boys' midget, boys' junior, boys' juvenile, and girls' junior—will be passed out this afternoon between 4 and 5:30 p. m. The clerks will be stationed in the fieldhouse at Waveland avenue, a block and a half east of Sheridan road. As rapidly as the skaters report they will be assigned to their preliminary heats and it is hoped that the first preliminary in the boys' midget class will get under way not later than 5:30 o'clock. Preliminaries in the boys' juvenile, boys' junior, and girls' junior division will follow as rapidly as possible.

Install More Lights.

While these preliminaries are being held the contestants in the boys' intermediate, men's senior, and girls' senior classes will receive their racing numbers at the fieldhouse between 5:30 and 6:30 p. m. Their races will follow those for the younger skaters.

Installation of additional floodlights was completed yesterday by Lincoln park electricians. The rapidity with which all details for the Derbies have been completed is due in no small part to the execellent coöperation of the Lincoln park commissioners and their employés.

Automobile traffic to the scene of the Derbies must turn east from Sheridan road at Addison street, 3600 north. Drive east one and a half blocks and then north one block. Sheridan avenue buses stop at Waveland avenue, 3700 north, while the nearest street car line is Broadway and the stop, of course, is Waveland.

Trophy for Every Skater.

Twenty-one pairs of skates are the awards tonight in addition to ten medals. The first five finishers in each of the seven races will receive these awards. In addition there are gold medals for lap prizes in the longer races; the Walter Eckersall Memorial team trophy for the winning squad of contestants, and each competitor reporting for his racing number will receive a bronze souvenir button.

All prizes, except the team trophy, will be distributed in the fieldhouse immediately after the championships.

Boys' intermediate—880 yards qualifying; mile final.
Men's senior—Mile qualifying; two miles final.
Girls' senior—880 yards qualifying; mile final.

Measure Two Courses.

Paul Staff will survey two courses at noon today which will be marked with flags. The courses will be six and eight laps to the mile, respectively. The longer six lap track will be used by the older class skaters.

All contestants who are 16 years of age and over must be registered with the Illinois Western Skating association under whose sanction the meet is held. Registration for one year, which permits competition in any sanctioned meet, costs 25 cents. The cards may be obtained this afternoon from clerks of the association at the Waveland avenue fieldhouse.

Silver Skates Facts

Event—Seventeenth Silver Skates Derbies of The Chicago Tribune.

Contestants—2,344 boys and girls.

THE GUMPS—THE MOOCHERS

WELL THERE GOES YOUR UNCLE- DID YOU HEAR WHAT HE JUST SAID- THAT HE BOUGHT THEM TWO TOWN CARS FOR A WEDDING GIFT?
AND DID YOU SEE THE SABLE COAT MILLIE IS WEARING NOW- THE WHITE ERMINE TRIMMED WASN'T GOOD ENOUGH- SHE HAD TO HAVE A WHITE CARACUL- AND DIAMOND CLIPS FOR HER EARS- WHO DO YOU SUPPOSE WILL PAY FOR IT ALL?
YOUR UNCLE BIM OF COURSE- BUT DON'T BLAME ME FOR IT-AND ANOTHER THING- THE PARENTS ARE SUPPOSED TO PAY THE WEDDING EXPENSES- DO YOU KNOW THAT THEY'VE SENT OUT FIVE HUNDRED INVITATIONS - AND EVERY SALESLADY I'VE TALKED TO THAT'S WAITED ON THEM SAYS- THEY'VE MADE ALL THEIR ACCOUNTS PAYABLE THE DAY AFTER THE WEDDING-

Bears Raise $28,000 for Coast Charity

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The Chicago Bears, in their three professional football games in California since Jan. 14, have made more than $28,000 for coast charities, George Halas, owner of the team, announced today.

The Bears' 26 to 7 victory over a team of former University of Southern California and Washington State collegians raised nearly $5,000 for the Los Angeles county council of the American Legion on Jan. 14. The Legion promoted the game.

In San Francisco, Jan. 21, the Bears whipped a team of coast all-stars, 21 to 7, to raise $14,000 for the Knights of Columbus. A team of national professional leaguers and ex-coast collegians fell before the Bears, 23 to 0, in a game at Los Angeles last Sunday which netted $3,765 for a foundation sponsored by a motion picture actress. To this amount the Bears added $5,500 of their split of the receipts.

The Bears play an eleven composed chiefly of former U. S. C. stars at San Diego Sunday.

New York Yankee Team Physician Leaves $93,338

SAVOLDI-LONDOS MATCH GOES TO DECISION TONIGHT

Two Judges to Assist the Referee at Stadium.

When Joe Savoldi and Jim Londos, who is the loudest and most persistent claimant of the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world, have completed their one fall match in the Stadium tonight before what the promoters believe will be an outpouring of 15,000 of the faithful, one or the other will be proclaimed the winner.

Chairman Joseph Triner of the Illinois athletic commission announced yesterday that a decision will be rendered at the conclusion of hostilities tonight, whether or not the shoulders of either contestant have been pinned to the mat. This was done to silence the complaints of fans, who have in the past moaned long and loud at the conclusion of matches in which no fall was reached and, therefore, no winner or loser.

Judges to Aid Referee.

As further assurance that the customers may know which of the two is the better man, the commission will appoint two referees to act as judges in addition to the one who risks his limbs within the arena proper.

A previous Chicago meeting of Joe and Jim ended with the referee proclaiming the former football player the winner, to the accompaniment of concerted wails from the Londos faction. At that time Ed White, manager of the Greek grappler, contended that his man still was the "champion" despite the referee's ruling. This naturally aroused the ire of Savoldi and he feels, his handlers say, that he will prove tonight that he is Jim's master.

They are as nearly evenly matched physically as is possible for two wrestlers to be, although many followers of the sport believe Savoldi is the more powerful of the two.

Remember That Match?

The last Chicago Savoldi-Londos match ended in 26 minutes and 20 seconds, when Jumping Joe threw the Greek with a crotch hold. Up to that time of the fall they were battling along on even terms. Both are fit and ready and the loser should offer no complaint unless something unforeseen happens such as falling from the ring or sustaining an injury which prevents his return.

Everett Marshall, La Junta, Colo., will meet Jim McMillen, the ex-Illini flying tackle expert, in the semi-windup.

Joe Malcewicz of Utica, N. Y., returns to Chicago after an absence of three years. Milo Steinborn, the German strong man, will be Joe's opponent. Ernie Dusek of Omaha meets Matros Kirilenko, the Russian, while Ernie Hefner of Texas meets Karl Davis, a protégé of John Pesek, in the opening number. The card:

Everett Marshall vs. Jim McMillen.
Joe Malcewicz vs. Milo Steinborn.
Ernie Dusek vs. Matros Kirilenko.
Dutch Hefner vs. Karl Davis.
[All one fall, 90 minute time limit.]

SQUASH CAPTAINS SAY HELLO

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

CLARK SHAUGHNESSY, University of Chicago football coach, once lived in the same boarding house as Huey Long in New Orleans. . . . The all time record for Indiana basketball teams was established by Wabash with 37 in a row in 1907-'08-'09. . . . Wabash was stopped by Notre Dame in 1909 when Pete Vaughan, present coach at Crawfordsville, was playing with the Irish. . . . Ward Lambert, coach at Purdue, was a member of the team, and Ralph Jones of Lake Forest was coach of Wabash in those days. . . . The Cubs' official roster shows only three hands who were born in the gay nineties. . . . They are Charley Root, who was born on St. Patrick's day, 1899; Charley Grimm on Aug. 28, 1899, and Kiki Cuyler, who came into the world two days later than Boss Charley. . . .

Albert Sabath, new president of the Hawthorne race track, will nominate two colts for the Kentucky Derby. . . . They are Dan Sabath and Norman D. . . . Bert Michell, who prepared Reigh Count for his championship campaign in 1928, trains the horses in Sabath's stable. . . . Archie Winning, captain of the Chicago wrestling team in 1930 and now a graduate student in English at the Midway, has the most unusual job on the campus. . . . He takes the temperature of the monkeys in the university's bacteriology department every afternoon to see that they don't develop fevers. . . . He reports that the monkeys are good wrestlers. . . .

Minnesota's football squad had a higher scholastic average than the student body. . . . Glen Seidell, quarter back, had three A's, two B's and one C in the engineering college in his first semester as a football regular. . . . Pat Flanagan is wintering in Sarasota, Fla. . . . Mike Delaney, one of the best all around athletes St. Viator college has developed, is on the Chicago police force. . . . Jack Westland of Chicago is the only member of the 1934 Walker cup team who plays no winter golf in the south. . . . He works in La Salle street. . . . Paul Bennett, Northwestern tennis coach, was a member of the Canadian Davis cup team in 1920. . . . Frank Wallace of Notre Dame, who writes almost as many sport novels as his alma mater scores touchdowns, has just completed one called "Press Box."

Harry Kipke is the jester of the Michigan athletic department. . . . He drove miles out of his way last summer to place a torpedo under the hood of Coach Wally Weber's car. . . . Taffy Abel of the Blackhawks was a member of Uncle Sam's Olympic sextet in 1924. . . . Boxing earns more money at Wisconsin than any other sport. . . . Johnny Watts of Beloit, who is said to be a high school basketball sensation, intends to enroll at Marquette. . . . Officials of the San Francisco Seals are reported to be mighty sore because the White Sox, Cubs, and Pirates gave their ball park the high hat in arranging their California exhibition schedules this year. . . . They are said to be in favor of running the three clubs out of the state. . . . Ixnay on the lynching business! . . . Sycamore, Ill., high school will seek its 30th consecutive Little Six conference basketball victory at Dundee Friday night. . . .

British born hocky players are scarce in the National league, but two recently made good in the same week. . . . One was Wilfred Cude, new goalie of the Detroit Red Wings, who was born in Wales. . . . The other was Irvine Frew of the Montreal Maroons, who was born in Glasgow, Scotland. . . . Chuck Gardiner, goal minder for the Blackhawks, first saw the light of day in Edinburgh, Scotland. . . . Before the Navy game of 1924 Frank Murray, Marquette football coach, ordered his players not to read the newspapers for two weeks. . . . Marquette won, 21 to 3. . . . Joe Gilleaudeau, vice president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, can tell the brand of your hat by the band as you are walking through the door. . . .

Ken Rouse of Chicago, winner of THE TRIBUNE football trophy in 1927, thought it was amusing for a while. . . . Two weeks ago another Ken Rouse, an undertaker's assistant, dashed out of his place of business in the middle of the night screaming that he had seen ghosts and the newspapers printed pieces about it. . . . The Midway Rouse took a lot of joshing from his friends. . . . A press association picked it up and the item was printed on sports pages all over the country. . . . Ken has had a flood of letters and he wishes us to announce he is tired of denying the ghost story. . . . Wallace Abbey, now picture editor of THE TRIBUNE, attached the name Wildcats to Northwestern athletic teams. . . . He used it when covering a football game in 1924, which Northwestern lost, 3 to 0. . . .

Ten years ago today—Joe Ray of Chicago won the Rodman Wanamaker one and one-half mile special run in the final event of the Milrose A. A. track and field carnival. . . . Norway was leading the winter sports program in the Olympic games. . . . Gov. Al Smith again appointed William Muldoon as chairman of the New York state athletic commission.

ENGLISH SQUASH RACQUETS TEAM IS 6 TO 1 VICTOR

Hartney Only Chicagoan to Win.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The squash racquets team representing the Jesters club of England gave a final demonstration of its superiority by defeating the seven best players of the Chicago district, six matches to one, yesterday at the Chicago Athletic association.

E. J. Hartney of the Chicago Town and Tennis club was the only member of the home team who was able to cope with the accurate, slashing strokes of the Englishmen. He defeated G. d'Oyley Sheppard, three games to one, by scores of 15-12, 5-15, 18-9, 15-13.

English Captain Wins.

The most bitterly contested match of the afternoon was that between the captains of the two teams—James E. Anderson of the Chicago Town and Tennis club and Edward Snell of the Jesters. It was the only match of the two day series to go five games, Snell winning by scores of 11-15, 15-11, 18-17, 10-15, 15-10. Anderson unleashed so powerful an attack in winning the fourth game that he seemed tired as the fifth began. After allowing his adversary to draw away to a 9-2 advantage, he found his stroke again, but by that time he was too far behind.

Off for Detroit Today.

In the course of the two day series, fourteen Chicago players have tested their strength against the seven Englishmen. Thirteen of the Chicagoans have been defeated.

Today the Englishmen will leave for Detroit, where they will play another series.

Scores of yesterday's matches:

Edward Snell defeated James E. Anderson, 11-15, 15-11, 18-17, 10-15, 15-10.
Guy O. M. Jameson defeated Dudley Pope, 15-13, 15-9, 18-17.
E. J. Hartney defeated G. d'Oyley Sheppard, 15-12, 5-15, 15-9, 15-13.
Harry Mellor defeated C. Wallace Johnson, 15-12, 7-15, 15-12, 15-10.

U. S. C. DECLARES IOWA'S APOLOGY UNSATISFACTORY

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Wholly dissatisfied with the University of Iowa's answer to his demands for an apology, Prof. H. C. Willett, chairman of the University of Southern California athletic committee, today called upon the Iowa authorities for a "frank and public disavowal" of statements credited to them concerning charges of proselyting by Southern California.

Prof. C. M. Updegraf, chairman of the Univeristy of Iowa athletic board, said last night he was convinced of Southern California's good faith in the incident pertaining to the migration of Duane Swanson and Bud Froning from Iowa to the Southern California campus.

Replying to Updegraf today, Willett said:

"Your telegram evades and befogs the issue. The good faith of Southern California is not involved, but the good faith and sportsmanship of Iowa. Either you have or you do not have evidence to back the statement of Rollie Williams, basketball coach, that: 'We know these boys have been contacted for you,' and the statement of Dr. E. H. Lauer: 'We have what is reliable information that the two boys left following inducements made in person by a member of your staff.'

"My letter requested the evidence or your frank and public disavowal of the above statements made by Williams and Lauer and other statements of like kind attributed to them."

In the WAKE of the NEWS

INSOMNIA.

I hear you've had insomnia,
It's a devilish thing, I know,
To lie and count the hours
'Til the cocks begin to crow.
But out here in the country,
Where the cows and chickens grow,
We have a certain cure for that,
And I'd like to have you know
That when the clock strikes 4 a. m.
You feel as lively as our brindle pup—
You won't be trying to get to sleep
'Cause you'll be getting up.

More Insomnia.

Wake: Strange that I arrived at an insomnia cure by a method nearly the same as advanced by you in a recent Wake. My lack of sleep, however, was caused by business worries and not over worry whether Friend Arch would send me to Florida for my vacation.

We have a large house with a living room upstairs. I suppose some would call it a library. In it is one of those great old-fashioned easy chairs. I am 200 pounds, six footer, but can stretch out in it most comfortably.

One night without premeditation I got into pajamas, put on lounging robe and slippers and ensconced myself in chair with a trade magazine. Just when I fell asleep I don't know, but there I was until 7 o'clock in the morning, the first real sleep I had had in months. I did the same thing for a week or more, always with the same result. It's now a regular habit.

I feel fine, act like a human being at home and at the factory, think business is coming back and that there is some justification for living after all.

Not Insomnia, but Heart.

In taking his annual physical checkup one of our co-workers was told his heart showed irregularity. Although a young man, he immediately became alarmed. He quit drinking, smoking, all forms of exercise, and when not at office spent all his time in bed resting. He took cabs from "L" to office to escape fatigue. He checked over his life insurance policies and revised his will. He lost weight and looked haggard and worn. Finally he summed up enough courage to visit a specialist to know the worst.

This is the substance of the advice received after a careful examination: "Yes, you have a little heart flutter such as babies sometimes have. But you are all run down from lack of exercise. When you leave this office, walk briskly to Tribune Tower. Walk three or four miles a day. Play your usual ping-pong. Eat heartily. Start smoking again, but I don't want you to take more than three drinks a day."

"Why the limit on drinks?" asked our co-worker, still just a bit suspicious of his condition.

"Because," replied the specialist soberly, "the tendency of one who drinks is to increase the amount as he grows older. You're a young man. If you took more than three drinks a day now, by the time you reached my age you might be taking fifteen drinks a day. That is too much for any person."

Our co-worker is gaining weight and looks a new man. Our awe of medical science thereby has not abated since we related of the hard candy prescription for a patient very ill.

MARCH, ROMNES SCORE CHICAGO SEXTET'S GOALS

Gardiner Turns in His Ninth Shutout.

[OTHER HOCKY NEWS ON PAGE 26.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks tonight defeated the Ottawa Senators, 2 to 0, in a National Hocky League game in which the defensive power of the visitors was the outstanding feature. Intense cold kept the crowd down and little more than 3,500 saw the game. It was a close checking contest with the Hawks playing so closely that there was little chance for the Senators to open up.

HAROLD MARCH.

The victory enabled the Hawks to tie the Rangers for first place in the American division of the league, the New Yorkers losing to Boston tonight.

March Scores First.

After a scoreless first period, the Hawks took the lead in the second period, Mush March getting a well earned goal. He passed to Doc Romnes at the Chicago blue line, raced over the Ottawa line and through the defense to pick up Romnes' return forward pass and then scored between Beveridge's leg and the right hand post when the goaler went down.

The time was 15:23 when the goal was made. It had gone six minutes and thirty seconds of the third period when the count was raised to 2 to 0. Paul Thompson fired a hard shot from left wing, chased behind the net for it and passed out in front. March recovered it near the Ottawa blue line and lined it along the ice towards the net. Romnes was inside March and he golfed the puck as it came by, the disc rising high to catch the net behind Beveridge.

Gardiner Hawks' Star.

From then on, Gardiner kept the Hawks from defeat, his work being gauged by the fact that he made 16 stops to four by Beveridge in the final twenty minutes. The Senators did everything but score and the Hawks managed to hold them until the final whistle.

Gardiner, turning in his ninth shutout of the present season, was the Chicago star, with March, Tommy Cook, and Conacher also in the limelight.

They went for a minute without either team having a shot and Thompson opened the bombardment with a long drive into Beveridge's pads.

Roche Misses Chance.

Couture and Cook combined for a dangerous attack and Gardiner came out and fell flat to stop Desse Roche on the return play. Bowman then took Gardiner off balance and Roche missed the net in his eagerness to score.

Finnigan went in on the wing and Conacher was chased for stopping him with his knee. Once again the Senators bore down, and Kaminsky missed by inches on a snap shot. Shannon missed another and the Hawks played purely defensive hocky. They succeeded in holding the fort until Conacher returned. Then Romnes broke away and passed forward to March, who raced inside alone. He took the pass inside the Ottawa defense and went in to beat Beveridge with a backhander. The time was 15:23.

Senators Miss Chances.

Conacher led a three man Chicago attack and Kalbfleish brought it back, shooting hard into Gardiner's chest. Cox was crashed down when in close and Kalbfleish forced Gardiner to make a great foot save to avert a goal on the next play.

Finnigan blazed one at Gardiner from short range on Shannon's pass to open the third period and the latter then drove a hard one on a solo rush but Gardiner made two great stops.

Thompson shot hard on a pass from Romnes, recovered behind the net and passed out in front. March batted it towards the net and Romnes golfed it as it went by, the puck flying high over Beveridge's shoulder into the net in 6:35, making it 2 to 0 for Chicago.

STAGG PREDICTS FEW CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

Visits Family on Way to Atlanta, Ga.

His first season on the Pacific coast has not convinced A. A. Stagg that coast football is any better than that of the Big Ten. In Chicago with Mrs. Stagg, visiting their grandchildren, the former University of Chicago coach appeared yesterday to be in good health and spirits.

"Out there they think their competition is the greatest anywhere," he chuckled. "I don't subscribe to that. I lived in this conference too long. The Big Ten play is as good as the best on the coast."

Predicts Rule Changes.

Mr. Stagg, who will be 72 this summer, will spend a week in Chicago and then proceed to Atlanta, Ga., to participate in the annual meeting of the football rules committee, of which he is a life member.

"A few changes in the rules will be made, nothing radical, however," he predicted. "I know what I'm pulling for, but the committee has an agreement about not discussing proposals in advance of the meeting. So I can't make it public."

Following the rules meetings Stagg will spend a week lecturing in Pittsburgh and then return to the coast, by way of Chicago, to get an early start on spring practice.

Loses Ball Carriers.

He faces the task of rebuilding his back field. Three of his regulars at the College of the Pacific, including Elton Hamilton, star passer, will be graduated. Most of the line will return, however, and the coach believes he will have better reserve strength. He has scheduled the University of Southrn California and the University of California for next season, partly because of the gate receipts, which will enable him to buy adequate equipment for his squad, he explained.

As a loyal Chicago fan he did some suffering when the scores of Maroon games came in this fall, he said. As for the Chicago-Northwestern merger, he doesn't think it's likely to be consummated. During his stay here Mr. Stagg is stopping at his former home at 5539 Kenwood avenue, which is now occupied by his son, A. A. Stagg Jr.

STAGG VISITS ON MIDWAY

ENTIRE PITCHING STAFF OF GIANTS UNDER CONTRACT

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Realizing that his pitching staff, rather than his attack, carried the Giants to the world championship last year, Bill Terry has concentrated on getting his hurlers signed first. As a result, all fourteen pitchers on the New York roster already are under contract. Herman Bell, the world war veteran who works out of the bull pen, is the latest to join the chorus. Chick Thompson, utility infielder drafted from Buffalo, brings the number of satisfied Giants to seventeen, with fifteen to be accounted for.

TAPS SOUNDED FOR SHOW HORSE OF U. S. CAVALRY

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Seventh cavalry buglers today blew "taps" over the grave of the U. S. army's famous horse, Garry Owen. The horse was lowered into a grave on the edge of the Seventh cavalry polo field at Fort Bliss.

Sergeant George Lewis, F troop, Seventh cavalry, mourned the death of the gallant jumper he had trained and ridden to victory in horse shows more times than any animal in the history of the army.

In 1927 civilians at the Boston, Mass., horse show offered to buy Garry Owen for $7,000 from the government. He was bred by the Remount corps at Fort Bliss in 1919 and assigned to the Seventh cavalry in 1923. In 1928 he won 28 events at the Madison Square show in New York.

Grabiner Comes Home to Find 25 Sox Have Signed

Vice President Harry Grabiner of the White Sox returned yesterday from Miami Beach, Fla., where he spent the longest vacation he ever had in his life. He was there a month.

Mr. Grabiner went direct from the train to his office at Comiskey park where President Comiskey was present to greet him and show him a bundle of 25 signed contracts. It was said the documents missing from the bundle do not indicate any holdouts—just habitually tardy gents.

The Sox vice president, whose health had not been the best in recent years, returned in excellent health and spirits. In addition to basking in the sunshine, he undewent a series of treatments while in the south. He will remain in Chicago for three weeks, then will accompany the first Sox squad to the Pasadena, Cal., training camp, according to present plans.

WHEN MARTINS MOVE OUT, IN COME STARLINGS

Sparrows Also Take Over Apartments.

BY BOB BECKER.

The English sparrows and the European starlings, which spend most of their time in Chicago's Lincoln park, doubtless are giving three cheers because the purple martins check out of this country in the fall to spend the winter in South America. By leaving for a warmer country, where insect food is abundant, the martins have made it possible for the starlings and sparrows (both introduced into America from abroad) to convert large martin houses into winter lodgings where the alien species can put up for the night during these winter months.

We watched one of the martin houses in the park a few days ago to see both the starlings and sparrows come around to roost in the shelter. It was about 4:15 in the afternoon when we made our check.

Starling Does a Solo.

Birds were getting ready to roost for the night. The first bird that we noticed near the martin house was a starling. He was sitting on a branch of a tree not more than five feet from the martin house, unmindful of the sparrows which were flying around and disturbing his soft, twittering song. While this starling was singing a sparrow darted out of the martin house. Then another bird flew into it. When we finally left our "listening post" birds were increasing around the martin house, so that it looked as if each individual compartment were going to be occupied for the night.

Chicago residents who are not acquainted with the European starling have only to visit Lincoln park to see these birds, which are making themselves very much at home in the central states.

The other day we watched one for several minutes as it walked around on the ground among the shrubs looking for something to eat. It was so tame that we were able to get within eight or ten feet of it. At that distance you can see the irridescence of its dark plumage and the yellowish flecks or spots on its feathers. The one feature of the bird (aside from its color) which should impress the average bird fan is the length of its tail. The starling looks as if it were unbalanced, because its tail doesn't seem to be long enough in proportion to its body.

He's Still a Stranger.

Reports of starlings in flocks of all sizes continue to come to us from all over the middle west, yet thousands of outdoors apparently do not know the bird. In many cases the tendency is to call the dark plumaged starling a "blackbird." If the starling did not like cities and bright lights for his night roost, there wouldn't be so many objections raised against the big flocks in the east. But the habit of the birds to crowd into a city in a huge flock is something which has given New York and other eastern communities considerable worry and no end of trouble.

Wabash Seeks Second Victory Over Indiana Quintet Tonight

Spasmodic firing will continue along the Big Ten basketball front over the week-end as the teams train their guns against nonconference opponents. The only game involving two Big Ten quintets will be staged at Columbus Saturday night when Ohio meets Minnesota for the second time.

Three other conference teams will oppose nonconference opponents. One of these games will be held tonight when Indiana entertains Wabash at Bloomington. Wabash will be seeking its second victory over Indiana, having won an earlier meeting. Notre Dame plays Valparaiso at South Bend tonight also.

Maroons Are Crippled.

The Irish will play again Saturday night, going to Detroit for their annual game with the University of Detroit. Coach George Keogan's squad is one of the strongest in the country and the week's activities should see it run its new victory string to three straight. It has already defeated Chicago since Pittsburgh stopped its victory march at 22 straight games.

The luckless Chicago Maroons take the road again Saturday for their second game of the season with the strong Marquette five. Chicago, in the midst of a basketball renaissance, sustained a staggering blow at Minnesota Monday night when Bill Haarlow, star forward, sprained a toe in the be lost to the team for two weeks. Tommy Flinn and Bob Pyle will replace him.

Northwestern will spend the greater part of the next two weeks in class rooms, taking midyear examination. The Wildcats will emerge Monday night for a practice game with Wabash and then retire until the following Saturday to resume their Big Ten schedule against Chicago at Patten gym.

Purdue Is Undefeated.

The Wildcats, still hopeful of finishing among the Big Ten leaders, have already played seven of their 12 games. The first place Purdue team has only engaged in four games, winning all of them, while the second place Hawkeyes have won three and lost one.

PADLOW QUITS OHIO

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Max Padlow of Dayton, end on the Ohio State university football team and a regular forward on the basketball team, withdrew from school today, H. G. Olsen, head basketball coach, announced.

Was Leading Scorer.

He had been paired with Whitlinger and Colburn as regular forwards, the trio alternating in all games to date. He was one of the higher scorers on the team and marks the fourth regular to leave the Buckeye's squad since the season opened.

Olsen's first casualty was Capt. Wilmer Hosket, star center, who was ruled ineligible scholastically before the Big Ten season opened.

He was replaced by Ted Rosequist, who, after playing in three games, suffered a broken bone in his wrist which will keep him from the lineup for the remainder of the season.

Two Turn in Suits.

Then Low, a forward and Wilfred Theis, a reserve center, turned in their suits, claiming they were not used frequently enough. Low, Theis, and Hosket all are now playing semi-professional basketball in Columbus.

FOUR NAVY STARS TO HELP MILLER COACH MIDDIES

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Four members of the Navy's football team of 1926, classmates, who are now junior lieutenants in the service, have been assigned to the Naval academy. They will report March 1 and will assist with the coaching next fall. They will also help Coach Rip Miller with the spring practice.

They are: Tony Hamilton, quarter back, who will also act as assistant director of football; Johnny Cross, guard; Harry Hardwick, end, and Harry Caldwell, half back.

Award Contracts for New Los Angeles Track

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Contracts for the construction of a complete racing plant at Arcadia were awarded Lindgren & Swinnerton, Inc., today by Gwynn Wilson, treasurer and general manager of the Los Angeles Turf club. The project will, when completed, cost in excess of $800,000, Wilson said. It will include stabling for 1,500 head of horses.

FARRAGUT LOSES TO ENGLEWOOD QUINTET, 26-23

South Side Five Scores First Victory.

Farragut's march toward the lightweight basketball championship in the central section of the Chicago Public High School league was halted yesterday. Farragut, a new member of the league, suffered its first defeat, losing to Englewood, 26 to 23, at Englewood. It was Englewood's first victory in four games.

Irons, forward, and Smith, guard, led Englewood to victory. Irons scored three field goals and three free throws, while Smith contributed five field goals. Wido and Smiclas, forwards, starred for Farragut.

Three Teams Undefeated.

Calumet, Roosevelt, and Crane Tech continued undefeated. The sectional leaders scored their fourth consecutive victories. Calumet triumphed over Fenger, 30 to 23; Roosevelt defeated Senn, 46 to 19, and Crane Tech gave Austin its first defeat in the west section, 27 to 15.

Hyde Park, led by Garmia, won from Hirsch, 38 to 17, at Hyde Park. Garmia scored six field goals and one free throw. It was Hyde Park's third victory and Hirsch's third defeat.

Manley, Lindblom Win.

Manley and Lindblom were victors in another pair of central section contests. Manley won from Harrison, 25 to 14, at Harrison, while Lindblom routed Tilden, 29 to 12, at Tilden.

Lake View defeated Waller, 30 to 14, in the only heavyweight game on yesterday's schedule. It was Waller's second north section defeat and Lake View's second triumph. The lineups:

Winning Ping-Pong

BY COLEMAN CLARK.
[National Champion 1932.]

THE TENNIS GRIP.

IT is just as important to grip the ping-pong racket correctly as the golf club or tennis racket. There are many ways of holding the ping-pong racket, but the tennis grip and the penholder grip are the only two popular ones.

The expression tennis grip tells you in a general way how to hold the racket. I have always used and recommended it and I should say it is the most popular one the world over. Observe that the racket is held in the palm of the hand high up the handle and that the index finger extends outstretched close to the edge of the blade, although this may be moved to the center if you prefer.

With this grip the ball is struck on one side of the racket for a forehand stroke, and on the opposite side for a backhand shot.

[Tomorrow—The Penholder Grip.]

Silberman to Compete in Ping-Pong Play

Last March Sam Silberman of Brooklyn set out with $1.50 in his pocket to come to Chicago and the national ping-pong tournament. He arrived here with 25 cents more than he had when he started. Silberman made a good showing, but evidently the strain of the trip was a little too much as he was eliminated in the fourth round.

Rides Cushions Now.

This year Silberman will be found in the observation car of the Twentieth Century leaving New York tomorrow as a member of the team representing New York in the national intercity ping-pong team championship tourney, which will be played at the Morrison hotel Saturday and Sunday.

His victory in the recent Brooklyn open tourney led to his selection on the eastern team and served notice that he is going to be one of the real menaces in the meet here. Silberman is known for his terrific backhand.

Play Three Sessions.

The national intercity ping-pong team matches are to be played in three sessions, the first one from 1 to 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. On Saturday evening from 7 to 11 the second group will be played, and on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 the teams will play off the finals. The championship will be decided on a round robin basis.

Browns Release Braxton Outright to Milwaukee Club

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 30.—Garland Braxton, southpaw pitcher with the St. Louis Browns, has been released outright to the Milwaukee team of the American association. This was announced here today. Braxton was with the Milwaukee club last season until recalled by the Browns.

HAGEN DROPS IN ON SPORTS GOODS EXHIBIT

Walter Hagen, one of the most consistent tournament golfers in the game, was an unexpected visitor to the sporting goods distributors' show at the Sherman hotel yesterday. Hagen plans to go to Florida to compete in a number of winter meets immediately after the show closes.

Although he has had no tournament competition since his tour of Europe last summer, Hagen said he had maintained playing condition in a gymnasium and that he expects to be on top of his game on his "vacation" jaunt in the south.

One tournament he is planning to enter is the Tournament of Gardens at Charleston, S. C. He finished first there last March.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 30.—(AP)—A crowd of 16,000 fans gave Eddie Shore a hero's welcome and then cheered the Boston Bruins to a 2 to 1 victory over the skilful New York Rangers tonight at the Boston garden.

The crowd, the first sellout of the season, was armed with all sorts of noisemaking machines and in its initial outburst, Shore, on Boston ice for the first time since the Irvin [Ace] Bailey accident on Dec. 12, was cheered for two minutes. During the play, however, Shore had few opportunities to shine, for the spotlight never shifted from Goalie Tiny Thompson, whose marvelous play enabled the Bruins to retain their early lead until the final bell.

During most of the last 10 minutes Manager Lester Patrick kept five forwards on the ice to force the tying score, but, after Butch Keeling caged a passout from Duke Dutkowski after 35 seconds of second period play, Thompson refused to yield.

Babe Siebert opened the Boston scoring after 67 seconds of play with the assistance of Dit Clapp and Marty Barry. Late in the first period Nels Stewart passed right to Joe Lamb and scored the goal that decided the game.

The upset was costly to the Rangers, for it forced them to share their American division lead with the Chicago Blackhawks.

Lineup:

AMERICANS WIN, 3-2

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The New York Americans staged a thrilling comeback in the last half of the third period tonight to defeat the Montreal Maroons, 3 to 2, in a National Hocky league game marked by freak scoring.

Trailing 1 to 2 late in the third period with a "gift" goal as their only scores the Americans tied the score when each team had two men in the penalty box and won out a little more than three minutes before the finish when Rabbit McVeigh took the puck almost off Goalie Dave Kerr's stick and sent it home.

Art Chapman got in behind Kerr to sink the tying goal after the goalie had been flattened. Eddie Burke was credited with the first New York score, although Irving Frew, Montreal defense player, kicked it in while trying to help Kerr clear.

The lineup:

AMERICANS [3].		MAROONS [2].
Worters	Goal	Kerr
Dutton	R. D	Wentworth
Brydge	L. D	McKenzie
Himes	C	Smith
Martin	R. W	Ward
McVeigh	L. W	Northcott

Officials—Bill Stewart and Ag Smith.

Scoring—Trottier [Evans], 16:38. Penalties—Brydge, McKenzie.

SECOND PERIOD.
Scoring—Burke [Klein], 3:39; Northcott [Ward], 12:54. Penalties—Trottier, Burke, Ward.

THIRD PERIOD.

EIGHT GAMES ON JUNIOR COLLEGE BASKET CARD

Eight basketball games are carded for this week in the northern Illinois Junior College conference. Tonight La Grange and Chicago Junior college will play at Chicago; North Park will be at Morton, and Thornton will appear at Chicago Normal.

College Boxers to Battle for Golden Gloves

BY FRENCH LANE.

A collegiate flavor has been added to the various ingredients which always go into the great melting pot of the Chicago Golden Gloves tournament each year.

Whether it will be a strong enough flavor to hold its own against the peppery Italians, the spicy Frenchmen, the corn beef and cabbage relish of the Irish, and the roast beef medium of the English and American born will be decided when you view the completed concoction at the Chicago Stadium during THE TRIBUNE Tournament of Champions.

Anyway, the college boys are going to try and let the folks know they are present and there will scarcely be a Big Ten school that isn't represented by its best boxers in the world's greatest amateur glove festival.

Iowa to Send Team.

The Daily Iowan, student publication at the University of Iowa, is sponsoring a team which will represent that section of the Hawkeye state. Bob Rush, the University of Iowa boxing coach, has agreed to give the boys some instruction.

The team will not invade the Tournament of Champions under the flag of the University of Iowa, but it is more than likely that every member of it will be a student there. The boys who will represent the Daily Iowan are already in training and the team will include a candidate for every divisional championship.

More than 15 students from Northwestern, some of them famous athletes from the Purple campus, have entered the Chicago north section tournament, which is to be held at Loyola university gymnasium. The students at Northwestern who gather at the gym to see the Purple boxers drill are confident that at least eight will qualify for a fling at the Golden Gloves in the Tournament of Champions.

Mr. Paulison on Rampage.

Mr. Walter Paulison, who always has something good to say about every one or anything from Northwestern, is already around telling terrifying stories about the fistic capabilities of John Sinco, the Northwestern light heavyweight champion.

John was a member of the Northwestern football squad last fall and, according to the enthusiastic Mr. Paulison, "can whip a whole cageful of lions, tigers, and grizzly bears without half trying." He comes from Pennsylvania.

Five student leather pushers from the University of Illinois are to seek the Golden Gloves. Paul Prehn, a former member of the Illinois Athletic commission, has looked them all over and has approved of them as genuine championship contenders.

Illinois to Seek Titles.

The University of Illinois boys who are pointing for the championships are Terry Bannon of Chicago, a heavyweight; John Butsch of Urbana, welterweight; Chris Chibucos of Chicago and Danny Young of Mattoon, lightweights, and Joe Puerta of Van Houten, N. M., a featherweight.

Some of the University of Illinois boys will fight in the Bloomington Pantagraph sectional tournament and others in the Danville Commercial News meet.

The Lafayette Journal and Courier drew a large number of Purdue students into its tournament, while a number of boys from the University of Michigan are seeking the titles in the section meets conducted by the Grand Rapids Press and the Detroit Free Press.

Every sectional tournament throughout Chicagoland has attracted college boys into the competition this year. College authorities are granting the students permission to go out in quest of the Golden Gloves.

EXAMINATIONS CONTINUE

Another large group of amateur boxers reported last night at Trafton's gymnasium for their physical examinations, which will qualify them for the four Chicago sectional Golden Gloves tournaments, the first of which will open at 132d regiment armory on Feb. 12. The group last night totaled 141, the same number that appeared Monday.

Only six of the budding boxers failed to pass the physical requirements. The sixth of the series of examinations will be held tomorrow night at Trafton's gymnasium. All entrants who received letters of instructions to report tomorrow must be present between the hours of 6:30 and 8:30 p. m.

Twelve members of the team from St. Patrick parish of South Chicago showed up last night. All but one of them passed the test. Otto Fishal, middleweight, heads the squad. Otto finished second in the recent Illinois Athletic club tournament and he was runnerup to Billy Treest in the Central A. A. U. championships last year.

A screaming pink and red necktie announced the arrival of Willie Bradley, Hoboken, New York and Chicago 195 pound colored boxer. Prior to coming here four years ago Bradley boxed in the east. He is a die setter for the Mayer Manufacturing company, 1436 Randolph street.

Expect Official Announcement of Yale Coach Today

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The board of athletic control probably will meet tomorrow, an official of the Yale Athletic association reported tonight, for its decision on who shall coach Yale football.

Raymond [Ducky] Pond was acknowledged unofficially to be the nominee as head coach, the post of backfield coach was conceded to Earle [Greasy] Neale of West Virginia, and Bennie Oosterbaan of Michigan was believed to be the next end coach. The identity of the new line coach remained a mystery.

KEADY TO LOSE JOB AS WESTERN RESERVE COACH

Cleveland, O., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Tom Keady, for three years head football coach at Western Reserve university, will not be given a new contract for next season, Prof. C. M. Finfrock, chairman of the athletic committee, announced tonight.

"We are unable to offer Keady a contract at the salary we have been paying," Finfrock said. "Our troubles are largely financial."

"I am still an employé of Ohio State university," was Willaman's only comment. Willaman has been under fire in some quarters since Michigan defeated the Buckeyes last fall.

Winch, Pilot of Barney Ross, Is Married

The bachelor ranks of the boxing world were thinned last night when Art Winch, co-manager with Sam Pian of Barney Ross, lightweight and junior welterweight champion, married Miss Leola Irwin of St. Louis at the Bismarck hotel. The ceremony was performed by Judge John Lupe of the Municipal court. Winch gave his age as 36 and his bride as 21.

Harry O'Connell was best man and the bride's sister, Mary Irwin, was bridesmaid.

After the ceremony, which was witnessed by a score of friends, including Champion Ross, Co-Manager Pian, Joe Foley, and Dr. J. P. O'Connell, a wedding supper was served in the hotel dining room.

Mrs. Winch is to accompany her husband and Ross when they leave for Kansas City, Mo., Saturday en route to the coast, where the champion has been matched for a series of bouts, the last of which will be fought in April.

Solly Dukelsky is expected to receive his hardest test as a middleweight in a 10 round contest against Karl Ogren at Arcadia Gardens tomorrow night. It will be Dukelsky's fifth encounter at 160 pounds.

Bat Battalino, former featherweight champion, who announced his retirement after he was beaten by Phil Rafferty at New York last Aug. 9, boxes Joe Barra at New York tonight on the Freddy Miller-Frank [Kid] Covelli card. . . . Young Geno, La Salle featherweight, has signed to head the program Monday at Midway arena. . . . Mrs. Andrew Frain, wife of the head of the ushers at boxing and other sports events, has given birth to a baby at St. Luke's hospital.

Johnny Bailey, Saginaw, Mich., welterweight, and Sammy Adams have been rematched at Rainbo Fronton Friday. . . . The date for the next bill at Cicero Stadium is Feb. 9. . . . Paul Dazzo, junior lightweight, will be idle for three months because of a cut over his eye, sustained in a battle Monday at Midway arena.

Henry Rothier, welterweight, will leave for Cedar Rapids, Ia., tomorrow to face Jackie Purvis for 10 rounds Friday. . . . Mickey O'Shea meets Jim Brown in a 147 pound engagement Tuesday at Quincy, Ill. . . . Billy Finnucane has taken over the management of Don Messina. . . . Harry Dublinsky goes to New Orleans, La., tomorrow for a contest against Eddie [Kid] Wolfe Monday . . . An amateur show will be offered tonight at the Oriole Gardens, 7556 Irving Park boulevard.

RUSH OF ORDERS DRIVES STOCKS TO NEW HIGHS

Trading Is Heaviest in Seven Months.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 30.—Mounting public interest in stocks was reflected on the New York exchange today in the heaviest trading volume in more than seven months and the highest price averages since 1931.

A total of 4,262,700 shares changed hands in the five hour session, the most since June 20 of last year, when the turnover ran to 5,444,620. Net gains of 1 to 2 points were recorded over a wide range, with a scattering of preferred and specialty issues turning in much more impressive performances.

Closing figures as a rule showed moderate recessions from the best prices of the day, due to "precautionary" profit taking by traders unused to sustained bull movements here of late.

Ticker Falls Behind.

The rush of orders pouring in from all parts of the country overwhelmed the mechanical facilities of the exchange in the forenoon dealings, causing the ticker to fall behind as much as seven minutes at one time and to lag behind floor operations for a good part of the session. Brokers reported the public getting back into the market in large numbers.

Railroad, farm implement and aviation shares took turns as pacemakers and brokers reported evidence of considerable switching from one group to another, especially by professionals bent on halting the waves of realizing sales which swept over the list at intervals. Utilities were fairly active and strong, also, and the oils were taken in hand in the later dealings.

Carrier shares had a little extra help in the reported plan of the RFC to underwrite railroad refunding loans. Atchison, Union Pacific, New York Central, Southern Pacific, and Lackawanna were the most active members of the group. Union Pacific gained more than 4 points on the day. Texas Pacific, which seldom bids for the limelight, jumped 5½.

Farm Shares Advance.

Case Threshing was the star of the farm equipment section as usual. It rose about three points in the forenoon dealings but gave way in the face of profit taking toward the close. Better wheat and cotton prices were a factor here.

Curtiss-Wright was a feature of the aviation group, one block of 30,000 shares of the common stock of the corporation changing hands in one deal. Growing talk of the prospect of huge government airplane orders for the corporations of this group kept buying orders coming in.

Several of the merchandising stocks reached new highs at one time or another during the day, among them being J. C. Penney, May Department Stores, and Sears Roebuck.

Building construction issues were looked into, and the shipbuilding shares extended their gains.

Steel stocks kept well to the fore, although their net showing was not so impressive due to late selling which came their way.

WOOLWORTH CO. EARNINGS RISE TO $2.94 A SHARE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 30.—The F. W. Woolworth company, including both domestic and Canadian subsidiaries, for the year ended Dec. 31, 1933, reports net income of $28,690,884, exclusive of a nonrecurring profit of $1,970,561 from sale of stock of F. W. Woolworth & Co., Ltd., of England, which was credited to surplus account.

That net income was equivalent to $2.94 a share on 9,750,000 shares outstanding. The result compares with net income of $22,101,005, or $2.27 a share, earned in 1933.

Sales of the company in the United States, Canada, and Cuba totaled $250,516,527, compared with $249,892,361 in 1932. Costs and expenses totaled $223,253,656, against $228,332,127, and net profit from operations was $27,162,871, compared with $21,560,734.

The consolidated balance sheet shows cash of $22,050,346, compared with $19,501,701 reported at the end of 1932, and merchandise inventories of $35,424,197 against $27,728,635 at the end of 1932, in each case carried at cost or market, whichever is lower.

ATWILL CHOSEN VICE PRESIDENT OF ILL. CENTRAL

The promotion of William Atwill to the position of vice president and general manager of the Illinois Central system, effective tomorrow, was announced yesterday by L. A. Downs, president.

Mr. Atwill has been general manager since March, 1929. He started to work for the Illinois Central in 1894 as a telegraph operator at Rockford.

The position of vice president in charge of operation has been filled since March, 1929, by George E. Patterson, who requested to be relieved. Mr. Patterson will handle assigned duties, with the title of manager of personnel.

Crowley May Get Deposit Guaranty Job

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Leo Crowley, Madison, Wis., banker, may succeed Walter J. Cummings as chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, it was reported here today.

Mr. Cummings, who resigned from the Deposit Insurance corporation to become chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company of Chicago, left here today to take up his new private banking duties. With him went a letter from President Roosevelt expressing appreciation for the work he has done in forming the deposit guarantee corporation.

Presented with Plaque.

Mr. Cummings' associates in the Deposit Insurance corporation also presented to him a plaque, at the bottom of which is reproduced in the President's handwriting a quotation from the letter which Mr. Roosevelt wrote at the launching of the corporation, "a big job well done," followed by the President's signature.

In his letter today the President termed the position which Mr. Cummings takes up in Chicago as one offering opportunity "for real service." Mr. Cummings was elected chairman of the bank through the intervention of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which holds 50 million dollars' worth of the bank's stock.

Crowley Confers with Cummings.

Mr. Crowley, the Wisconsin business man and banker who may succeed Mr. Cummings, has been conferring with him steadily through the last few days.

At present Crowley is executive assistant to Gov. Alfred Schmedeman of Wisconsin. He sprang into business prominence through the General Paper and Supply company. He was also for some time president of the Bank of Wisconsin, Madison, which since has been absorbed by the First National Bank of Madison.

The nomination of William I. Myers of New York as governor of the farm credit administration was confirmed today by the senate.

The senate also confirmed the renominations of five incumbent members of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. They were: Harvey C. Couth of Arkansas, Jesse H. Jones of Texas, Frederic H. Taber of Massachusetts, C. B. Merriam of Kansas, and John J. Blaine of Wisconsin.

SIX COMPANIES RESUME, BOOST DIVIDEND RATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 30.—Electric Household Utilities corporation declared a dividend of 25 cents on the common stock. This is the first disbursement made since a special dividend of $1 on Jan. 25, 1933.

The Green Bay and Western Railroad declared an annual dividend of $50 on the class A income debentures of $1,000 face value, compared with $25 a year ago. Interest is payable if earned and at such rate as shall be determined up to 5 per cent. A $3 annual payment was declared on the common, compared with $2.50 last year. The road is an independent line of 234 miles. Other railroads that have resumed or increased dividends this year include the Louisville and Nashville, Norfolk and Western, and Bangor and Aroostook.

Th General Shoe company declared an initial dividend of 10 cents on the no par common stock.

The Robbins [Sabin] Paper company declared a dividend of $1.75 on the 7 per cent preferred stock, payable on account of accumulations.

The United Screw and Bolt company paid an accumulation dividend of 25 cents on the no par $2 class A stock. Accumulation will amount to $3.75 a share, effective with this distribution.

The Whitaker Paper company announced a dividend of $5.25 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock. The dividend is on account of all accumulations as of Jan. 1, 1934.

BRITISH READY TO MEET U. S. ON MONEY STABILITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 30.—While no formal negotiations looking toward stabilization of the dollar to pound ratio have begun, financiers and minor treasury officials have been exchanging views for some time and Great Britain is ready at any time to enter a final agreement, it is understood.

What that ratio is to be will be rather troublesome to determine. The British would like a rate somewhere between $4.50 and $4.70 to the pound but privately many admit they will be lucky if they get the old parity of $4.86 for the devalued dollar.

Whatever it is, they wish stabilization quickly as this is regarded as the first essential to a restoration of Anglo-American trade. With a fluctuating currency it is impossible for business men to make plans or place orders far ahead.

It is also realized here that it does not matter very much what the ratio is as long as it is stable. Devalued currency will find its own ratio in purchasing power before long and any advantage from an artificial rate to either country is only temporary. An outstanding example of this is France, which devalued the franc by 80 per cent and despite this French costs of production in international values are as high as ever.

ORDER PECORA TO DRAFT STOCK CONTROL BILL

Senators to Postpone Bank Probe.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Legislation providing for federal regulation of stock exchanges will come much earlier than was expected, it was disclosed today, when the senate banking and currency committee directed Ferdinand Pecora of New York, its counsel, to begin the drafting of a bill to provide adequate regulation and at the same time meet with the approval of President Roosevelt.

The President, it was said, wants legislation brought forward without undue delay, and, this being so, the committee will probably begin its roundup of the stock exchange angle of the investigation as soon as it has concluded its inquiry into the Detroit bank crash, which may be next week. Under the original program, the committee was to take up the Cleveland bank situation when the Detroit investigation was concluded.

The committee has before it more than 1,000 replies to questionnaires sent out to brokerage houses in New York and other large cities. A staff of clerks is busy getting these replies in shape for study by the committee and Mr. Percora.

Roper Report to Be Studied.

Opinion is quite general that the recommendations of the Roper committee, submited last week, will receive careful consideration, but whether these are adopted is another question. The report suggested a regulatory authority and it is said some members of the committee are not inclined to favor that form of enactment.

In their opinion the legislation should, in this matter, be direct and mandatory and not a matter for the discretionary action of an authority, board or other specially setup agency. Direct enforcement through the agency of the federal trade commission may be the answer, it was said.

Continue Bank Inquiry.

Continuing its investigation of the Detroit bank collapse, it was disclosed for the record today, evidence which was contended to prove that trust units of the Bankers company of Detroit, the $800,000,000 organization which controled 60 per cent of Detroit's bank resources, bought bonds from one another and then sold them at profits to trust estates administered by the Detroit Trust company, the major trust unit of the Bankers company.

Mr. Pecora disclosed two transactions, in both of which the Detroit Trust company transferred the securities to trust estates at a profit. The company had purchased the securities from another investment unit of the Bankers company and also at a profit to the original selling unit. On both instances the transactions represented a spread of about five per cent in profits to the trust units.

FUNDAMENTALS RULE DEPRESSION BATTLE — PALYI

While each nation may seem to be fighting the depression in its own way, there is a fundamental trend directed toward economic and social stabilization, Dr. Melchior Palyi, German economist and professor of economics at the University of Chicago, told members of the Grain Market Analysts club, the Chicago chapter of the American Statistical association, and the Investment Analysts club, last night at the Hamilton club.

Dr. Palyi declared that at bottom the choice of policy always lies between "progress" and "stabilization."

"Each country tries to protect itself against the influx of foreign goods and foreign labor, and against the outflow of home capital," Dr. Palyi explained. "Each also tries to stabilize the volume of employment and wages, or raise them moderately, and to safeguard the debtors.

"All these measures and many others have in common a tendency toward stabilization. The fundamental trend, conscious or unconscious, all over the world, is the one directed toward stabilization of vested interests somewhere around in ir present level—vested interests which each nation regards as the fundamental ones."

CONSOLIDATED GAS EARNINGS LOWER IN 1933

The Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore during the year ended Dec. 31, 1933, had net income of $5,717,096, equivalent, after preferred dividends, to $3.91 a share on the common stock, according to the preliminary report issued yesterday. In 1932 net income amounted to $6,152,554, or $4.29 a share.

After the payment of dividends there was a balance for 1933 of $357,019, against $804,228 in the preceding year. Net operating revenue totaled $8,517,328, or $273,994 less than in 1932. Taxes rose by $380,657 for the year and rates for gas and electricity were reduced $516,000.

For the last quarter of 1933 net income totaled $1,442,633, or 99 cents per common share, in comparison with $1,500,035, or $1.04 per common share, in the corresponding quarter of 1932.

Britain Wins Tilt as France Cancels Cut in Coal Quota

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The British government won the first round in its quota dispute with France. According to advices received today at Cardiff, British coal exporting center, French authorities have climbed down in the face of strong protests from the British government, and canceled the additional reduction of 10 per cent in the coal quota due to take effect Feb. 1.

Dollar Rallies After Drop and Closes Higher

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 30.—The dollar rallied strongly in late dealings in the foreign exchange market today after falling to the lowest gold price in nearly two weeks. Early in the day the dollar fell to 61.84 cents in gold on continued selling against both the French franc and the pound sterling. This selling apparently was in anticipation of a drop in American currency to or near the 60 cent level when the new stabilization fund is made effective.

However, later in the day the dollar not only recovered its early decline but it bounced up to 62.31 cents as the closing quotation in terms of French francs. The final quotation on Monday was 62.28 cents. The franc closed today at 6.28¾ cents, compared with 6.29 cents on Monday, while sterling finished at $4.99½, against $5.01⅞ on Monday. The Canadian dollar closed at 99¼ cents, compared with 99⅝ cents yesterday.

Exchange dealers figure that if the exchanges were forced to levels equivalent to a 60 cent dollar by the operation of the fund, the French franc would have to rise to 6.53 cents and the British pound to 5.25 or perhaps 5.50.

The price of gold in London was advanced 4½ pence to 132 shillings 10 pence, equivalent to $33.44 when converted at the opening rate of $5.02 to the pound. Americans were again reported to be the buyers of $3,500,000 gold sold in London at a premium of 8½ pence.

Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the British exchequer, stated today that the British equalization fund still contained £350,000,000, equivalent to about $1,750,000,000. Against this the United States will have $2,000,000,000.

BILL WOULD MAKE PRESENT DEPOSIT PLAN PERMANENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Permanent establishment of the present temporary federal guarantee for bank deposits up to $2,500 was proposed in a bill introduced in the senate by Senator Vandenberg today. The senator, who was outstanding in initiating the deposit guarantee plan, would eliminate the feature whereby the insurance would be expanded on July 1 to cover deposits permanently in full up to $10,000 and on a scaled proportion above that sum.

In addition to making the "temporary insurance formula," with its $2,500 limitation, the permanent insurance scheme after July 1, the Vandenberg bill would continue the eligibility in the present structure of nonfederal reserve member state banks which pass the necessary examinations.

"The $2,500 formula insures 97 per cent of the depositors of the country while risking less than 30 per cent of our banking resources," Senator Vandenberg said. "The other three per cent of depositors are able to look out for themselves."

$5,000,000 Orders Seen from Merchants' Meeting

Five million dollars in orders will probably be left by out of town merchants with Chicago wholesalers and manufacturers participating in the Interstate Merchants council meeting and other merchandising events starting at the Hotel Sherman next Monday, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce, sponsor of the council.

PENNSY TO START ELECTRIFICATION WORK NEXT WEEK

25,000 Men to Be Used on Project.

Philadelphia, Jan. 30.—(AP)—President W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad said today the company will start next week its comprehensive electrification and equipment building program, giving a year's work to nearly 25,000 men on the railroad and in industrial plants.

"Simultaneously with the start of electrification work," he said, "construction will be inaugurated on 7,000 all-steel freight cars and later on 101 electric freight, passenger and switching locomotives—representing the largest single equipment program ever inaugurated by any railroad at one time."

Heavy Industry Lagging.

"Heavy industry is lagging," Gen. Atterbury went on. "The consuming industries, such as food, clothing and products that wear out, are 10 to 15 per cent below normal, but heavy industry is about 65 per cent under. Bring this up to about 90 per cent of normal; stimulus will be given to other industries and we will be getting back to where we all will be happy again."

Gen. Atterbury said he found the railroad's business improved about 21 per cent over that of a year ago, and that this held true for business generally throughout the country except for heavy industry.

Complete Project This Year.

He said the first step in the electrification work will be on the New York-Washington project, which is completed from New York to Wilmington, Del., but unfinished on the 108 miles remaining from Wilmington to Washington. The road hopes to have passenger and freight electrified service from New York to Washington completed by next year.

Of the 25,000 to be put to work, about half will be furloughed railroad men, mostly shop employés and men on road and maintenance work. Operating train men will find work only as railroad business improves, Gen. Atterbury said.

BANK RECEIVER WORKS DEAL IN GERMAN BONDS

Depositors of the closed Kauffman State bank, formerly located at 134 North La Salle street, were gainers by $20,500 through the sale of German bonds, Auditor Edward J. Barrett announced yesterday, and as a result a 12½ per cent payment will be distributed about Feb. 5. Two previous payments of 10 per cent each were made to the depositors of this bank, which was closed Feb. 17, 1932.

William L. O'Connell, receiver, was confronted by great difficulty in the liquidation of a number of German internal bonds, due to the restrictions regarding their sale in Germany and the prohibition against money being taken out of Germany.

The coöperation of the German consulate resulted in permission being obtained from the German government to sell the bonds in Germany provided the proceeds were used in payments within that country.

The sale made, Mr. O'Connell had a credit of 134,000 reichsmarks in Germany. Then 40,000 of the reichsmarks were sold to an importer of German calfskins, who paid for them in American dollars. The rest of the reichsmarks were sold to people sending Christmas gifts to relatives in Germany. Due to depreciation of the dollar in terms of the reichsmarks the sum of $42,700 was realized, which was $20,500 more than the original cost of the securities.

Jones Seeks RFC Power to Make Long Rail Loans

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Amendment of the Reconstruction Finance corporation act so that loans of a maturity up to ten years could be made to railroads and possibly some other borrowers was suggested today by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the corporation, at an executive meeting of the senate banking and currency committee.

The proposal assumed much importance in view of the fact that the RFC and representatives of railroads have been endeavoring to map out a plan whereby the corporation could extend aid in the meeting of more than 400 million dollars of railroad securities which will fall due this year.

Three Year Restriction.

At present the RFC is restricted to three year loans and has segregated funds for extension of aid to the railroads, hoping that they would be able to float long term bonds in the open market before the government loans matured.

Mr. Jones was reported today to have told the committee that several of the railroads might find it difficult to handle maturities unless further authority was given to his corporation to aid them, and that some action should be taken.

Fletcher Likes Plan.

Senator Fletcher, chairman of the senate committee, said after the conference that the proposal made by Mr. Jones was a "reasonable one." Mr. Jones was asked to submit additional data within the next few days and an amendment to the RFC act will probably then be placed before the senate.

In addition to the bond maturities held publicly which must be met this year, the railroads also owe about $530,000,000 to the RFC, most of which must be paid off within the next two years, unless the period for repayment is extended.

Mr. Jones also suggested that the ten year limit be applied to some other types of loans, including those made to industries through mortgage loan companies.

DU PONT ASSAILS U. S. ECONOMIC EXPERIMENTS

Individual Saving Is Key to Prosperity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 30.—Attempts to "synthetize prosperity" were attacked today by Lammot du Pont, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., in issuing the company's annual pamphlet report. In recent months, he said, improvement in business and finance had been less certain than from March to July last year.

LAMMOT DU PONT.

The report showed that the company's net income last year was $38,895,330, equivalent after dividends on the debenture stock to $3 a share on 10,983,379 shares of common stock. This compared with $26,234,778, or $1.82 a share, in 1932. The company's income from investments last year was $18,065,487, against $16,948,295 in 1932.

"The year 1932," Mr. du Pont declared, "has witnessed an adventurous attack by the administration upon the political, social, and economic ills of the country.

Progress by Saving.

"It is quite obvious that our material wants cannot be permanently satisfied by a prolonged limitation of the productiveness of our plants and man power, nor can the hunger of our people be satisfied by the destruction or restriction of the products of our farms.

"We can progress as a nation only to the extent that we, as individuals, save a portion of the results of our current efforts, which means, for most of us, increasing our savings accounts or bond holdings or insurance.

"Such thrift, however, is not encouraged by a feeling that our current or accumulated savings of today will be less valuable tomorrow. If commitments of various kinds, solemnly entered into between great nations, or between governments and citizens are not observed, the experience does not strengthen that moral fiber so needed to battle the hidden forces of depression.

Mounting Costs Discouraging.

"Mounting expenditures of the federal government, even though temporarily expedient, are discouraging alike for their added burden upon the taxpayer and for their depressing effect upon industries with which the government will be brought into competition.

"At present efforts are being made to enlarge the capacity of our banks to expand credit. An expansion of credit is a necessary and normal accompaniment of increased industrial and commercial activity and when prudently, even generously extended to worthy and needy borrowers in the enlargement of their activities, should beneficially stimulate the production and distribution of goods.

"The distress recently occasioned by profligate credit expansion, however, should afford suitable warning against repeating earlier mistakes in the desperate hope that credit may serve as a cause of business revival rather than as a useful tool in the production and distribution of goods."

EXCHANGE SUED FOR NOT MOVING TO NEW JERSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 30.—The New York Stock exchange, which bluffed former Mayor John P. O'Brien out of a 4 cents a share transfer tax by threatening to move to Newark, was named among the defendants in a $250,000 suit today.

Herbert J. Hannoch, receiver of the City Center corporation of Newark, sued for damages because the stock exchange last September decided to conduct its operations at Center market in Newark, and then, when Mayor O'Brien yielded, called off the Newark trek.

Damages of $250,000 were asked because the market was remodeled for a stock pit, with many changes in windows, partitions, walls, and ceilings.

Frugal Injured by Revaluation of the Dollar

Millions of bank depositors, life insurance policyholders and owners of fixed principal investments are the "forgotten" victims of the dollar devaluation scheme.

Calculated to relieve the debtor, the program is being carried through at the expense of those frugal persons who have placed their funds in mediums which ordinary foresight would have said would be least likely to be disturbed by the ebb and flow of economic tides.

In effect revaluation of the dollar at 60 cents takes 40 cents of every dollar out of the pocket of persons whose savings are garnered in life insurance, bank deposits, preferred stocks, bonds, mortgages or any investment in which the principal and return thereon are fixed and unchangeable.

Millions Affected.

Their numbers literally run into the millions. By and large they are persons of modest means who have built up a competence against old age, tried to protect their dependents through the purchase of insurance, accumulated a few dollars in a savings account and perhaps bought a bond or two.

The following are the most important classifications of fixed principal investments in the United States: Life insurance policies, face value 109 billion dollars; bonds, par value 87 billions; preferred stock, par value 19 billions; urban real estate mortgages, 35 billions; farm mortgages, 8¼ billions; building and loan stock, 7 billions; bank deposits, 41½ billions.

Net reserves held by insurance companies against the policies amount to nearly 18 billion dollars. A survey of the leading insurance companies discloses that the average policy runs between $1,500 and $3,000. The number of policies out is estimated between 40 and 50 millions. If the revaluation accomplishes its purpose of lifting prices on the average of 40 per cent the beneficiary of a $3,000 policy will be able to buy only $1,800 of goods and services with the proceeds.

Bank Depositors Lose.

Records disclose that the average balance of the 43 million bank depositors is $500. Assuming that a $500 depositor leaves his money in the bank and the theories of the money doctors work out, his savings will lose 40 per cent of their purchasing power.

Building and loan association stockholders are persons of relatively small means. There are 10 million members of such associations in the United States and their average investment is $766, according to the United States Building and Loan league.

Analyses of the life insurance holders, bank depositors, and the preferred and building and loan shareholders shows that they are not the so-called wealthy. They are just as likely to be the widows and orphans and in innumerable cases actually are.

A check-up of the persons who own bonds is more difficult, but the welfare of individuals who own no bonds themselves is tied up with banks, insurance companies, and other institutions which are large holders.

Farm Loans Big Factor.

Insurance companies hold an estimated 25 per cent of all farm mortgages. Farmers themselves own 14 per cent of the farm mortgages and other individuals own 15.4 per cent. The remaining farm mortgages are held by banks, investment firms, brokers on which the distribution of ownership is not available.

Bonds outstanding are classified as follows by Moody's: Railroad, 11¾ billions; utilities, 14½ billions; industrials, 10¼ billions; state, county, and municipal, 17¾ billions. In addition there is over a billion of federal land bank bonds outstanding.

To this list should be added approximately the 23 billions of United States government debt outstanding which will be boosted several billions more before the recovery program is completed.

At the close of 1930 foreign corporate and government issues held in this country were estimated at 7,473 million dollars. Aggregate long term domestic debt is estimated by the 20th century fund at 134 billions at the close of 1932.

CHARGE 46% CUT IN BUS FARE TO "NRA CHISELERS"

Though operating costs have been put up 25 per cent by the NRA, cut rate competitors who are "chiseling" under the code have forced 46 per cent reductions in fares, according to L. G. Markel, chairman of the National Bus Traffic association. Directors of the association held a special meeting in the Palmer house yesterday to discuss the situation.

Reduced fares were announced at the meeting by representatives of the Greyhound lines for most distances over 200 miles east of Chicago and St. Louis. Other member companies of the association had previously announced reductions effective tomorrow. All said the move was necessary, despite the increased operating costs, to meet the rates of "fly by night" independent firms.

"The forced reductions appear serious in view of the 25 per cent higher costs," said Mr. Markel. "We have not received any direct benefit from the NRA. What's more, there hasn't been a single conviction of the violators of the code in the field, and there are many of them."

U. S. STEEL LOSS FOR 1933 HALF PREVIOUS YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 30.—In its preliminary statement for 1933 the United States Steel corporation reported today a net loss of $36,519,000 after all charges but before dividends, compared with $71,175,104 in 1932. After preferred dividends of $7,205,620 the deficit last year was $43,724,901, or less than half the 1932 deficit of $91,891,867.

MYRON C. TAYLOR.

Myron C. Taylor, chairman, declared in issuing the report he expected the increased output of steel of 1933 would be "substantially bettered" this year. He pointed to curtailed production in the last three years, in which the average each year in the United States was 21 million tons, against an average of 47,883,000 in each of the years from 1925 to 1930, inclusive.

Vote 50 Cent Dividend.

For the quarter ended on Dec. 31 the directors declared a dividend on the preferred stock of 50 cents a share, payable Feb. 27 to stock of record tomorrow, the same distribution as had been ordered for four consecutive quarters. This payment will bring the accumulation of unpaid dividends to $6.25 a share.

Net loss after all charges but before preferred dividends for the quarter ended Dec. 31 last was $7,945,445, against net loss of $16,729,368 in the corresponding quarter of last year and of $2,717,014 in the preceding quarter. After preferred dividends, deficit for the December quarter was $9,746,850, against $18,530,773 in the corresponding period of 1932 and $4,518,419 in the third quarter of last year.

Asset Position Maintained.

Mr. Taylor said: "It is a matter of considerable satisfaction that the working assets position of the corporation Dec. 31, 1933, was fully equal to the condition at the close of 1932.

"Operations for the fourth quarter, based on production of finished products for sale, were 23 per cent less than in the third quarter, the reduction in tonnage being 457,548 tons. This falling off in shipments explains very largely the lesser earnings reported for the fourth quarter. For the entire year 1933, the production of finished steel products was 29 per cent of capacity, compared with 18 per cent in 1932, the production in the year just closed having been 5,543,000 tons, against 3,591,000 tons in preceding year.

Average Price Down $5.

"The weighted average price received for domestic shipments throughout 1933 was about $5 per ton less than in preceding year, the prices recieved in many instances being even below cost of production.

"During the fourth quarter employment was given by the corporation and subsidiary companies to an average of 190,430 employés, or about 90 per cent of the total number who normally look to the corporation and its interests for employment. The total pay roll for the fourth quarter was $48,852,980, compared with $29,137,419 for the corresponding quarter in 1932. Due to the requirements in the steel code, wage rates in the fourth quarter of 1933 averaged an increase of about 24 per cent over the rates prevailing prior to the advances made July 16, 1933.

INLAND STEEL PROFITS.

The Inland Steel company in a preliminary statement on earnings for 1933 yesterday reported that its net income was $166,693. This compared with a deficit of $3,320,958 for 1932. Income for 1933 after deducting administrative expense and all charges for repairs and maintenance was $4,690,871. After deductions of $1,850,625 for bond interest and $2,673,553 for depreciation and depletion, the net stood at $166,693.

In the last quarter of 1933 the company, which is one of the largest independent steel concerns in the country, reported that its net income was $529,373. In the last quarter of 1932 the company sustained a deficit of $1,111,847.

In the first quarter of 1933 the company reported a loss of $1,012,053. In the second quarter a profit of $25,761 was reported and in third quarter there was a profit of $623,612.

New York, Jan. 30.—Bond prices again surged upward on the stock exchange today in heavy trading, with the gains for all groups surpassing those of the previous day. Tranfers totaled $21,055,000 par values.

Government bonds were bid up 1-32 to 10-32 points to new highs on the recovery. Many domestic corporation bonds jumped 1 to 6 points and most of the leading foreign loans closed higher despite the generally lower market for leading foreign currencies in terms of the dollar.

Secondary Liens Gain.

Chief gainers in the domestic corporation list were secondary railroad and industrial bonds. In the latter group sizable advances were scored by issues hitherto comparatively inactive.

In the rails, particular strength was manifested by the obligations of the Baltimore and Ohio, Central of New Jersey, Big Four, Illinois Central, and International-Great Northern.

Trade Modest in Foreign.

Moderate active trading in the leading foreign loans resulted in gains of small fractions to more than 4 points. German bonds, although irregularly higher, did not show as large gains as other active sections of the foreign list.

French government bonds were lifted 1⅜ to 2 points, Dutch East Indies loans 1½ to 2 points, and Swiss government 5½s 2⅜ points. The heavily traded Commonwealth of Australia loans mounted fractionally. Colombian and Argentine government issues showed about the best strength in the Latin American group.

Consolidated Cigar.

Investors' Guide: Please give me all the information on Consolidated Cigar common stock. Thanks for same.—S. A.

Answer: The company produces a wide variety of cigars. The bulk of revenues has over a long period been obtained from sale of cigars selling for 10 cents and more. Shift in buying demand, however, to the 5 cent brands has reflected itself in increasing sales of New Bachelor, 44, Henry George, and Harvester cigars, the company's representatives in the 5 cent field.

There have been signs of pickup in sales of 5 cent cigars, but intense competition has prevented the companies represented from realizing the full benefits of the improvement. Furthermore, the processing tax on tobacco and increased production costs due to NRA code have caused a narrowing of the profit margin.

Profit of $160,000 in the third quarter of 1933 was 1.11 times prior preferred dividend requirements but only 38 per cent of 7 per cent preferred dividend requirements. For the first nine months of 1933 net profit was $274,000, only 62 per cent of prior preferred dividend requirements, against $718,000, or 39 cents per common share, for the first nine months of 1932.

Net income in 1932, before $1,243,000 inventory write-offs was $924,000, or 46 cents per common share, against $2,110,000, or $5.04 per common share, for 1931. Net for 1930 was $2,361,000, against $3,302,000 for 1929.

On Dec. 31, 1932, current assets, including $1,506,000 cash, totaled $15,639,000, and current liabilities were $391,000. Long term debt totaled $321,000. Capitalization consists of 87,371 shares of 6½ per cent $100 par prior preferred, 23,269 shares of $100 par 7 per cent preferred shares, and 250,000 shares of no par common.

Nothing has been paid on the common since April 1, 1932, although dividends have been paid regularly on the preferred. The prior preferred is medium grade. Both the preferred and common are speculative.

Night Hawk Mining.

Investors' Guide: In 1904 I bought a good many shares of Night Hawk Mining company of Loomis, Wash. I have never heard anything of the company since 1906. I was wondering, since the gold craze was on, whether this mine was operating. I am cleaning house, as I don't want to bother my heirs in looking such things up after I pass out.—A. B.

Answer: The Night Hawk Mining company was incorporated in Washington in 1901 with a capitalization of 5,000,000 shares of $1 par stock. Production was expected in 1911. In January, 1912, it was placed in receivership. Its charter was declared void sometime between 1912 and 1914.

To all appearances the stock is worthless.

TRAFFIC GAINS PRESAGE BETTER RAIL EARNINGS

Loadings Rise Sharply in Last January Week.

Prospects for improved earnings reports from the railroads appear brighter as car loadings continue to increase. Most of the carriers reported handling considerably more cars during the week ended Jan. 27 than during both the parallel week of 1933 and the preceding week of this year.

The Rock Island yesterday reported that loadings in the week ended Jan. 27 increased 19 per cent over the corresponding week of last year in comparison with an increase of 5.2 per cent for the first three weeks' period over a similar period of January, 1933. The sharp increase in the fourth week makes a total increase of 9 per cent for the cumulative four weeks' period this year as compared with last year.

Other Roads Gain Traffic.

The Burlington yesterday reported that it handled 20,258 cars in the week ended Jan. 27, compared with 16,412 in the like week of 1933 and with 20,023 in the preceding week of this year.

Cars handled by the Illinois Central totaled 25,685, compared with 22,470 a year ago, and 25,154 in the preceding week of this year.

The Wabash handled 11,951 cars, compared with 10,467 a year ago, and 11,551 in the preceding week.

Missouri, Kansas and Texas loadings totaled 7,195, compared with 6,902 in the preceding week, and 6,008 a year ago.

Report December Income Up.

The first seventy-one railroads to report for December had net operating income of $35,199,000, against $30,520,000 in December, 1932, an increase of 15.3 per cent. Their net for November was $34,744,000, or 12.3 per cent above the previous year. The gross revenue total was $223,943,000 for December, compared with $223,960,000 in November, 1933, and $236,271,000 in November, 1933.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway announced that passenger revenues for 1933 showed a gain of $127,818, or 10.8 per cent, over the preceding year.

JANUARY EGGS TOUCH NEW HIGH; BUTTER IRREGULAR

January refrigerator eggs struck another new high on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, closing ¾c higher. Butter closed ¼c lower to ¼c higher. Potatoes gained 3c.

Short covering in eggs carried prices up 1¾c from the previous close, shortly after the opening, but when the new high was reached at 17¾c profit taking and new selling developed. Receipts were 28,700 cases, compared with 60,300 cases last year, in Chicago and New York.

REACH ACCORD ON PROCESSING BIDS FOR RELIEF PORK

Wallace "Satisfied," but Is Silent on Details.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Peace conferences between the government and the packers came to a happy but obscure conclusion today.

The joint committee, created to iron out the controversy over packers' bids for processing government relief pork, presented Secretary of Agriculture Wallace with "definite proposals," and Mr. Wallace, no longer charging the packers with noncooperation, accepted them.

But the AAA announcement of his acceptance neglected to state what the "definite proposals" were. As far as could be learned, the packers assured the government that they want to cooperate; that their aims are the same as the government's, and that henceforth, there will be every effort to meet with the government's approval. The nature of the "definite propsals," however, could not be discovered.

Plans Meet Requirements.

"The proposals," said the official farm administration statement, "are in line with the previous plans laid out by government officers and provide for definite action on relief purchases of commercial cuts of pork, and a substantial stepping up of live hog purchases for relief purposes, which have been running about 23,000 head daily."

Bids heretofore submitted by the packers have been regarded as unsatisfactory by Secretary Wallace and other AAA officials, who believed the packers were guessing at and asking the absolute top price which the government would pay for processing relief pork.

Price Near 1933 Level.

"Last week's hog receipts at eight principal markets were 699,000 head, against receipts for the corresponding week a year ago of 550,000 head," said Administrator Davis.

"But despite this enormous increase in receipts over 1933, and although the federal tax was being collected to finance the big corn-hog program for farmers, the top price last week was $3.75 per hundredweight, against $3.65 for the corresponding week a year ago."

LARD AND BELLIES HIGHER ALONG WITH HOGS, GRAIN

With hogs at $4, the highest price since Nov. 24, and with grains and stocks higher yesterday, there was greatly increased buying of lard by local and foreign interests and prices advanced to new highs. The close was at net gains of 5 to 10 cents on lard futures and 12½ to 35 cents on bellies, the latter on July.

Cash lard advanced 15 cents to $5.72½ for regular, loose 25 cents to $5.02½, and leaf 25 cents to $5. Dry salted clear bellies were marked up 25 cents to $6.75. Liverpool lard was 6d higher. Prices:
